Winning...
A Tennessee Tradition

Tennessee's football program is constantly heralded as one of the best in America and for good reason. Consider:

- The Volunteers have 13 Southeastern Conference football titles, including back-to-back championships in 1997 and 1998, which ranks second in the league.
- Since 1989, Tennessee has posted a 101-20-2 record (.829), won a national title, captured four SEC championships and participated in 10 consecutive bowl games.
- The Vols have finished among the nation's top 20 teams in each of the past nine seasons, including ranking in the top 10 six times.
- UT has had four Heisman Trophy runner-ups: Peyton Manning (1997), Heath Shuler (1994), Johnny Majors (1956) and Hank Lauricella (1951).
- Tennessee has spent 39 straight weeks ranked in the top 10, and 51 of the last 52.
- Peyton Manning, Heath Shuler and Andy Kelly all UT quarterbacks in the 1990s, hold three of the top four career passing totals and were all bowl MVPs.
- UT has claimed two AP national championships in 1951 and 1998 while finishing runner-up five times.
- Tennessee has made 166 television appearances since 1951, including 107 national broadcasts.
- Tennessee players hold a total of 12 NCAA individual records, while Vol teams have accumulated 10 national team standards.
- The Vols also hold 18 individual and 13 team Southeastern Conference records.
- UT has played 10 of its last 11 bowl games on New Year's Day.
- Tennessee has the nation's fourth best winning percentage in the 1990s of .820, while posting a 90-19-2 record.
- Tennessee consistently plays its home games in front of over 100,000 fans.
- The Volunteers rank eighth in all-time victories with 690.

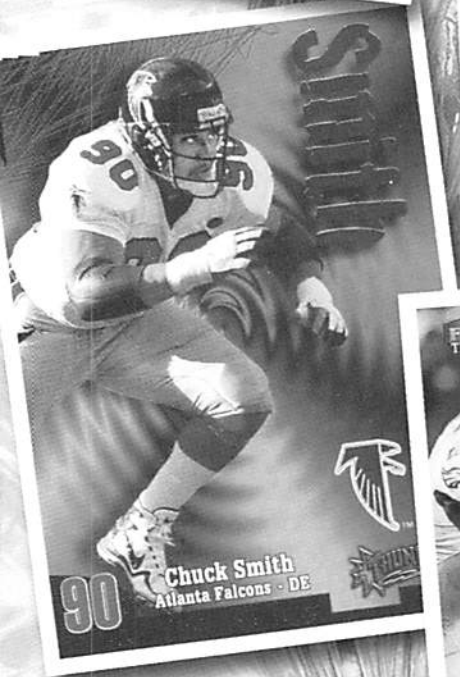
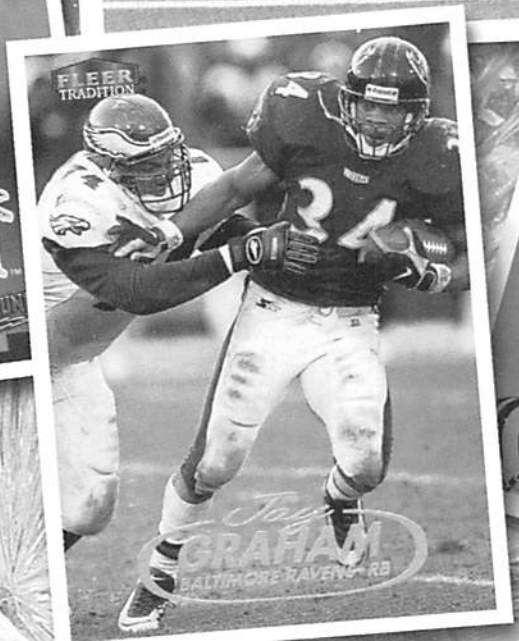
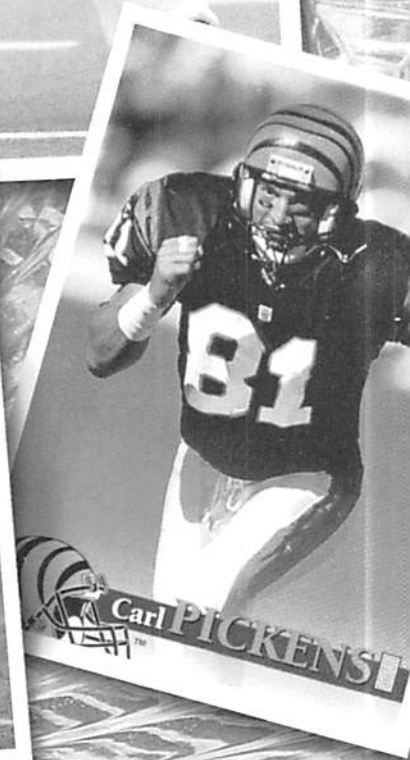
Vols in the Pros....







Al Wilson became UT's 12th first round draft choice in the 1990s.

Tradition is a wonderful thing, particularly the storied tradition of Tennessee football. You can't manufacture it and nobody really knows how to define it, but you know it when you see it. And, perhaps more importantly, you know it when you feel it.

Over the past 108 years of gridiron competition, the University of Tennessee has built and maintained a staggering tradition rivaled by very few schools across the nation. A survey of Volunteer football history reveals the foundation for UT's football heritage: an astounding collection of great players, important wins and landmark championships. The Vols' unwavering and devoted fan following serves as a constant source of inspiration for Tennessee players, and ranks the school perennially in the top three in national attendance.

TENNESSEE VOLUNTEER TRADITION IS. . .

. . .the winningest overall athletics program in the Southeastern Conference with over 100 SEC team titles.

. . .winning 13 SEC football championships and five since 1985.

. . .a distinctive shade of Orange, unmatched anywhere in college football.

. . .the "T" on the sides of the helmets.

. . .the Orange and White checkerboard end zones.

. . .the wave of Orange across the 102,854-seat Neyland Stadium.

. . .tailgating in the parking lots and listening to the football pregame show.

. . .hearing public address announcer Bobby Denton say, "Please pay these prices and please pay no more."

. . .watching the "Pride of the Southland Band" march toward the stadium.

. . .running through the "T" in pregame.

TWO-SPORT ATHLETES

Two-sport athletes at Tennessee enjoy a history dating back to intercollegiate competition's birth on The Hill.

In the modern era, track and field, coupled with football, is a natural combination ñ their respective seasons occur in different parts of the year. They both demand the elements of speed, strength and proper technique, and they allow an athlete to be challenged in dual capacities.

"By the time they graduate from high school, most athletes have narrowed their interest to a single sport they wish to pursue in college," says head football coach Phillip Fulmer. "But for those exceptional young men who want to combine football with track and field, the University of Tennessee offers a special opportunity. Coach Bill Webb and I are pleased to work together to make participation in the two sports an option for Tennessee Volunteers."

Over the years, the rosters of both sports have been liberally sprinkled with the names of Vols who achieved success as dual sport-athletes. Just this past year, wide receiver and sprinter Leonard Scott made his mark on the track circuit, earning All-America honors in the indoor 60-meter dash. Defensive tackle Darwin Walker also competed in the shot put, earning All-America honors in 1998.

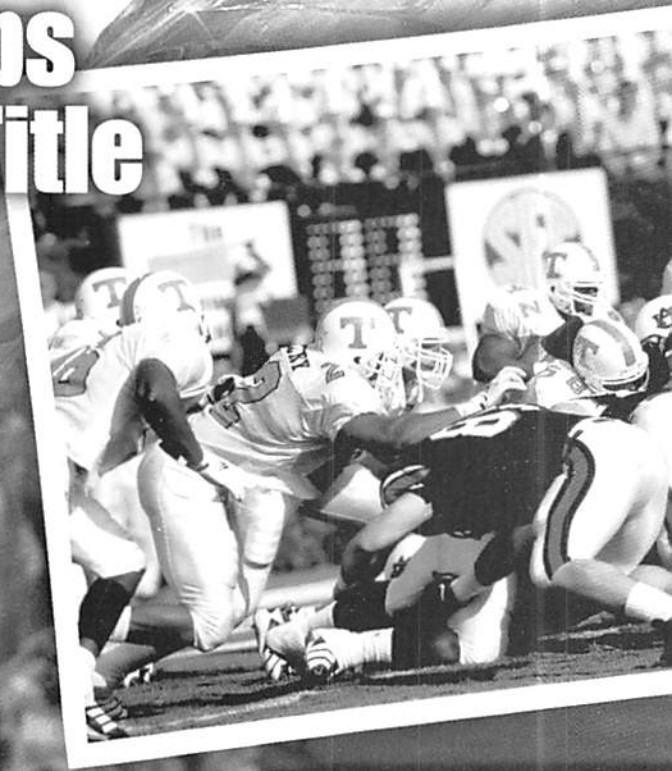
Vols Seek Consecutive National Championships and Third SEC Title



By the time the final speaker had left the platform at UT's national championship celebration in Neyland Stadium last winter, Phillip Fulmer had turned his attention to the future.

In the head coach's fiercely competitive profession, a new challenge is never farther away than just around the next corner. Proud as he was of the accomplishments of the resourceful squad that had finished on top in the inaugural Bowl Championship Series, Fulmer knew Tennessee's 1999 opponents were already at their blackboards, charting the Vols' downfall.

When spring practice opened in late March, Fulmer reminded the team that continuation of the work ethic that characterized the 1998 season was their first priority. In the past, the Vols under Fulmer had exhibited a commendable ability to handle success in a mature and even-keeled manner.

Fulmer, whose coaching record is the best in the nation going into his eighth year, always manages to retain his steady focus. It's a quality he has managed to instill in his staff and players with gratifying results.

Based on its 1998 finish and the return of key operatives such as Tee Martin, Jamal Lewis, Darwin Walker and Dwayne Goodrich, Tennessee will figure heavily in conjecture about the new season. That's inevitable for a school coming off a national championship season and, in the Vols' case, a second consecutive Southeastern Conference title.

But as Fulmer stressed to the squad, this is 1999, not 1998, and the current Vols must prove themselves anew. The excitement begins Sept. 4 when the Wyoming Cowboys ride their team buses down newly named Phillip Fulmer Way, headed for Neyland Stadium and first crack at the Tennessee Vols.

It is the hope of the sports information staff that this yearbook, published largely with the needs of the media in mind, will enhance your enjoyment of the 1999 season. Here are the coaches and players, the history and tradition as well as the opportunities that encompass Volunteer football as we bridge the millennia.

—Haywood Harris

A long standing tradition of the Tennessee football program has been the number of players who moved on to the professional ranks following their collegiate playing days. Since Virgil Rayburn, who lettered at UT from 1930-32 as an end, became the first Volunteer to play professional football, with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1933, over 250 University of Tennessee players have left their mark in the NFL and other professional leagues. Tennessee Hall of Famer Beattie Feathers followed Rayburn the next year, playing halfback in the NFL from 1934-40 for the Chicago Bears, Brooklyn Dodgers and Green Bay Packers. That proud tradition continues today as Tennessee ranks fourth in the number of first round draft choices since 1984 and fourth among colleges and universities in the number of active NFL players.

- As of opening day last season, Tennessee had the most players in the NFL among Southeastern Conference schools with 34.
- Tennessee has had 41 players taken in the NFL draft in the 1990s, including 12 in the first round.
- Quarterback Peyton Manning was the first pick of the 1998 NFL draft by the Indianapolis Colts. He became the second player in UT history to be the first overall pick.
- The 1998 draft saw three Vols taken in the first round. (Peyton Manning, Terry Fair and Marcus Nash)
- Six players were selected in the 1999 NFL draft which ranked second in the SEC and fifth nationally.
- UT has had 31 first-round NFL draft choices, including 12 in the 1990s.
- UT has had at least one player taken in the first round in 13 of the last 16 NFL drafts.

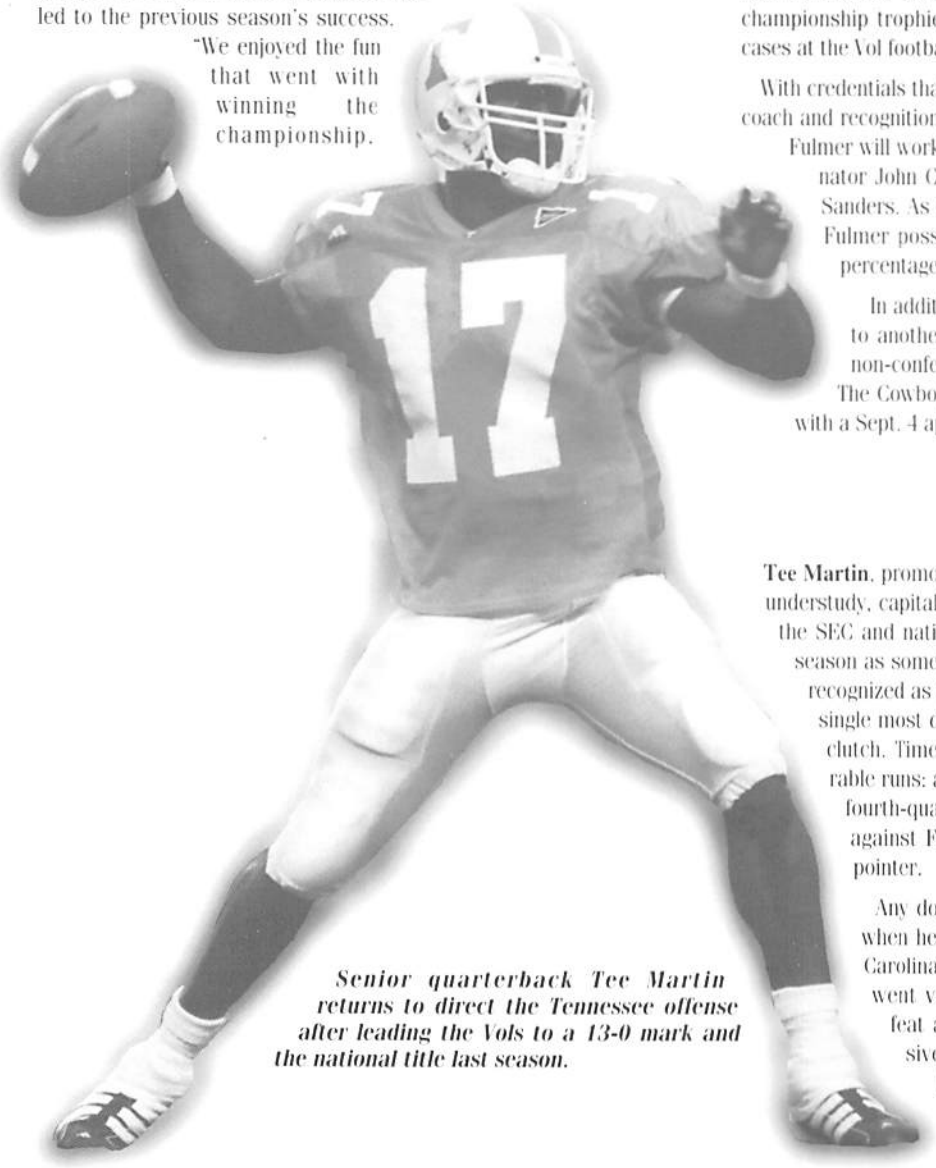
Fulmer, Vols Prepare For Challenges Ahead

Toasted across the college football landscape last winter with the accolades befitting national champions, the Tennessee Vols settled down to urgent new business when Coach Phillip Fulmer set the tone for 1999 spring practice.

The head coach's prescription for continued prosperity: More of the same dedication that led to the previous season's success.

"We enjoyed the fun that went with winning the championship, but now our focus is turned to doing the things that will prepare us for the challenges that lie ahead," Fulmer said. "There is plenty to keep us busy."



Senior quarterback Tee Martin returns to direct the Tennessee offense after leading the Vols to a 13-0 mark and the national title last season.

Graduation took a toll, as always, not so much in numbers but in special qualities that will be hard to duplicate. Who, for example, can bring the fire to the playing field that Al Wilson always managed to ignite, and who can launch those critical field goals that Jeff Hall delivered against Syracuse and Florida?

Six starters from offense and seven from defense return from last year, hoping to meet Fulmer's oft-expressed first priority for any season: contend for Southeastern Conference honors. Back-to-back SEC championship trophies for 1997 and 1998 are lodged in the display cases at the Vol football complex, but there's always room for another.

With credentials that include ranking as the nation's winningest head coach and recognition as college football's coach of the year for 1998, Fulmer will work with a staff headed by veteran defensive coordinator John Chavis and first-year offensive coordinator Randy Sanders. As he begins his eighth year at the Tennessee helm, Fulmer possesses a record of 67 wins and 11 losses for a percentage of .859.

In addition to the eight SEC tests that stand in their path to another banner season, the Vols will be pitted against non-conference foes Wyoming, Memphis and Notre Dame. The Cowboys will kick off the 20th century's closing season with a Sept. 4 appearance at Neyland Stadium.

OFFENSE

Tee Martin, promoted to starting quarterback after two years as an understudy, capitalized on his opportunity and guided Tennessee to the SEC and national championships. Martin came into the 1998 season as something of an unknown quantity but ended the year recognized as the key man in the Tennessee offense. If he had a single most distinctive trait, it was the ability to deliver in the clutch. Time after time, he made critical plays. Two memorable runs: a 55-yard scamper against Syracuse that set up a fourth-quarter touchdown and a 14-yard jaunt in overtime against Florida, also setting up a crucial Jeff Hall three pointer.

Any doubts about Tee's passing ability were squelched when he recorded 23 straight completions against South Carolina. The NCAA and SEC record books both underwent vast rewriting projects after Tee's monumental feat at Columbia. He ended the season with impressive statistics: on the ground, 287 net yards, and, through the air, 2164 yards with a 57 percent completion mark. Joey Mathews, a redshirt freshman, and A.J. Suggs, who graduated from high school in December and arrived on campus in time to take part in spring practice, will fight it out for the No. 2 job behind Martin. Mathews, with a year of seasoning behind him, led at the end of spring practice.

Tailback should be a fiercely competitive position, bolstered by the return of 1997 freshman All-America Jamal Lewis, who missed most of last season with a knee injury. Travis Henry and Travis Stephens divided running back duties for the nine games that followed Lewis' injury and proved themselves capable of carrying the load for a championship team. How much they will cut into Lewis' playing time will be decided next fall when Jamal returns to full availability following his rehabilitation process. As a freshman in 1997, despite not becoming a starter until after four games, Lewis posted a 5.9 average on a net of 1364 yards. Henry, the starter late last season, had five games in which he accounted for more than 100 yards. He finished with a net of 974 yards while Stephens garnered 513.

"Most unsung Vol" was the tag hung last year on Shawn Bryson, but perhaps it's a designation that goes with the job. Fullback is a selfless position, requiring a jack of all trades—runner, receiver, blocker—with the emphasis on the latter. Bryson was superb in all roles, but none was more appreciated by the coaches than his deadly blocking. With Bryson set to turn pro this fall, Phillip Crosby and Will Bartholomew are prepared to take over, both willing to accept the self-effacing status that goes with the assignment. As far as running with the ball is concerned, Crosby carried the ball 16 times for 53 yards last year, and Bartholomew logged 34 yards on seven tries. Like Bryson, though, they expect to be judged primarily on the effectiveness of their blocking.

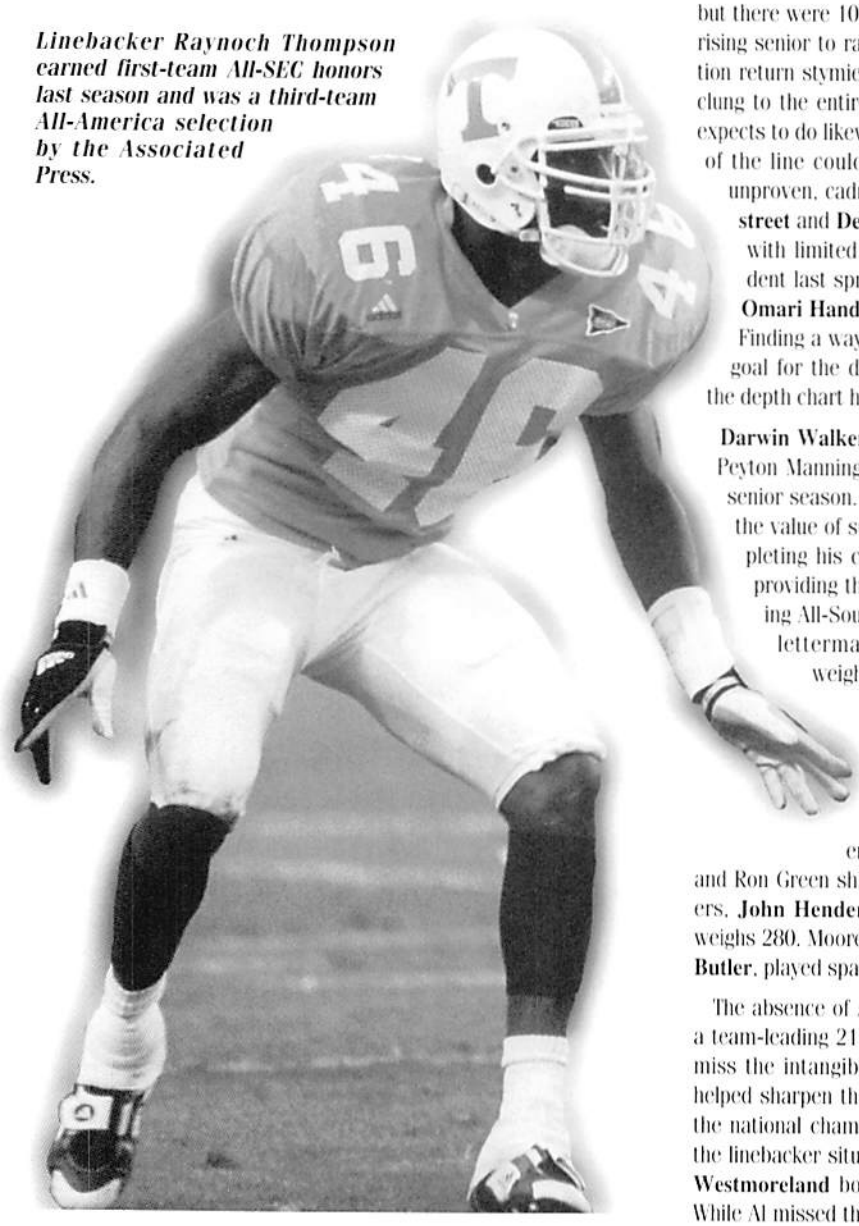
Wide Receiver U., the name earned by Tennessee with its abundance of top quality pass-catchers over a couple of decades, may need to establish a refresher course. Not for lack of talent but for lack of experienced performers. There is one notable exception. Cedrick Wilson last year not only compiled noteworthy statistics (33 receptions for a 16.3-yard average and six touchdowns), but came through with chips on the table such as with the fourth quarter TD catch pass in the SEC championship game against Mississippi State. Aside from Wilson, however, it was the now departed seniors (Peerless Price, Jeremaine Copeland and Shawn Bryson) who chalked up significant numbers last year. Based on their practice field work, a respectable array of receivers could emerge from a youthful group that includes David Martin, Eric Parker, Leonard Scott, Donte' Stallworth, Bobby Graham and converted quarterback Burney Veazey. Parker earned his spurs last season as the primary punt return specialist.

A preseason All-America selection, senior tackle Chad Clifton leads an experienced offensive front.

Another offensive position where somebody needs to step forward is tight end. John Finlayson and Neil Johnson have the first shot, based on earning letters last year. Finlayson, a sturdy 280-pounder who measures 6-4, had four catches in 1998 for 47 yards. Those aren't overwhelming statistics, but that big frame of John's could have a telling effect in the blocking aspect of the tight end's duties. Johnson, at 6-4 and 250, has also proved himself a crushing blocker. Redshirt freshman Edward Kendrick believes he can contend successfully for playing time.

Fulmer was expansive last fall in his praise of the offensive line's development, a factor he rated key in the Vols' championship journey. Two starters graduated, tackle Jarvis Reado and guard Mercedes Hamilton. Three other regulars are back, supported by a group of players who have made good progress under the direction of line coaches Mike Barry and Mark Bradley. The vital center snap will be in the experienced hands of the competitive Spencer Riley, a senior who keeps a fire lit under his teammates. The other returnees, Cosey Coleman and Chad Clifton, were first team All-Southeastern Conference. Each

The Outlook



Linebacker Raynoch Thompson earned first-team All-SEC honors last season and was a third-team All-America selection by the Associated Press.

weighs in at a mobile 300-plus pounds. Recording playing time last year and hoping to use their experience as a springboard for first-team assignment were Josh Tucker and Toby Champion. Highly regarded redshirt freshmen Will Ofenheusle and Tim Hodges hope to land significant playing time. The same goes for Fred Weary, a transfer from the defensive unit.

DEFENSE

On a talent-based appraisal, defensive end could be a strong position for the Vols, who appear to be amply fortified at the terminals despite the loss of starter Corey Terry. Shaun Ellis was at his spectacular best when he rambled 90 yards with a pass interception against Auburn, but there were 10 more so-called big plays plus enough tackles for the rising senior to rank among the Vols' leading defenders. His interception return stymied an Auburn drive and got the Vols into a lead they clung to the entire game. As a junior Shaun started every game and expects to do likewise in 1999. The battle for No. 1 on the opposite end of the line could be a doozy. It involves a promising, but mostly unproven, cadre of defenders in a fight for recognition. Will Overstreet and DeAngelo Lloyd had shining moments last season, but with limited exposure. Roger Alexander, injured in a car accident last spring, was listed as out indefinitely with a broken leg. Omari Hand is another candidate from whom much is expected. Finding a way to make up for Terry's 19 big plays is an overriding goal for the defensive staff. The hard-working Overstreet topped the depth chart heading into the fall.

Darwin Walker brightened the outlook at tackle when he followed Peyton Manning's example by deciding to remain in college for his senior season. Headed for an engineering degree, Walker pondered the value of such a sheepskin and the additional incentive of completing his college eligibility. He elected to stay in school, thus providing the Vols an experienced, big play stylist and a returning All-Southeastern Conference performer. Walker, a two-year letterman and an accomplished leader in John Stucky's weight room, had a team-leading six sacks among his 16 big plays in 1998. Billy Ratliff, a senior whose playing time has been limited by injuries, also has big-play capabilities. He and Walker serve as captains along with Tee Martin, Chad Clifton, Spencer Riley and Dwayne Goodrich. Tackle was deep in experience last season, but the graduation of Jeff Coleman and Ron Green shifted the spotlight to a couple of fearsome newcomers, John Henderson and Rashad Moore. Henderson, who is 6-7, weighs 280. Moore checks in at 6-4, 290. Another tackle candidate, Ed Butler, played sparingly last year.

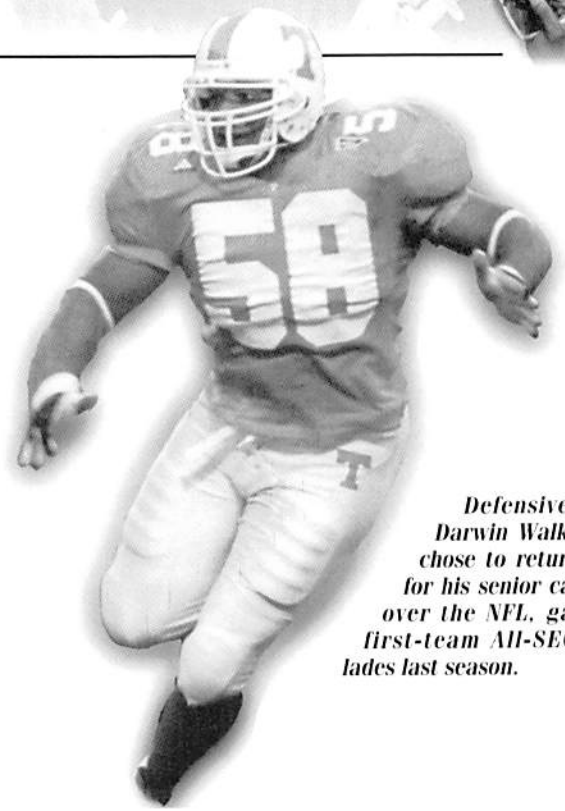
The absence of Al Wilson's statistical contributions—77 tackles and a team-leading 21 big plays—is burden enough. But the Vols will also miss the intangibles of Al's leadership. The All-America linebacker helped sharpen the competitive edge the Vols needed on their way to the national championship. When it comes to athletic ability, though, the linebacker situation is encouraging. Raynoch Thompson and Eric Westmoreland both wound up on the tackle chart ahead of Wilson. While Al missed three games because of injuries, Thompson and Westmoreland consistently enjoyed highly productive games. Raynoch finished the year with 89 tackles, Eric, 77.

Wilson took care of the middle in Tennessee's three-linebacker system. His departure raises the question, Who will patrol inside in 1999? Keyon Whiteside, Bernard Jackson and Travis Colston had their moments during the spring, but nobody nailed down a starting assignment. Dominique Stevenson, Andre James, Judd Granzow and Austin Kemp hope to contribute to linebacker depth.

With the return of Thompson and Westmoreland, the Vols should be adequate in the linebacker corps again, assuming somebody breaks out of the pack to take over in the middle.

Steve Johnson is the only loss from a secondary that made dramatic improvement as the 1998 season unfolded. There is a wealth of talent dedicated to continuing the progress that was instrumental in so many Tennessee victories last season. One of the cornerback posts will be manned by Dwayne Goodrich, who emerged as a full-blown star of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl championship game last January. Goodrich staked the Vols to a two-touchdown lead over Florida State with an interception return of 54 yards and otherwise performed in a manner that virtually nullified the Seminoles' passing attack. The night's work earned Goodrich defensive MVP honors for the title game. Johnson's graduation opened up the other corner spot for a hotly contested battle involving Andre Lott, Maurice Fitzgerald, Teddy Gaines, Gerald Griffin and Willie Miles. Lott, a junior from Memphis, broke to the front in scrimmage situations.

The rest of the secondary returns intact. The wily, ubiquitous Fred White is back for his senior season at strong safety, where last year he stayed busy while ranking No. 6 on the Vol defensive chart. Fred made mischief everywhere he went. He accounted for 57 tackles, recovered two fumbles, sacked the quarterback one time, had an interception, broke up four passes and registered three tackles for loss. Derrick Edmonds figures to get first call as White's backup, an assignment he handled neatly last season.

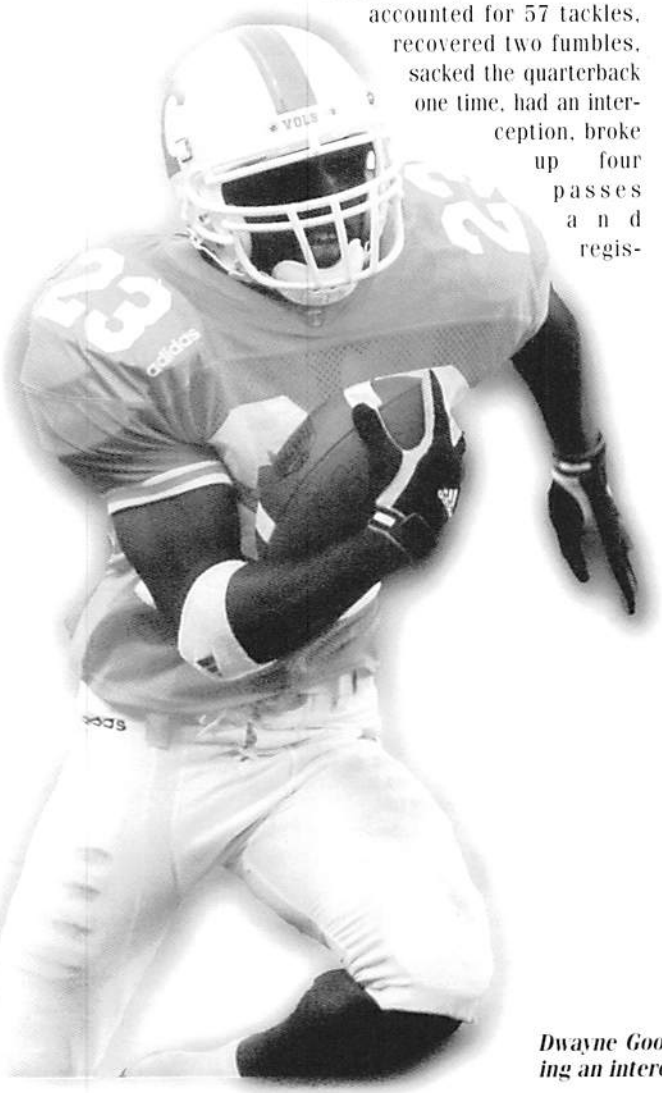


Defensive tackle Darwin Walker, who chose to return to UT for his senior campaign over the NFL, garnered first-team All-SEC accolades last season.

Deon Grant has all-star future stamped all over him. He broke in as the starting free safety last year and finished even higher on the defensive tables than White. His five interceptions included one against Florida that was as important as any play in the entire game. Deon was credited with 62 tackles, fourth highest total among the Vols. His quickness, speed and range give him the physical attributes needed at safety. He is abetted by the mental sharpness that is equally important. Tad Golden and Mikki Allen are quality reserves projected as backups.

KICKING GAME

Rather than bemoan the loss of all-star placekicker Jeff Hall, Vol coaches worked in spring practice to find somebody who can emulate Jeff's success. Senior Robert Loudermilk will have first crack at kickoff, field goal and extra point duties. David Leaverton, who had a 38.9 average last season, hopes his junior season as punter will produce more consistency than he exhibited last season. Kevin Gregory will continue as the deep snapper, and Benson Scott is back to serve as holder. Much work remains undone in the kicking area, but Fulmer, reflecting his Tennessee heritage, will insist it be first cabin in all respects when the Vols take the field in September against Wyoming.



Dwayne Goodrich earned the Fiesta Bowl's Defensive MVP honor after returning an interception 54 yards for a touchdown.

OFFENSE

TIGHT ENDS

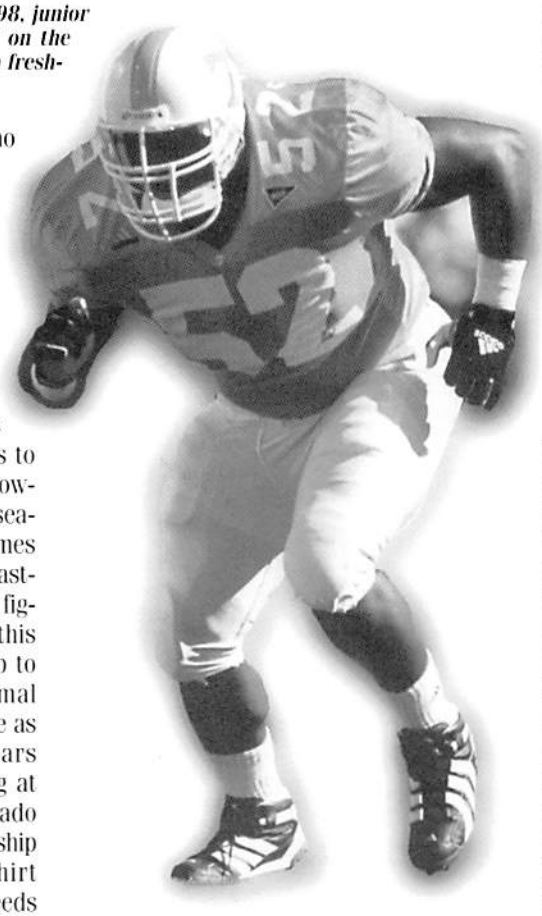
This is an assignment that calls for a decathlon-style athlete, a man who combines pass-catching skills with the strength to knock an opposing tackler coo-coo. But since the emphasis is on the latter, John Finlayson and his tight end colleagues are prepared to roll up their sleeves and go back to work doing the thing they do best: blocking. The blue-collar aspect of the job appeals to the unselfish nature of the trio of Finlayson, Neil Johnson and Edward Kendrick. But they show signs they can also distinguish themselves as pass receivers, including the rangy Finlayson, who at 280 pounds can barrel downfield for hard-earned yardage after the catch. John had four receptions last year, one of them good for a touchdown. Johnson, a member of an illustrious Vol family, has the background of a solid blocker. Kendrick, up from redshirt ranks, hopes to make his mark in early fall combat. With the prospect Tennessee will rely heavily on the running game, playing time could soar for tight ends.

WIDE RECEIVERS

Despite the loss of a pair of productive veterans, the wide receiver competition has created more than customary excitement. Several factors are involved. For one thing, Cedrick Wilson by the end of last season had clearly established himself as belonging in the select company of Wide Receiver U. show horses. Wilson averaged 16.3 yards on 33 catches last year and demonstrated a flair for coming through in the clutch. Cedrick set the pace in getting the receivers more involved in the blocking portion of the game. David Martin, who packs a world of talent, could be on the verge of emerging from the pack. Another hot prospect is Eric Parker, who handled punt returns last season up to the time an injury sidelined him. Nobody stirred more conjecture about what might lie ahead than Leonard Scott, the 1999 NCAA champion in the 60-meters. Donte'

Junior Cedrick Wilson is the Vols' leading returning receiver this season after catching 33 passes for 558 yards and six touchdowns in 1998.

A first-team AP All-SEC pick in 1998, junior guard Cosey Coleman has started on the Vols' offensive front since he was a freshman.



Stallworth is another newcomer who made strides in spring practice. Bobby Graham and former quarterback Burney Veazey also fuel hopes for quality play and depth at receiver.

TACKLES

Durable Chad Clifton, enjoying good health in the offseason, intends to run his string of consecutive starts to as high as 37 if things go right. The towering senior reached 24 straight last season despite injury woes that sometimes befell him. Chad garnered All-Southeastern Conference first team honors and figures to be in for a repeat journey this time if the offensive line does the job to protect Tee Martin and spring Jamal Lewis. Clifton will fill a leadership role as a co-captain. Josh Tucker appears ready for a promotion to first string at right tackle after backing Jarvis Reado through the 1998 national championship campaign. Highly regarded redshirt freshman Will Ofenheusle, who needs to come along in a reserve or starting capacity, had a good spring practice he hoped narrowed the gap between him and Tucker. Reggie Coleman, bouncing back from an ankle injury that sidelined him last year, is the backup to Clifton. A high priority is the development of depth throughout the offensive line.

GUARDS

From numerous sources there has developed a consensus that Cosey Coleman is the real McCoy when it comes to all-star calibre linemen. When defensive players' names come up for discussion, the measure of their capability is how they fare when they are pitted against Coleman. Like many Vol linemen, Cosey can play more than one position. But right guard is where the coaches have chosen to place his intimidating combination of size (6-5, 315), strength and quickness. Coleman experienced a rare feat for an offensive lineman by landing All-SEC honors as a sophomore. Toby Champion may get an opportunity to start at left guard, but the junior knows the highly regarded Fred Weary will be breathing down his neck. Switched from defense to offense, Weary missed spring practice while recuperating from foot surgery. Bernard Gooden and Tim Hodges will be watched for the possibility they can supply much-needed depth.

CENTERS

Spencer Riley is one of those spirited individuals who keeps his teammates hustling by the example he sets and by the force of his personality. The Vols picked him as one of two offensive linemen (the other: Chad Clifton) to serve as captains for 1999. After playing elsewhere in the line, Riley has settled comfortably into the center job and has a full year as a starter behind him. Reggie Ridley, a redshirt freshman, is tabbed to play behind Riley, even though his high school background was largely acquired in the defensive line. Tennessee coaches, following a time-honored pattern, will have no difficulty in moving some other players over to center if it becomes necessary. Therefore, depth should pose no problem. The specialty snapper is Kevin Gregory, who will be centering to the punter or kick holder for the third straight season.

QUARTERBACKS

With a storybook season behind him, Tee Martin moves into his second year as a starter with his name spoken in the same respectful tones that previously were reserved for Heath Shuler and Peyton Manning. By directing the Vol offense during a national championship season, Martin took his place among the most legendary Vol heroes. Statistically sound, Martin completed an NCAA-record 23 straight passes against South Carolina. It was his achievements in clutch situations, though, that earned him the stamp of greatness. A case in point: taking the Vols downfield for the winning field goal in the season opener against Syracuse. Martin's confidence increased game by game, and so did the confidence his teammates placed in him, as evidenced by his selection as captain. Joey Mathews, up from redshirt freshman ranks, and A.J. Suggs, newly enrolled on campus in January, will fight it out for the chance to back up Martin. With a year's practice experience at UT under his belt, Mathews enjoyed an edge in spring practice.

TAILBACKS

When Jamal Lewis was hurt last season, Travis Henry and Travis Stephens proved they belonged in the SEC as they divided tailback chores for the last eight games. They teamed up to provide a running game that was strong enough to land the Vols the national championship. Now the Vols' tailback cup runneth over. The great Lewis has returned from knee surgery, self-described as ready to reach the 100 percent performance level again. It's a standard that allowed him to post

Senior defensive end Shawn Ellis returned an interception 90 yards for a touchdown in the Vols' win at Auburn last season.

1364 rushing yards in 1997 and follow with 497 before his knee injury took him out after four games a year ago. There was nothing shabby about the work of Henry and Stephens the rest of the season. The dynamic Travises combined for 1467 yards in providing a formidable one-two tailback punch. Lewis, held out of contact in spring drills, will go into the fall listed as No. 1. The experience Henry and Stephens acquired last year will afford the Vols the rare luxury of exhibiting three tailbacks who can cut the mustard in SEC football and have the credentials to prove it. Redshirt freshman Kurston Biggers will try to break into the rotation.

FULLBACKS

Coach Phillip Fulmer called Shawn Bryson the most underrated Vol, a tribute to the combination of talents that made the sturdy North Carolinian "the whole package" when it came to playing fullback. With Bryson graduated, the Vols are more likely to turn to a combination of players, each of whom can fill part of the role with expertise. Senior Phillip Crosby was impressive in spring workouts, adding pass-catching skills to his repertoire. Sophomore Will Bartholomew also enhanced his skills in a spirited bid to land the starting assignment. Fulmer also experimented with the notion of putting Travis Henry in the same backfield with Jamal Lewis, with Travis assuming more ball-carrying responsibilities than is customary for a Tennessee fullback to bear. Bringing the position to the level it reached with Bryson will be an elusive, but necessary, goal when fall workouts begin.

DEFENSE

Some Impressive Arrivals in Line And Talented Secondary Group Create Hope For Continued Grudging Play

ENDS

Corey Terry's loss will be felt, but as with a few other positions in the defense, promising talent on hand inspires a belief the Vols will be better than adequate at the terminals. For one thing, Shaun Ellis is back, this season carrying leadership responsibilities that go with the experience a senior brings to the job. The massive Ellis, a mobile 275-pounder with surprising quickness, recorded six tackles for loss last year, but will be best remembered for returning an interception 90 yards against Auburn to give Tennessee an early advantage in a game that went to the wire. Will Overstreet, who played a limited role as Terry's understudy last year, is slated to take over at the end opposite Ellis. Overstreet came a long way during his true freshman season. Omari Hand is an eagerly-anticipated arrival from freshman redshirt ranks. DeAngelo Lloyd and Roger Alexander both benefited from playing time they were allotted last year, but Alexander is out indefinitely after suffering a leg injury in a car accident last spring.

TACKLES

Two seniors with impressive backgrounds will man the tackle positions, backed by a pair of newcomers with mind-numbing potential. First, the starters: Darwin Walker, consensus All-SEC last season, and Billy Ratliff, whose horizons have been limited only by a string of untimely injuries. Walker, whose regular visits to the weight room helped him develop into one of the sturdiest linemen ever to don an orange jersey, made a decision last winter that could have telling effects in the season ahead. The 6-3, 290-pound Walker—an engineering major—chose to come back to school for his senior season rather than turn pro. Walker's return was met by an outburst of approval reminiscent of Peyton Manning's decision to do likewise two years ago. Over on the left side of the line, the 6-3, 275-pound Ratliff displays the enthusiasm of a man who loves to play the game. Railbirds at spring practice spoke glowingly about two rookies who look like surefire future stars. John Henderson (6-7, 280) and Rashad Moore (6-4, 290) turned a few heads, partly because of their physical stature but also owing to conspicuously hostile deeds they performed against the offense in scrimmages.

Deon Grant (above) led the Vol secondary with five interceptions from his free saftey position in 1998, while linebacker Eric Westmoreland (left) ranked second on the team with 79 tackles last season.

LINEBACKERS

Like the Marine Corps, Tennessee defensive coaches are looking for a few good men. Rather than plant the flag at Iwo Jima, however, these particular troops are needed to hold the fort against enemy incursions on the striped greensward. The Vols consistently have been strong at linebacker, a pattern they hope will continue this fall. But as spring practice ended, the staff was still on the lookout for somebody to come forward and stake a claim to the job at middle linebacker. To be sure, Tennessee is well fortified on the left with Eric Westmoreland and on the right with Raynoch Thompson. But Al Wilson's graduation left a gaping hole in the middle. The Vols are not bereft of talent, but what they need is some proven ability. They want somebody who can make the kind of plays Wilson did. They also want somebody who can light a fire under the defense the same way as Al. Keyon Whiteside, Bernard Jackson and Travis Colston showed encouraging flashes during spring scrimmages, but none nailed down the job on a permanent basis. Westmoreland, a junior who was second to Thompson for tackles last year, is a possibility for a move from his outside post. The need for depth shouldn't overshadow the value attached to Westmoreland and Thompson, both of whom chipped in with 19 big plays last season.

CORNERBACKS

The situations at left and right cornerback are in stark contrast. Over on the left side—unlike the other three secondary spots where last year's starters return—spring practice offered a lively fight for playing time. Heading into fall camp, Andre Lott was proclaimed the front-runner, clearly emerging with an edge over the rest of the field. But competition could heat up again in the preseason. Over on the right side one of the SEC's premier performers is set to play his senior season. Dwayne Goodrich, who broke in with a bang as a freshman, has evolved into a seasoned veteran who practices his art with the wisdom of a three-year starter. Dwayne's reputation for having a nose for the football was enhanced when he returned an interception 54 yards for a touchdown against Florida State in the championship bowl game. Maurice Fitzgerald, Teddy Gaines, Gerald Griffin and Willie Miles are also in the picture for playing time, how much to be determined in fall drills.

STRONG SAFETIES

Fred White can do his share in thwarting an opponent's passing game. What he also does—and seems to relish even more—is play havoc with the opponent's running attack. When Al Wilson missed the Kentucky game, his spot in the lineup was taken by White, who delivers a punishing tackle despite a frame that measures only 5-11 and carries 200 pounds. Of course, White's kind of reckless abandon is ideal for the hybrid duties of strong safety. Fred's at his best when everything's on the line, illustrated by his three tackles and forced fumble in the national championship game with Florida State. He ranked sixth on the Vols tackle chart last year in his first season as a starter. Derrick Edmonds played enough last year to give assurance he can handle the job when he's dispatched into the fray at either safety or cornerback. Steven Marsh will learn the job behind White and Edmonds.

FREE SAFETIES

Deon Grant established himself as a fans' favorite early last year in his second game as a starter. To the astonishment of the masses at Neyland Stadium, he appeared out of the blue to intercept a Florida pass that had touchdown written all over it. But it was three games later, against Georgia, that Deon really came into his own. Against the Bulldogs, he was credited with six tackles, an interception, a fumble recovery and a pass broken up, a stickout performance that earned him Defensive Player of the Week honors in the SEC. The talented and graceful junior was the starter at free safety throughout the 1998 season, notching five interceptions in a campaign that included 17 big plays. Tad Golden, who had eight tackles as a true freshman in a start against Kentucky last year, is listed along with Mikki Allen as backup to Grant.

David Leaverton averaged 39 yards per punt last season in his first year as the Vol punter.

KICKING

David Leaverton Comes Back as Punter, But Jeff Hall's Departure Creates Questions About Placekicking

For the first time in four years, back even before Jeff Hall rifled through the winning field goal against Georgia, Tennessee faces the concern that confronts any team that has lost its placekicker. The record-setting Hall has taken his degree and departed, leaving a huge void in an art Tennessee fans had begun to take for granted. Fighting it out for the chance to succeed the ultra-consistent Hall will be Robert Loudermilk, Alex Walls and Chip Walters. As a senior with an appropriate maturity level, Loudermilk figures to enjoy an edge over the two freshmen. David Leaverton is on hand as punter, sporting a 38.9 average from last season. Leaverton improved as he became more comfortable in a starting role. Benson Scott, back for a senior season before entering medical school, will hold for kicks, and Kevin Gregory is into his third season as deep snapper. Kick return candidates include Eric Parker, Donte' Stallworth, Cedrick Wilson, Dwayne Goodrich, Leonard Scott and Travis Stephens.

Kick holder Benson Scott is the son of former Vol quarterback Bobby Scott (1968-70) and has inherited his father's No. 10. Tight end Neil Johnson is the son of former Vol defensive end Carl Johnson (1970-72). Neil's brother Greg lettered at Tennessee from 1993-95. Andre Lott and Cedric Wilson came to Knoxville from Melrose High School in Memphis. Keyon Whiteside and incoming recruit Chavis Smith each call Forest City, N.C., home.

Fulmer Meets The Press

On building another CONTENDER:

"We need to maintain good work habits, to seek consistency and do what it takes to win the close games against good opponents. If we continue to have the winning attitude we've had at Tennessee, we will keep on experiencing success. Hard work and dedication are the keys, and I believe this squad won't disappoint us in that respect."

On CHALLENGE facing Tennessee:

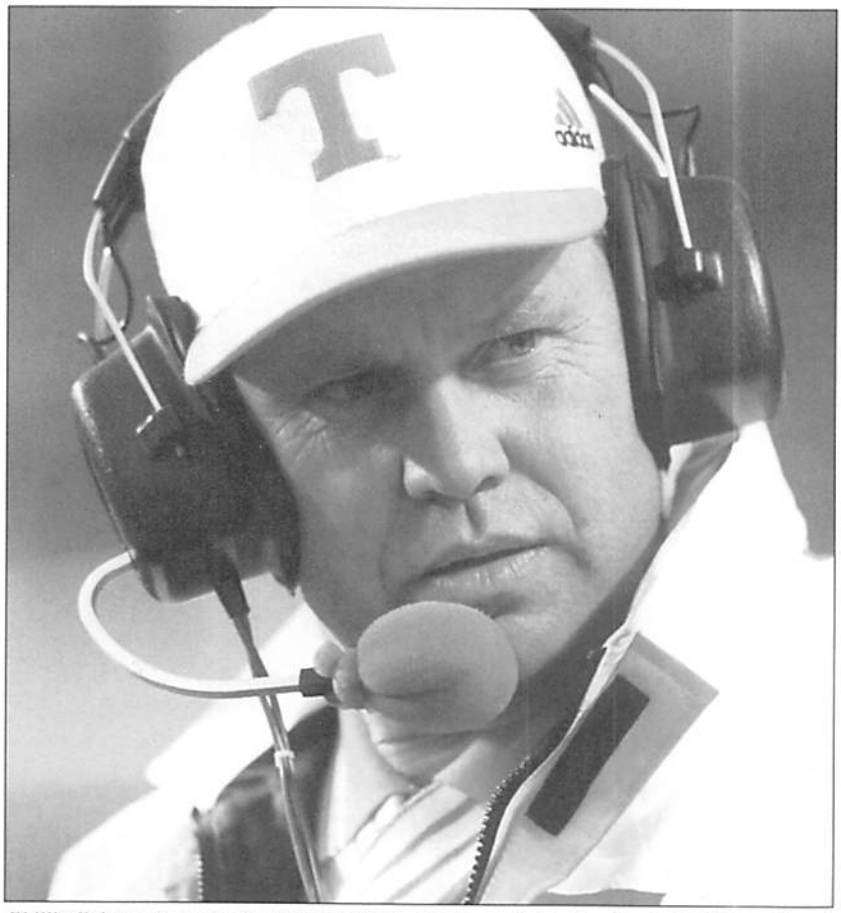
"We've got to stay hungry. We've got to put last year aside and realize that we need to do everything we can to be good this season. There are a large number of good football players to be replaced, and everyone needs to do his share. We face another very difficult schedule. Nothing will come easy because everyone will be laying for us. Up and down the schedule, we find improvement in our opponents."

On team ATTITUDE:

"I've been very pleased with the attitude this team has had in the offseason and in spring practice. They have worked hard. I've been very pleased with the upperclassmen and the way they've gone about their business. I think there is good leadership capability on this team. They have to go do it on the field, in the classroom and in the weight room."

On SPRING PRACTICE goals:

"Our primary objective was to make us a better football team. We won't get away from being a physical football team that runs the ball and stops the run. Always in spring practice, an important goal is to find adequate replacements for the players who graduated. How well we have done that won't be known until we move into the schedule in September.



Phillip Fulmer was named national coach of the year following the Vols' 13-0 national championship season in 1998.

On PRESEASON polls:

"It's not where we start; it's where we finish. Our players are cautioned not to put any stock in the rankings. We can't control that. The thing we can control is how well we do our jobs on Saturdays."

On being national COACH OF THE YEAR in 1998:

"It was especially gratifying that my fellow coaches believed I was deserving of such an honor. It was flattering, also, to receive the writers award. The thing about individual awards in football is really that the team and staff have done well and that the awards really belong to them."

On quarterback TEE MARTIN:

"Tee just handles everything like you would want it handled. He just fits our offense. Of course, everything is centered around him right now. There has been no change in Tee's attitude since he first became a starter in 1998. He constantly is searching for ways he can become a better quarterback. From a coach's standpoint, it's great to have Tee Martin on the team as far as ability, leadership, intelligence, character and academics responsibility are concerned."

On backup quarterbacks JOEY MATHEWS and A.J. SUGGS:

"We felt good enough about Mathews and Suggs that we were able to send Burney Veazey from quarterback to wide receiver. In spring practice they had good plays, and they had bad plays, but overall they made encouraging progress toward being able to contribute this fall."

On hype concerning TEE MARTIN and JAMAL LEWIS:

"They are both team-oriented, a couple of guys who won't let individual attention affect team chemistry. The hype won't bother them one bit. Certainly they are a couple of talented football players who figure very critically in our plans for 1999."

On new coaches LARRY SLADE and WOODY McCORVEY:

"Larry has proved over the years he is a great communicator who has worked for some outstanding head coaches. Woody is another guy who has been in winning programs and has played a big part in making them successful. I have tremendous respect for Larry and Woody and consider them outstanding additions to our coaching staff. They have both coached on national championship teams and bring a lot of experience to the staff."

"We've got to stay hungry. We've got to put last year aside and realize that we need to do everything we can to be good this season. There are a large number of good football players to be replaced, and everyone needs to do his share."

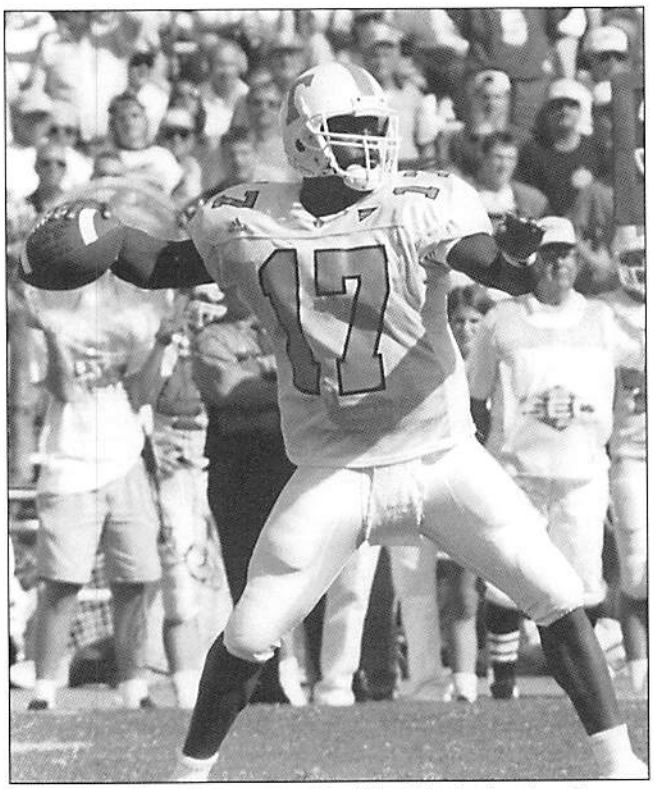
On election of CAPTAINS:

"We picked six captains, which is one or two more than customary. But the voting was so close I decided it was appropriate to have six. All those guys have been good players for us. We expect quality leadership from Tee Martin, Chad Clifton, Spencer Riley, Billy Ratliff, Darwin Walker and Dwayne Goodrich."

On expectations from YOUNG PLAYERS:

"It's their turn to step up. You do that by busting your butt to get better. They need to understand the tempo it takes to play the game. It's important that they approach practice with the understanding they need to have themselves prepared to step in whenever the occasion arises."



Phillip Fulmer says that quarterback Tee Martin "just handles everything like you would want it handled."

Randy Sanders begins his first season as the Vols' offensive coordinator after directing the UT offense in the Fiesta Bowl victory.

On competing for NATIONAL TITLE:

"It is special to have won it last year. To get that done, to get over the hump, as we said we said we were going to do seven years ago, is a major pinnacle in my life. We want to stay in the mix of teams who have a chance to do it again."

On promotion of RANDY SANDERS to offensive coordinator:

"It makes sense to promote from within when you have good people. Some people get caught up in thinking the grass is greener somewhere else. If a guy is loyal to you, you should be loyal to him."

The CHAMPS Program

The CHAMPS program helps student-athletes realize higher academic achievement and increases the likelihood of retention. Student-athletes graduate and enter a chosen profession with a higher level of vision, maturity, knowledge, motivation, self-responsibility and greater overall success.

What Does CHAMPS Mean?

CH = Challenging
A = Athletes
M = Minds for
PS = Personal Success

CHAMPS Components:

ACADEMICS
CAREER DEVELOPMENT

UT'S SPECIAL NEEDS PROGRAM

The Special Needs Program is a comprehensive academic support program which assists student-athletes with disabilities (physical, psychological, and learning) or are "at risk" students in need of remediation skills. All student-athletes who have official disability diagnosis documentation from a psychologist, physician, audiologist, or learning specialist are eligible to participate in the program.

UT'S RAC PROGRAM

The Renewing Academic Commitments program is geared towards athletes who have exhausted their eligibility or left school to join the professional ranks prior to graduation. It was created to facilitate the reentry of former student-athletes who would like to complete their degrees.

LEADERSHIP SKILLS FOR PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The CHAMPS Program of Excellence established by the National Board of Directors is made up of five components. Two of these components are personal development and career development. The CHAMPS/Life Skills program personal development commitment statement declares that its purpose is, "to support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills." The commitment statement for career development reads, "to encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals." Some of the subjects related to these two areas which the CHAMPS program addresses are drug education, personal counseling, nutritional education and eating disorders, and career counseling.

With this in mind, the Athletic Department created "Leadership Skills for Successful Employment," a seminar that focuses on the discussion of the traits essential to becoming a successful student-athlete and how these skills can be applied to the world of work. Speakers are invited from the Knoxville business community and comprise a variety of professions and interests. Central to the lectures are discussions about responsibility, motivation, time management, flexibility, team work, and resiliency. After class, speakers are invited to dinner and to follow-up lectures on how these skills enhance the opportunity for career success. For example, early in the semester an etiquette seminar was arranged to review business dining manners. The student-athletes were then able to practice these manners during a simulated business dinner that followed class.

The speakers include: Gail Collins, VP of First American Bank; Alvin Nance, VP of Sun Trust; Betsy Child, Senior VP for Covenant Health; Susan Williams, Ingram Group; and former Vols Charlie Anderson, Anderson News; Jim Haslam, Pilot Oil; Jeff Francis, First Tennessee Bank; and Terrence Cleveland, Whitby Pharmaceuticals.

TENNESSEE STUDENT LIFE AND ACADEMIC SUPPORT

At the University of Tennessee, we are committed to the "student" in student-athlete.

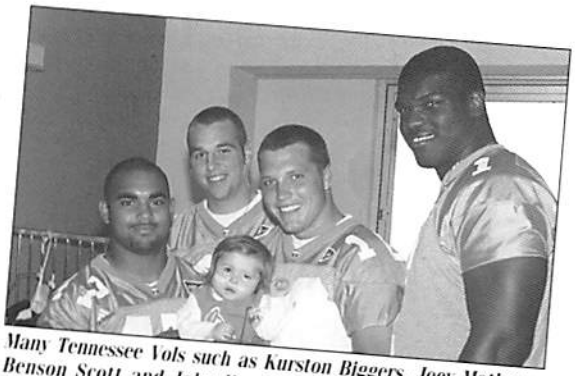
Collegiate athletes devote enormous time and energy to practice and perfect their athletic skills and abilities. Our goal is to provide the environment where the same energy and drive can be applied to academic accomplishments and personal growth.

In today's challenging academic environment, success includes developing solid study habits, excelling in the classroom, fine-tuning one's writing abilities and honing resume and life skills. Such achievements build together to prepare students for graduation and the ultimate challenge of the working world.

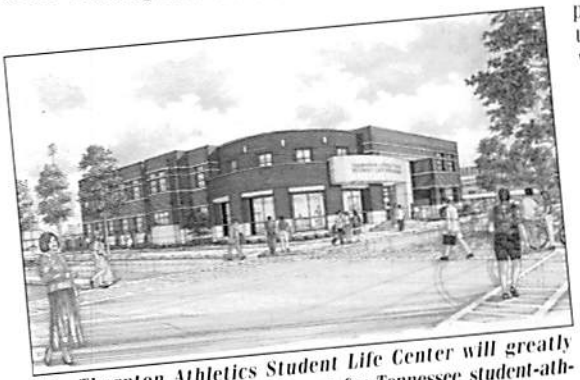
Balancing such endeavors with the tough demands of being a collegiate athlete is a challenge for even the most disciplined student-athlete. A solid student life program is key to providing our athletes with an opportunity for academic and personal success.

For many years, our athletics program has operated at a disadvantage in the area of academics and student life. Our staff in these areas is top-notch and will take a back seat to no one.

The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center will greatly improve this learning environment. Featuring state-of-the-art computer labs, individual and classroom tutorial labs, a writing center, and special facilities for the learning disabled, this Center will forever change the face of the Athletics Student Life program at the University of Tennessee.



Many Tennessee Vols such as Kurston Biggers, Joey Mathews, Benson Scott and John Henderson pictured here, visit the Children's Hospital as part of Tennessee's community service program.



The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center will greatly improve the learning environment for Tennessee student-athletes.

"Collegiate athletes face tough demands athletically, academically and socially. It is our responsibility to provide each player with the opportunity to succeed as an athlete, a student and a person. The Thornton Center will allow our athletes to work and learn in a first class environment."

-Phillip Fulmer, Head Coach, Football

"It is imperative that we, at the University of Tennessee, set the national pace in academic support for our athletes. Every coach in America mandates that academics is more important than athletics, this is our chance to demonstrate that mandate."

-Jerry Green, Head Coach, Men's Basketball

"As a fan, cheering Tennessee athletes and their teams has been a true honor and thrill for me. Like thousands of other Tennesseans, I love the University of Tennessee. As loud as we cheer for Big Orange touchdowns and three-point baskets, we need to have a constant chant for academic encouragement. Tennessee needs to do its best to provide academic assistance to the young men and women who participate in athletics. Few of our student athletes will benefit from large professional contracts; all of them will benefit from the educational opportunities offered by the new Athletics Student Life Center."

-John Thornton, Vol Fan

Senior running back Phillip Crosby (left), is one of the many examples of UT student-athletes giving their time and energy to the community at Camp Koinonia. Camp Koinonia is a week long residential outdoor educational program for approximately 100 children ages 7-21 who have a variety of disabilities such as hearing and visual impairments, mental retardation and cerebral palsy. Many of the staffers are UT student-athletes who volunteer as part of the Athletic Department's CHAMPS/Life Skills Program, which seeks to prepare student-athletes for life after college while giving them opportunities to serve the community. Because the camp runs during the academic year, many staff members take time out of school to volunteer at the camp. Among this year's staff members were football players Mose Philips, Corey Terry and Crosby. Bob Kesling, Director of Broadcasting, was this year's keynote speaker.

Head Football Coach

Phillip Fulmer said in 1992 when he accepted the job as head football coach at the University of Tennessee that his challenge was to "take this program to the next level."

Mission accomplished.

His 1998 Volunteers didn't just get to the next level. They created another level of achievement unsurpassed in modern day college football history: consensus national champions. A perfect season. Numerous national coach of the year awards. Winner of the inaugural Bowl Championship Series.

Fulmer began the 1998 campaign with the best coaching record in the nation and further enhanced his glowing coaching mark with a 13-0 season that provided a second straight Southeastern Conference championship.

The Vols, ranked first in both the writers and coaches polls, took their No. 1 position in the Bowl Championship Series into the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and defeated No. 2 ranked Florida State in the first officially recognized national championship game, 23-16.

1998 was thought to be a "rebuilding" year by many of the Vol faithful and almost all the sports pundits. Those folks saw a Vol roster minus a record setting All-America quarterback, an All-America corner and defensive end, and 14 players who went to the NFL, including three players who were drafted in the first round. Where others saw obstacles, Phillip Fulmer saw opportunities. Fulmer, exhibiting his trademark work ethic and patience, molded a group of talented but inexperienced players into a championship team.

Tennessee survived its first two obstacles, nationally-ranked Syracuse and Florida. As the young players gained experience and Tee Martin settled in comfortably at quarterback, the Vols' confidence mounted. When the final victory was notched, Fulmer attributed his team's success to the squad's disciplined approach to its work. "They listened to their coaches, never took anything for granted and determined to find a way to win."

Fulmer's brilliant coaching record included these other accomplishments:

▶ A total of 64 academic All-SEC honorees the past four years, including 18 in 1998.

▶ The No. 1 ranking in the AP poll for the remainder of the season starting with the balloting of Nov. 7, as well as the top spot in the coaches poll in the final voting before the bowl games.

▶ The first Tennessee team ever to post 13 victories in a single season, a record in 1998 that included a Southeastern Conference championship game and a Fiesta Bowl appearance for the national title.

▶ A record of 45-5 from 1995 through 1998, the most victories over a four-year span in the school's history.

▶ Four consecutive seasons of 10 victories or more from 1995 through 1998.

▶ A total of 27 All-SEC players the past four years, including eight in 1998.

▶ A winning percentage that is the highest for any head coach in Vol football annals, putting Fulmer ahead of John Barnhill, who had held the

▶ In only 60 games, Fulmer reached the 50-victory milestone. It was quicker than any other coach in SEC history.

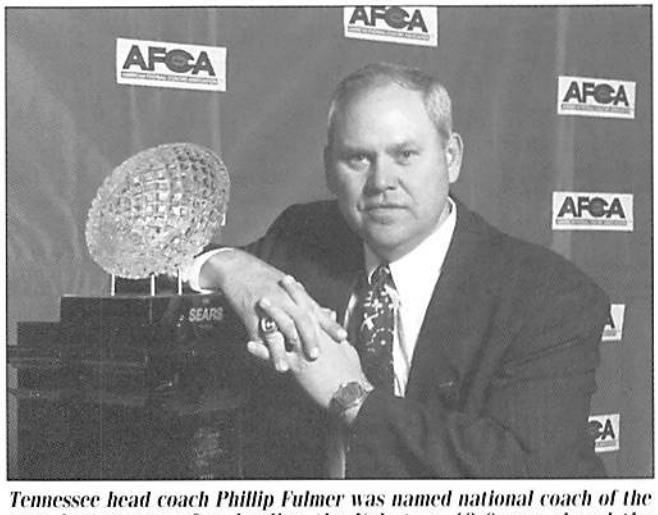
Fulmer's record becomes all the more remarkable because of the rugged gauntlet of opponents faced by the Vols. Tennessee's schedule is ranked among the toughest in the nation in a variety of ratings. In addition to the demanding SEC schedule, the Vols stray far from home to meet such traditional national powerhouses as Notre Dame, UCLA and Syracuse.

Notching a second straight SEC title carries special meaning for Fulmer, the 48-year old native of Winchester, Tenn., who played in the offensive line for the Vols and then came back as an assistant coach before being promoted to head coach in 1992. "Winning championships is always a goal when you're coaching football," Fulmer said.

Fulmer, who served 13 years as a Vol assistant beginning in 1980, is number 20 in a line of Tennessee head coaches that began with the incumbency of J.A. Pierce at the turn of the century. The decision to elevate Phillip came five seasons after he was appointed assistant head coach and three seasons after he became offensive coordinator. Long recognized as a molder of premier offensive lines and as a relentless recruiter, Fulmer smoothly made the necessary transition that marks the differences between the duties of a top assistant coach and the man at the head of the program, with his offensive, defensive and kicking game consistently ranking at or near the top of the SEC and national statistics.

During Fulmer's years as offensive coordinator, the Vols consistently broke team total offense records and were ranked one or two in the SEC. Records have fallen with even greater frequency since he became head coach. While serving as offensive line coach, he saw 17 of his charges join the ranks of the NFL, including two first round picks, Antone Davis and Charles McRae. Year after year with Fulmer as head coach, Tennessee continues to stand in the top ranks of college football for graduating players who go on to careers in the professional game. Recent examples include running backs Aaron Hayden, James Stewart and Jay Graham. The 1998 rookie crop found last year's seniors, including No. 1 pick Peyton Manning, among the top choices of the NFL talent scouts, along with seven other drafted Vols such as first round picks Terry Fair and Marcus Nash.



Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer was named national coach of the year last season after leading the Vols to a 13-0 record and the national championship. Fulmer ranks first among active Division I-A coaches in winning percentage with a record of 67-11 (.859) in seven seasons.

Aware that Saturday afternoons are the most important factor in any coach's career report card, Fulmer regards development of good citizenship attitudes as compatible and consistent with team goals. Off-field and on-field achievements should go hand-in-hand, he feels.

He considers such experiences essential to the education process of Vol football players. "It helps the players become more accountable, more responsible. There are many good things that can be done. I think it's our responsibility to provide our players the opportunity for community service and community involvement."

Three decades ago, Fulmer was a competent blocker on three UT teams that ended their seasons gracing holiday bowl extravaganzas. He served as a team captain his senior year. Phillip spent the next year as a graduate student assistant.

As an offensive guard, Fulmer helped Tennessee to a 30-5 record from 1969-71. The Vols captured the SEC championship with a 9-2 record in 1969, went 11-1 and won the Sugar Bowl in 1970, and finished as the Liberty Bowl champions with a 10-2 record in 1971, a season which ended Fulmer's playing career. Phillip began coaching as a graduate assistant in 1972. Her served as linebacker coach and defensive coordinator for the Tennessee freshman team in 1973 and moved on to Wichita State the following season.

At the time Tennessee hired him, Fulmer was employed at Vanderbilt University as an aide to Commodore Head Coach George MacIntyre. Before landing in Nashville, he had spent five years at Wichita State, where he coached the offensive line in 1974, 1977-78, and served as linebacker coach in 1975 and 1976.

Fulmer is an avid civic booster, serving on such boards of directors as Boys and Girls Clubs, the Jason Foundation, American Football Coaches Association and Child and Family Services.

Fulmer is married to the former Vicky Morey and has four children: Phillip, Jr. Courtney, Brittany and Allison.

Assistant Coaches

John Chavis

Assistant Head Coach

Defensive Coordinator

Linebackers

John Chavis, whose stingy defensive units at Tennessee have complemented the offense for a winning combination, has experienced four successful seasons as the Vols' defensive coordinator. Citing qualities Chavis had displayed as a longtime Vol staff member, Head Coach Phillip Fulmer last February promoted him to assistant head coach.

Attaining a high moment in his career when the Vols notched the national championship in 1998, Chavis looks forward to the return of most of the players who played a role in the title run.

At the position that bears his own coaching stamp, linebacker, Chavis hopes to offset the loss of fiery leader Al Wilson with the return of two battle-tested starters, Raynoch Thompson and Eric Westmoreland. After the banner 1998 season, Chavis received recognition as the outstanding linebacker coach in the Southeastern Conference.

Now in his fifth year as coordinator, Chavis hopes returnees such as Thompson, Westmoreland, Darwin Walker and Shaun Ellis will combine with some promising younger players to give the Vols a defense reminiscent of the grudging outfit that led the SEC three years ago, ranked third in 1997 and finished second in 1998.

Chavis, a fiercely competitive lineman in his undergraduate days at Tennessee, maintains that same all-out attitude as defensive coordinator and linebacker coach for Fulmer.

Chavis has divided his responsibilities between the defensive line and the linebacker corps since returning to his alma mater 10 years ago. In 1989 John spent his time with the defensive line. Then in 1990, to help accommodate additions to the defensive staff, he made the switch to linebacker coach. In recognition of Chavis' experience, technical knowledge and fighting temperament, Fulmer promoted him to defensive coordinator before the 1995 season.

Before coming to Tennessee, Chavis had been defensive coordinator at Alabama A&M, leading the Division II school to the best defensive record in the nation. The Bulldogs ranked first in total defense in both 1987 and 1988.

Chavis came to UT as a walk-on defensive lineman and was later granted a scholarship on the basis of his scrappy play at middle guard and tackle. He lettered in 1977 and 1978 and received his degree from the College of Education in 1979. Chavis is a native of Dillon, S.C.

Before taking the defensive coordinator job at Alabama A&M, Chavis coached as a graduate assistant at Tennessee in 1979, as defensive line coach in an earlier stint at Alabama A&M from 1980 to 1983 and then as defensive line coach and defensive coordinator at Alabama State in Montgomery in 1984 and 1985.

Randy Sanders

Assistant Football Coach

Offensive Coordinator

Quarterbacks

Moving into the position of offensive coordinator, Randy Sanders enjoyed an auspicious debut, Tennessee's 23-16 Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State that clinched the 1998 national championship.

Coach Phillip Fulmer handed Sanders a pressure-packed assignment when he promoted him after David Cutcliffe's December departure to become head coach at Ole Miss. Randy's first game was against the No. 2 ranked Seminoles with the national title on the line.

Sanders proved himself equal to the test. In the process he endeared himself to Vol fans when he displayed the nerves of a riverboat gambler by calling for a fourth-and-one forward pass in the game's final minutes. It should be noted the pass was complete.

The elevation to offensive coordinator also included a change in position assignment for Sanders. He moved from running backs to quarterbacks, which places him specifically over Tee Martin, the Vols' accomplished senior signal-caller.

Sanders has held a variety of jobs on the Tennessee staff, including a couple of years as a graduate assistant before moving into a full-time position. But none of his duties occupies a higher priority on Coach Phillip Fulmer's agenda than his assignment as recruiting coordinator. Randy took over the responsibility in 1994 and has directed an effort that saw Tennessee's crop of newcomers judged among the nation's most promising the last five years.

Sanders' assignment with running backs starting in 1993 followed two seasons in which he worked as wide receivers coach.

Randy was named as a full-time assistant in 1991. Vol coaches had already observed him enough to set high expectations for his development. They had coached him over a five-year period, including a redshirt season, and then watched his work for two more years as a volunteer coach on the Vol staff.

Sanders came to Tennessee in 1984 from nearby Morristown as one of the most heralded quarterbacks produced in the state, having nabbed both All-State and All-Southern honors. Randy worked hard in the classroom--four times winning Southeastern Conference Academic All-Star honors--and earned his degree in 1987 at a time he still had a year of eligibility. After electing to pass up his final season of play, he was persuaded by the coaching staff to give it one more shot in order to give the Vols some needed depth.

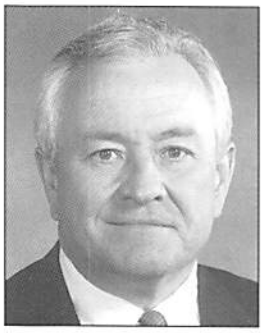
Sanders lettered for a fourth time in 1988 and stayed around two years as a volunteer coach, working with quarterbacks under Jim Hofher in 1989 and David Cutcliffe in 1990. He and his wife, Cathy, are the parents of two girls, Kelly and Kari.

Assistant Coaches



Mike Barry

Assistant Football Coach

Offensive Line

When Tennessee's 1998 national championship run underwent postseason analysis, appropriate credit went to the offensive line, the area overseen by then first-year Vol coach Mike Barry.

Shifting player positions as the need arose, Barry assembled an impressive quintet that gave balanced results in protecting quarterback Tee Martin and providing running room for tailbacks Travis Henry and Travis Stephens.

Three of the starters return for 1999, but Barry has a tough task in grooming replacements for senior stalwarts Jarvis Reado and Mercedes Hamilton.

Next only to working with his linemen, Barry finds football happiness in recruiting, a pursuit he says goes hand-in-hand with coaching. "You can't be a great recruiter and an average coach. You need to be excellent in both areas. Then you get the maximum out of your kids," Barry said.

Barry was born in the New York borough of Brooklyn, but left Flatbush early in life, winding up in the Midwest where he went through high school at Fenwick Prep in Oak Park, Ill.

His collegiate days were divided between the University of Nebraska and Southern Illinois University. After three seasons with the Salukis, Mike graduated and began his coaching career.

After a stint at Carbondale, Ill., High School he coached successively at Southern Illinois, Arizona, Iowa State, Colorado and Southern California, sandwiched around two years he spent in the United States Football League.

He was a member of the Colorado staff under Bill McCartney when the Buffaloes won the national championship in 1990.

For his work with Tennessee's national championship team in 1998, Barry received an award as the Southeastern Conference's outstanding offensive line coach.

Barry had been at Southern California for five years when Fulmer offered him a post with the Vols.

Mark Bradley

Assistant Football Coach

Offensive Line

Mark Bradley, who enjoys the confidence of Coach Phillip Fulmer befitting a man with three productive decades in his profession, directs the work of tight ends for the Tennessee football staff.

The versatile Bradley, who broke into coaching 30 years ago at W. A. Berry High School in Birmingham, Ala., also lends his expertise to helping Mike Barry with the other positions in the offensive line.

Over the length of his career Mark has brought his coaching skills to four high schools and to four universities, including Tennessee where he has been a member of the staff since 1990.

An important part of his contribution at Tennessee has been the fruits of his work as a recruiter. His sincerity of presentation to prospects reflects his commitment to UT and his lifelong love of the game of football.

Bradley moved into coaching the first fall after receiving his degree in 1969 from Samford University in Birmingham.

Mark's thorough understanding of the coaching profession, encompassing a wide variety of perspectives, traces partly to more than a decade he spent as a high school coach before moving into college ranks.

A native of Huntsville, Ala., Bradley enrolled at Samford about the same time the Birmingham school changed its name from Howard College and took on university status. His job at W.A. Berry began a series of high school positions that took him through the next decade, leading to his introduction to college coaching in 1980.

Vanderbilt launched Mark's college coaching career. Then came subsequent stops at Cincinnati, Rice and Vanderbilt again, from 1986 to 1989.

Married to the former Dale Sanderson, Bradley is the father of Beth and Rusty.

Assistant Coaches

Dan Brooks

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Line

Recruiting Coordinator

Tennessee's traditionally strong defense, consistently among the leaders nationally and in the Southeastern Conference, relies heavily on the strength and quickness of linemen coached by Dan Brooks.

Brooks, a coaching veteran who has spent 23 years in the trenches, worked last year with a unit that was effective against the run and took special delight in sacking the quarterback.

Darwin Walker, who as a junior used his quarterback-chasing skills to land All-Southeastern Conference honors, returns to lead his teammates into Brooks' sixth season with the Vols.

A measure of Head Coach Phillip Fulmer's confidence in Brooks came last winter when he designated Dan to take on additional duties as the Vols' recruiting coordinator.

Brooks' previous experience as a coach included stints at Florida and North Carolina. A close associate of North Carolina's Torush, now the Tar Heels head coach but in charge of the defensive unit when Brooks was at Chapel Hill, Don was a key member of the Tar Heels staff.

Now at the age of 48, the North Carolina native still has the zest for football he experienced when he was given his first job, at Western Carolina in 1975.

A graduate of Western Carolina, Brooks received a master's degree from Florida. He coached at Western Carolina, Kings Mountain, N.C., High School and Florida before going to work for Mack Brown at North Carolina in 1988.

In 1990, the North Carolina defense set a school record by registering 45 sacks, of which 19 were by the defensive line. In Brooks' final season before coming to Tennessee, the Tar Heels led the Atlantic Coast Conference in sacks with 38. The 1995 Vols recorded a SEC-leading 42 sacks, a school record. The 1996 Orange posted another school mark, 83 tackles for loss. The national championship team of 1998 broke up a record of 60 passes.

Brooks after the 1998 national championship season at UT was awarded recognition as the Southeastern Conference's outstanding defensive line coach.

Married to the former Kathy Whitaker, Brooks has two children, Tara and Rhett.

Steve Caldwell

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Ends

Steve Caldwell, a valued member of the Tennessee Vols defensive staff, expects his 1999 ends to continue the pattern of mayhem that helped lead UT to the national championship last year.

Shaun Ellis and Corey Terry, the 1998 starters, contributed substantially to the Vols' nationally ranked defense. Ellis returns, but Caldwell hopes Will Overstreet can emulate Terry's penchant for making big plays.

Caldwell, entering his fifth season on Phillip Fulmer's Tennessee staff, has produced a group of ends who make a specialty of rendering quarterback sacks.

Fulmer, who had worked with Caldwell when Steve was a graduate assistant coach on the Tennessee staff in 1990, brought Steve back before the start of the 1995 season. Caldwell was rewarded in his first season when the ends played a giant part in Tennessee's record sack production.

A dean's list student at Arkansas State, Caldwell played four years of football for the Indians as a defensive end and linebacker. His first taste of coaching came over the next three seasons at his alma mater, from 1978 through 1980. From Jonesboro, Caldwell moved on to Northwest (Miss.) Community College where he coached the offensive line for four seasons.

Next he came back to Arkansas State, coaching linebackers under head coach Larry Lacewell during a notable period of success for the Indians. Subsequent jobs took him to Tennessee, Pacific and Nevada-Reno, the latter school as defensive coordinator for the 1994 Big West Conference champions. Caldwell coached briefly at Ole Miss before accepting Fulmer's entreaty to join the Vols.

Caldwell and his wife, Leisa, are parents of three children--Lauren, Landon and Lendl.

Woody McCorvey

Assistant Football Coach

Running Backs

Woody McCorvey, a seasoned veteran of Southeastern Conference warfare with service at three league schools, is Tennessee's running backs coach, appointed to the job in January.

McCorvey, who held top-level coaching positions at Alabama during an eight-year stint with the Crimson Tide, came to UT from South Carolina where he served as receivers coach in 1998.

"I am very pleased to have Woody McCorvey as an addition to our staff, " UT head coach Phillip Fulmer said in announcing the appointment in January. "He brings a wealth of experience, maturity and knowledge to our program. He has an outstanding reputation as an on-the-field coach and recruiter."

Fulmer said members of the Vols staff were familiar with the high quality of McCorvey's work. "We are looking forward to his doing an outstanding job for UT."

As far as Fulmer's staff assignments were concerned, McCorvey replaced Randy Sanders, who moved from running backs to quarterbacks coach at the time he was promoted to offensive coordinator before the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl game against Florida State.

The 48-year-old McCorvey, who grew up in Alabama and received his college degree at Alabama State University, coached at North Carolina Central, Alabama A&M and Clemson before going to Alabama in 1990. He was assistant head coach of the Tide from 1993 to 1997 and served as offensive coordinator in 1996.

At Alabama A&M McCorvey shared an office with Tennessee's defensive coordinator, John Chavis.

He and his wife, Ann, have one child, Marlon.

Larry Slade

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Backs

Larry Slade, who received Little All-America recognition in his playing days at Shepherd College, became the newest member of Phillip Fulmer's Tennessee staff when he signed on as defensive backfield coach in February.

The secondary coach at Texas A&M for the past five years, Slade is in charge of a Vols unit that returns three starters from last season's national championship team.

"I am really excited about the addition of Larry Slade to our staff," Fulmer said. "He brings great experience to our staff with a background of being in outstanding programs at Texas A&M and Washington. Larry also is a really fine family man who is a good example for our young men."

Slade, 47, is a native of Pelham, N.C., who was twice named All-West Virginia while playing guard at Shepherd in the early 1970s. He was named Little All-America honorable mention in 1971 and later inducted into the Shepherd College Hall of Fame. He received his degree in biology with a minor in English.

His coaching career began at his alma mater with subsequent stops at Richmond, Howard, Southern Illinois, Washington and Maryland. His six-year stay as secondary coach at Washington was highlighted by a national championship season in 1991, during which the Huskies ranked first in NCAA statistics for pass defense efficiency.

Slade left Washington in 1992 for Maryland to serve as defensive coordinator, a post he held for two seasons before moving to Texas A&M. His 1997 Aggies secondary gave up only three touchdowns by passing, tops in the nation.

He is married to the former Izetta Willingham and is the father of three children, Lyndsey, Roshawn and Herbie.

Pat Washington

Assistant Football Coach

Receivers

Pat Washington is into his fifth season as Tennessee Vols receiver coach, a position in which he has fortified the school's reputation for developing topflight pass catchers.

Each year takes its graduation toll, Peerless Price being the latest All-Southeastern Conference receiver to complete his eligibility. But Washington invariably restocks the cupboard, and 1999 should be no exception.

Progress recorded last year under Washington's tutelage by Cedrick Wilson, David Martin and Eric Parker, among others, bodes well for Tennessee's continuing success in launching the ball downfield.

Before coming to Tennessee in 1995, Washington's previous place of employment was Waco, Texas, where in 1994 he coached running backs for the Baylor Bears.

His duties at UT as receiver's coach are more similar to his work at TCU in 1992 and 1993. There he directed the play of wide receivers and quarterbacks for the Horned Frogs. His coaching resume also includes three years at Southwestern Louisiana in charge of receivers.

During the time he played quarterback at Auburn, from 1982 through 1985, Washington did far more than hand the ball off to future Heisman Trophy winner and teammate Bo Jackson. In his junior and senior seasons, he was the signal-caller for Tiger teams that played in the Liberty and Cotton Bowls.

Washington, who served as Auburn captain his senior season, remained on campus as a graduate assistant coach for two years, assigned to working with Tiger quarterbacks. A native of Mobile, Ala., he won prep All-America honors at Murphy High School.

In 1998, Washington received recognition as the outstanding receivers coach in the Southeastern Conference.

He and his wife, Claudette, are parents of a son, Tyson Alexander.

Football Administration

Condredge Holloway

Assistant Athletic Director
Football Operations

The people's choice when he played for Tennessee, Condredge Holloway enjoys similar popularity north of the border as evidenced last summer when he was named to the Canadian Football League Hall of Fame.

Holloway, whose daring quarterback style as a Vol inspired a songwriter to take pen in hand to pay him a musical tribute, is into his second season on the Tennessee staff as Assistant Athletic Director for Football Operations.

As the chief administrative aide to head coach Phillip Fulmer, Holloway brings to the football program the business principles he learned as general manager of the Huntsville Channel Cats professional ice hockey team.

For longtime Tennessee fans, Holloway's appointment in 1998 rekindled blissful moments when the talented little quarterback, nicknamed the Artful Dodger, played for the Vols in the early 1970s.

Condredge's accurate passes and dazzling runs, mostly of an improvised variety, carried the Vols to three bowl appearances and brought him a popularity that reached a peak when a ditty saluting his play was aired by radio stations throughout the state.

The son of Condredge and Dorothy Holloway went on to play 13 seasons in the Canadian Football League, passing for more than 25,000 yards in a career that took him to Ottawa 1975-80, Toronto 1981-86 and British Columbia 1987. He was named the league's MVP with the Toronto Argonauts in 1982. His Hall of Fame induction is scheduled for mid-October.

After his pro career ended, Condredge returned to college and earned his degree at UT. He served as director of public and community relations for the Channel Cats before being promoted to general manager. He resigned the GM post to join Fulmer's staff.

Many other honors have been bestowed on Holloway, including induction into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame and the retirement of his jersey by the Argonauts. He was also named in 1991 to UT's 100th anniversary team.

Condredge was born Jan. 25, 1954 in Huntsville, Ala. and attended Lee High School. He earned his degree from the University of Tennessee in 1991. He and his wife, the former Courtney Haralson, have one daughter, Jasmine (8/3/90).

David Blackburn

Assistant Athletic Director
Football Administrator
Compliance

David Blackburn, an earnest and dependable stalwart on Head Coach Phillip Fulmer's staff, was promoted last winter to Assistant Athletic Director football administrator/compliance.

Blackburn, 33, became known to Vol coaches when he served diligently as head student manager for football in 1988-89. When an opening developed on the staff for an assistant in the recruiting office, David received early consideration and was offered the job.

NCAA regulations eliminated recruiting positions for athletic departments, but David was retained on the staff to carry out administrative responsibilities as assigned by Doug Dickey.

Two key areas of David's duties include serving as coordinator of the Phillip Fulmer football camp and administrative duties with the annual Spring Football Coaching Clinic. He also is charged with the task of keeping football coaches informed of their myriad responsibilities in operating within the rules established by NCAA, SEC and the University of Tennessee.

A native of Loudon, where he played quarterback on Loudon High School teams coached by his father, the late Henry Blackburn, David graduated from UT in 1989 and launched a coaching career at Morristown East High School in Morristown, Tenn. from 1990-93.

Blackburn, born Sept. 19, 1965 in Loudon, Tenn., is married to the former Wendy Wohlwend of Morristown. They have a daughter, Emma (5/10/97).

John Stucky

Assistant Athletic Director for Physical Development

John Stucky, the recipient of several awards attesting to his rank at the top of his profession, is in his sixth year as head of Tennessee's fitness and conditioning program.

Assistant athletic director for physical development is the official moniker of the intense Vol staffer, whose responsibilities extend to all sports in the UT spectrum.

Stucky is recognized nationwide for his proficiency at inspiring athletes to perform at their ultimate physical capability. Three years ago the Professional Football Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society named John as its national collegiate coach of the year.

Closer to home, his Southeastern Conference peers have picked him twice as the league's coach of the year. The importance UT attaches to Stucky's job was indicated two years ago when Athletic Director Doug Dickey promoted him to assistant athletic director from his previous post as director of athletic fitness.

Tennessee's emphasis on a strong fitness program is epitomized in Stucky, whose background in coaching underpinned his belief in the link between conditioning and athletic success. Stucky sets high goals for his charges but makes the standards attainable with realistic workout programs, is credited by Head Coach Phillip Fulmer with making physical fitness a basic component of Vol football.

John came to UT in 1994 from a six-year stint at Arkansas.

In his combined coaching and fitness career, Stucky has also worked at Kansas State, Wichita State, North Carolina State and Oklahoma State. His employment since 1988 at Arkansas marked the second time he had been with the Razorbacks. He was also there in the late 1970s.

The native of Moundridge, Kansas, was a junior college All-America defensive lineman at Hutchinson (Kan.) Community College before advancing to Kansas State where he won All-America honors as a nose guard. He was twice All-Big Eight. He earned bachelor and masters degrees in physical education at Kansas State before playing two years in the Canadian Football League.

Stucky came back to Kansas State as freshman line coach and strength coach, then served consecutively at Wichita State, Arkansas, North Carolina State, Oklahoma State and Arkansas again. It was when he went to North Carolina State, in 1981 that Stucky left football coaching to devote his time exclusively to strength and conditioning responsibilities.

Stucky and his wife, Jeanne, have one son, Phillip.

Head Trainer

Mike Rollo, affiliated with Vol athletics since his undergraduate days, has used his strong organizational skills to oversee the complex operation of Tennessee's training department, a role he has filled for seven years.

Rollo, 43, was named to his current position of head trainer shortly after the death of his friend and mentor, Tim Kerin, in 1992. Rollo had served under Kerin throughout the 16 years that Tim had held the head trainer's post.

Within days after Kerin's funeral, UT Athletic Director Doug Dickey asked Rollo to become the new head trainer. Mike was well prepared for the assignment through a two-decade apprenticeship in a variety of responsibilities.

As head trainer, Rollo gives the bulk of his attention to football, but maintains supervision of the entire operation of the Vols' training department. As assistant trainer and as associate trainer, a position he held from 1986 until 1992, Rollo's experience primarily had been with the Vol basketball team.

Rollo, a native of Kingston, earned his B.S. in Education in 1977 and received a M.S. degree in 1981, both from UT. Mike was a student trainer while in school and has remained at UT since completing his education.

He is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), Southeastern Athletic Trainers Association (SEATA) and the Tennessee Athletic Trainers Society. He was the recipient of the 1989 SEATA Backbone Award, given annually to an assistant trainer for outstanding service in a supporting role.

Rollo has long been known on campus as coach of the Lakers intramural teams, which captured multiple championships in basketball, football, softball and track. Mike's duties leave him with little free time. He enjoys hiking and golf as recreational pursuits.

Doug Dickey

Tennessee Vols athletic director Doug Dickey throughout his career has received numerous accolades that underscore his position as one of the nation's most successful college sports administrators.

But Dickey's rank at the top of his profession was encapsulated with an award that was one of the highlights last December of college football's annual gala, the Waldorf-Astoria banquet of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Before a couple of thousand notables gathered in New York City, Dickey accepted the foundation's John H. Toner award, which recognizes superior administrative abilities, especially in the area of college football.

It is the Foundation's most prestigious honor specifically designated for an athletics director. Dickey earned the attention of selectors not only for his direction of the UT program but also for his involvement in college football nationwide.

Over a span of 35 years, Dickey has been the principal force on the UT sports scene, first as coach by winning two Southeastern Conference football championships and since 1985 directing a Vol athletic department that has been a model of consistent performance.

As athletic director, the 67-year-old coach-turned-administrator has been heavily involved in policy-making on the national level. For example, in a six-year term with the football rules committee, he served as chairman from 1992 through 1994.

Since 1992, Dickey has been a member of the board of NOCSAE, the National Operating Committee on Standards for Athletic Equipment. On the statewide level, Dickey has employed his administrative skills to play a key role in the building of a Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame in a wing of the new Nashville arena. He currently serves as president of the organization. He is the Southeastern Conference representative to the NCAA Competition Cabinet and serves on the NCAA's Football Issue's Committee and Football Certification Committee. He is on the Strategic Planning Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

Dickey's service at UT encompasses responsibilities as head coach for six seasons (1964-69) and as athletics director for the last 14 years.

As coach, he put Tennessee back in the national football forefront with a string of productive seasons that included league championships and bowl appearances. As athletics director, he has overseen a huge facilities construction and renovation program.

UT under Dickey has completed building projects that brought its physical plant to the top rank of major colleges and universities. A landmark development was the opening three years ago of an expanded north end of Neyland Stadium, bringing capacity to 102,854. A UT record crowd of 107,683 saw the 1998 Tennessee-Florida game at the Home of the Vols.

Among other additions to the campus sports scene in recent years have been the Thompson-Boling Assembly Center and Arena, Lindsey Nelson baseball stadium, renovated Gibbs Hall dormitory, the Goodfriend tennis complex, Tom Elam press box and executive suites at Neyland Stadium and Neyland-Thompson Sports Center, the name given to the Vol football complex. Construction of 78 new skyboxes at Neyland Stadium, on the east side, will be completed in time for the 2000 season.

The arena, begun under the administration of previous athletics director Bob Woodruff and completed after Dickey's appointment, has proved a magnet for basketball tournaments and other events attracted by its 24,500-seat capacity.

Numerous honors have come Dickey's way in recognition of his continuing contributions to college athletics. He has been inducted into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame and the Knoxville Sports Hall of Fame.

When Dickey succeeded Woodruff as athletics director in 1985, he put a top priority on bringing UT's facilities to a level that would enable Vol coaches and athletes to compete on an even plane with their Southeastern Conference rivals. The multi-million dollar building program was a must on his agenda.

One of his first steps was the implementation of a well-orchestrated scholarship fund-raising drive, which has increased UT's level of giving from approximately $800,000 to almost $11 million annually. Contributions have increased dramatically under Dickey's astute leadership and have been instrumental in financing the ambitious building program.

A college football coach for 22 years before moving onto the business world in 1980, Dickey became only the fourth athletic director in UT history when he was chosen to the job of overseeing Tennessee's success-oriented sports program.

Keenly aware of the role athletics plays within the framework of the university's educational mission, Dickey has taken particular satisfaction in allocating athletic department funds, as available, to academic scholarships such as the Robert R. Neyland grants, university library and the more recent Peyton Manning Scholarships. Over the years of Dickey's administration, the athletic department has supported academic programs in a tangible manner.

Douglas Adair Dickey brought to the athletics director's job the qualities the university was searching for in a replacement for Woodruff. He had long-standing ties with Tennessee, he had been involved with college athletics for more than two decades, he had participated successfully in business and he enjoyed a reputation for total integrity.

Before taking the Tennessee post, Dickey had been for four years general manager of the Florida Tile Ceramic Centers, with headquarters in Lakeland, Fla. He previously had served the firm as its Southeast regional sales manager.

One of Dickey's five children, Daryl, was the starting quarterback and the most valuable player in the Sugar Bowl after Tennessee's 1985 team won the Southeastern Conference championship. But the current athletic director's ties to UT were forged in the 1960s when he took a football program that had happened onto lean times and turned it into a national powerhouse with all the accoutrements of success--SEC championships, high national rankings, a bevy of All-America stars and annual bowl game appearances.

Six years after he came to Tennessee, a youthful head coach taking on the established greats of his fiercely competitive profession, Dickey left Knoxville. He answered a call from his alma mater, the University of Florida, and moved to Gainesville as head coach after the 1969 season. His nine-year record at Florida was 58-43-2, which combined with his six-year mark at Tennessee of 46-15-4, left him with overall totals of 104-58-6. Dickey closed out his coaching career by spending the 1979 season as assistant head coach at the University of Colorado.

It was Woodruff, then only a year into his athletic director's job at Tennessee, who brought Dickey, age 31 at the time, from an assistant's post at Arkansas to the demanding assignment as steward of the Big Orange football program before the 1964 season.

Woodruff had kept close tabs on Dickey from the time of the latter's undergraduate days at Florida, where Woodruff was the Gators' head coach. He detected in the lanky quarterback of his 1953 team traits that would prove invaluable if Doug were to pursue a coaching career. "Dickey was one of the brainiest quarterbacks I ever saw," Woodruff told newsmen when the announcement was made in December of 1963 that Dickey would replace Jim McDonald at the Tennessee helm.

Except for the five years he spent in business, Dickey has been around college campuses almost his entire life. He was born in Vermillion, S. D., where his father, the late Dallas Dickey, was a speech professor at the University of South Dakota. His father later was on the faculty at Louisiana State University and at the University of Florida.

Young Dickey, after playing high school football at Gainesville, accepted a scholarship to the University of Florida from Woodruff. After graduation he coached for a year at a high school in St. Petersburg, Fla., and coached at Fort Carson, Colo., while in the service. Then came an opportunity to join the staff of Frank Broyles at the University of Arkansas. Over the next six years, Doug acquired a wealth of knowledge under Broyles, coaching defense four years and then serving as head offensive coach his final two seasons.

Doug is married to the former JoAnne Beville. They have four sons--- Donald, Daniel, David and Daryl-- daughter, Mrs. Jaren Anne Wells and 11 grandchildren.

Previous occupants of the athletic director's position were Paul Parker, Bob Neyland and Woodruff.

After graduation he went to Knoxville radio's WIVK and then switched to Knoxville television station WBIR-TV as sports director. He has been named sportscaster of the year three times for the state of Tennessee. He and his wife, Tami, are parents of two girls, Allison and Melissa.

His return to action is eagerly anticipated in every Tennessee outpost, an understandable reaction to the knowledge one of the nation's truly great running backs will be back on the football field this fall ... The present day Neyland Stadium, Shields-Watkins Field, had its beginning in 1919. Col. W.S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921, it was called Shields-Watkins Field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.

The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. In 1962, it was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee football, General Robert R. Neyland, who served as head coach from 1926-52, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadium's capacity, and is the one responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteer fans have come to expect over the years.

- Neyland Stadium is the second-largest stadium in the nation, boasting a capacity of 102,854. A total of 641,282 fans in six games saw the Vols post their second straight undefeated 6-0 home slate.
- Tennessee set a school-record by averaging 106,914 fans over six games in 1998.
- UT has averaged 106,279 fans over the last three seasons, drawing nearly 2 million patrons during that span.
- The largest crowd to ever see a Tennessee football game saw a thriller as the Volunteers defeated Florida in the first overtime game for both schools in front of 107,653 fans on Sept. 19, 1998.
- The 1998 season marked the 77th year of Neyland Stadium, during which time the Vols have fashioned a 371-88-17 record for a winning percentage of .797.
- Tennessee has won 37 of its last 40 home games and has posted a 50-7 record in the 1990s.
- The Volunteers have had 68 winning seasons in 77 years at Shields-Watkins Field, including 34 undefeated years at home.
- Tennessee has ranked in the top three in national attendance for the past 23 years.
- Neyland Stadium also boasts the Tom Elam Press Box which stretches 100 yards and contains seven levels of skyboxes, suites, box seating and complete facilities for print and broadcast media.

NEYLAND-THOMPSON SPORTS CENTER

The Neyland-Thompson Sports Center provides University of Tennessee athletes with the finest strength and conditioning, dressing, health care, meeting and coaching facilities in the country.

- Completed in 1989 at a cost of $11 million, the mammoth 120,000-square-foot, two-level structure is named in memory of former Vol head football coach and athletic director General Robert R. Neyland (1926-62) and Knoxville businessman B. Ray Thompson.
- The main level of the facility features an All-Pro turf football field.
- The field, which sits under a 65-foot ceiling, also includes a baseball infield with inlaid bases and pitcher's mound.
- The field is named in honor of Chattanooga businessman and UT alumnus Robert E. White, who donated $1 million to finance the field and support five full athletic scholarships on an annual basis.
- The Sports Center also houses spacious dressing facilities that contain 157 A-frame wooden lockers, showers, a steam room and sauna.
- The equipment distribution and locker storage centers are located right outside the players' locker room.
- Opened in February 1990, the Tennessee Football Hall of Fame Exhibit brings UT football to life. The museum stands as a tribute to the many people who have helped shape over 100 years of Tennessee football.
- The upper level of the Sports Center overlooks the practice field and has four observation decks. A large observation balcony, next to the recruiting office, looks down into the Hall of Fame.
- Coaches' offices, conference rooms, a team auditorium, individual position meeting rooms and a recruiting lounge are located in the upper level.
- Each assistant coach has his own office, and there are conference rooms for the offensive and defensive staff along with a large meeting room for the entire coaching staff.

PERCY STRENGTH FACILITY

The 12,000-square-foot Percy Strength Facility, located in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center, ranks as one of the top three in the country in terms of size while housing over 48,000 pounds of weights and state-of-the-art equipment by David, Nautilus and 18 other companies.

The strength and conditioning facility has over 140 training stations which have been custom designed and built to the specifications set by Assistant Athletic Director for Physical Development John Stucky and his staff. Some of the equipment was specifically designed just for use at UT.

With a goal to provide each student-athlete with a well-rounded strength and conditioning program, computers tailor workouts to each specific position and sport.

TIM KERIN TRAINING FACILITY

The Tim Kerin Training Facility, directed by head trainer Mike Rollo, provides health care and wellness to each student-athlete. With an overall area of 14,000 square feet, the training room is equipped with the most modern health care and rehabilitation equipment. Considered one of the most functional facilities in the nation, it is capable of handling 25-30 student-athletes at a time. With separate taping, training, rehabilitation and hydrotherapy areas, confusion and excess traffic are eliminated.

The hydrotherapy room contains seven whirlpools, while the training and rehabilitation room has 17 examination stations along with stationary bikes, treadmills and exclusive Biodex and Cybex rehabilitation machines.

Another unique feature of UT's training room is a pharmacy within the facility. It is the only state-licensed facility in the country located in a training room.

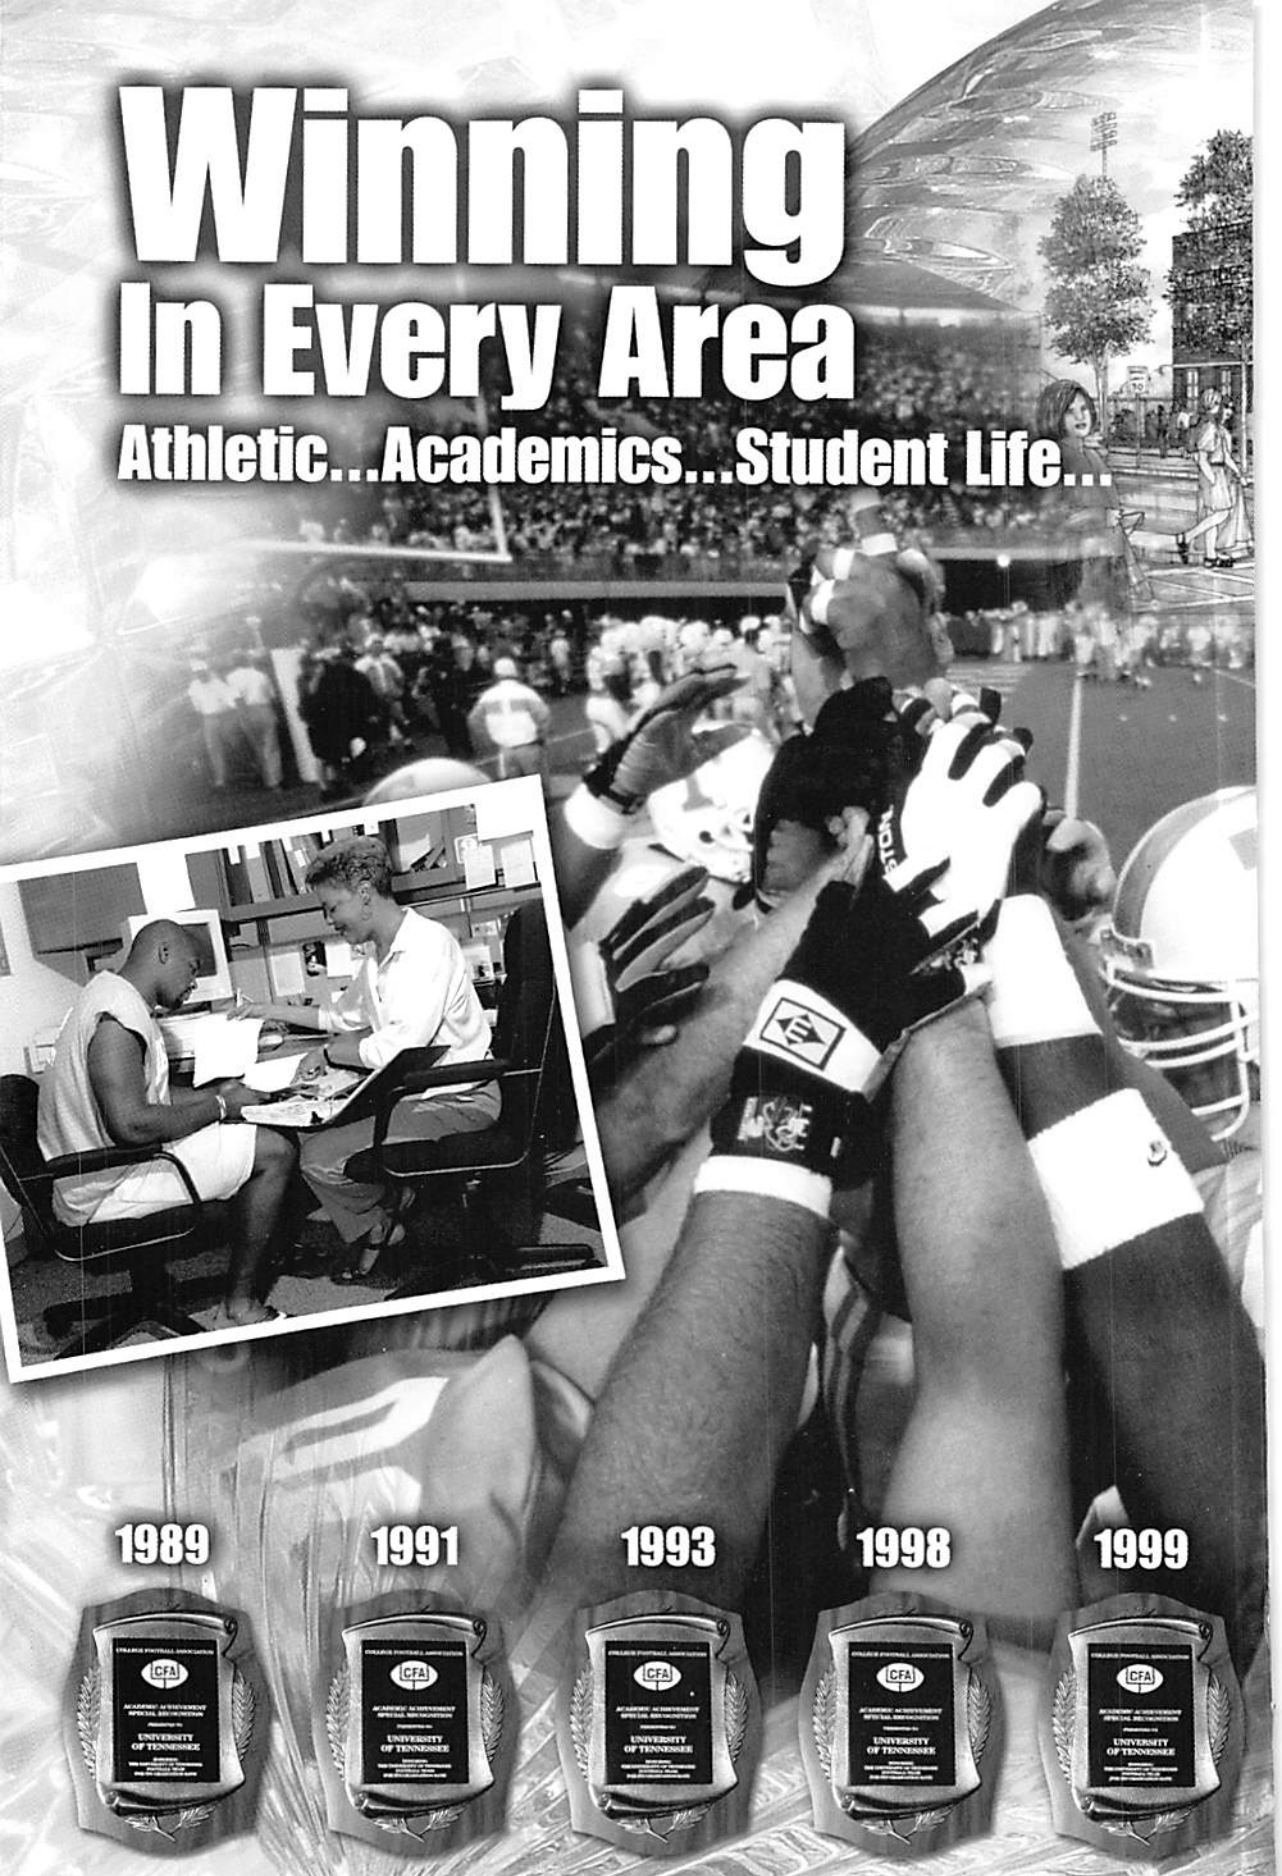
Athletic...Academics...Student Life...



Over the past decade, Tennessee has earned five American Foootball Coaches Association Awards for being one of the top schools with at least a 70 percent football graduation rate. In fact, Tennessee has been honored by the AFCA for its graduation rates in each of the last two years and four times in the 1990s.

ACADEMICS

With comprehensive services in advising, tutoring, counseling and management, UT's Office of Student Life supplies the Volunteer student-athlete with all the tools necessary to be successful in the classroom.

Much of the credit for UT in this area goes to the leadership of Associate Athletics Director for Student Life Dr. Carmen Tegano and his staff. Tegano, who joined the UT staff in 1985, cites commitment to academic excellence by the university community as the key to success.

"There is a commitment from the athletics director and the coaches, but most importantly, there is support from the university faculty and the advising centers of the different colleges," Tegano says, "These centers are very student-oriented and are the pulse of the university."

It is part of a national trend that focuses on a need for programs to develop student-athletes' potential to be well-rounded, well-educated individuals. This is to make sure the student-athlete enjoys a successful adjustment to university life and eventually realizes a positive academic experience through counseling, tutoring, study hall and special needs assistance.

Rows of plaques line the Student Life Office honoring Tennessee's Academic All-America and Academic All-SEC selections. This lends further evidence that the word "student" in student-athlete is not just for show at Tennessee.

Game Notes

• This is the first meeting between Tennessee and Wyoming.

• Wyoming is a member of the new Mountain West Conference, composed of former Western Athletic Conference members Air Force, Brigham Young, Colorado State, New Mexico, Nevada Las Vegas, San Diego State, Utah and Wyoming.

• Although the Vols and Cowboys have never met on the field, the two schools do have a common thread. Bowden Wyatt, an All-America in the 1930s at Tennessee and member of the College Football Hall of Fame, was the head coach at Wyoming from 1947-52. Wyatt returned to coach the Vols from 1955-62 after a two-year stint at Arkansas. In 1997, Wyatt was also elected to the College Football Hall of Fame as a coach.

• Tennessee has a 74-22-6 (.725) all-time mark in season openers, including a 10-2-2 mark the past 14 seasons. The Vols have won four consecutive lidlifters, including a 34-33 victory at Syracuse last year.

• The Vols are 78-19-4 (.808) all-time in 101 home openers. Over the past 15 seasons, UT has a 12-2-1 record in home openers at Neyland Stadium. Tennessee defeated Florida 20-17 (OT) in the first home game of the 1998 campaign.

- Tennessee will play at Notre Dame during the 2001 campaign.

- In their last meeting, Tennessee completed the greatest comeback in school history in the Vols' 35-34 victory at Notre Dame. The Vols trailed 31-7 in the second quarter before outscoring the Irish 28-3. Jeremy Lincoln partially blocked a Notre Dame field goal attempt on the game's final play to seal the victory.

- Notre Dame entered the 1999 season as college football's all-time winningest program with a .757 winning percentage.

- The late Lindsey Nelson, a Tennessee alumnus and Vol Sports Information Director, later described Notre Dame football for many years on the school's nationally syndicated replay show during his legendary broadcasting career.

SEC Campionship

DECEMBER 4 • AT ATLANTA • GEORGIA DOME (71,500)

The eighth annual Southeastern Conference football championship game will match the league's divisional champions Dec. 4 at the 71,500-seat Georgia Dome in Atlanta. The game will be televised nationally by ABC.

"The Georgia Dome is an excellent facility to showcase the game of one of the nation's top football conferences," said SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer. "The two primary issues considered by our institutions were the neutrality of the site and the opportunity to utilize a world-class structure."

Tennessee, the SEC Eastern Division Champion, defeated SEC West Champ Mississippi State 24-14 in last year's game, earning the Vols their second consecutive league title and third in the 1990s. The Vols' victory in the SEC Championship game propelled UT into the Bowl Championship Series, where they defeated Florida State 23-16 in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl for the national title.

The championship game, the first of its kind in any major collegiate conference, determines the SEC Champion.

Bowl Lineup

Bowl Championship Series Enters Second Season

The winner of the SEC Football Championship game will again represent the league in the Bowl Championship Series comprised of the Fiesta, Sugar, Orange and Rose Bowls.

Conferences with automatic berths in the Bowl Championship Series include the SEC, ACC, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12 and Pacific 10. Any Division I-A independent team or champion of the Mountain, WAC, Conference USA, or any other Division I-A conference which is ranked No. 6 or higher in the BCS standings is also eligible for a berth. The BCS differs from the original Bowl Alliance because it guarantees a matchup between college football's top two teams. Last season in the first year of the BCS, No. 1 Tennessee defeated No. 2 Florida State 23-16 to win the National Championship in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

At the conclusion of the 1999 season, the Nokia Sugar Bowl will host the National Championship contest. The game will be played Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. (EST) in New Orleans, La. The Sugar Bowl will select the top two teams ranked in the BCS final regular season standings.

Tennessee defeated Florida State 23-16 in the inaugural BCS title game last season.

Vols Capture National Championship Following 13-0 Record, Fiesta Bowl Win Over Florida State

Overcoming every obstacle in their path, the Tennessee Vols swept through the 1998 season unbeaten to become the first officially recognized national champions in college football history.

The Bowl Championship Series, launched to take the word "mythical" out of the national title picture, reached its desired conclusion when the No. 1 Vols were matched against the No. 2 Florida State Seminoles Jan. 4 in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

The showdown clash at Tempe, Ariz., ended with the championship bathed in the Tennessee Orange and White. Phillip Fulmer, later rewarded with national coach of the year honors, directed the Vols to a 23-16 victory over the Seminoles.

Through one cliffhanger after another during the season, the Vols had turned the expression "rising to the occasion" into an art form.

From the previous year, they had lost their most legendary quarterback, their leading pass receiver and their All-America linebacker. Without them, said the pundits, Tennessee would be a so-so team, relegated to struggling for recognition beyond the borders of the Southeastern Conference.

But to a man, the Vols and their coaches thought differently, quietly disputing the notion that the new season would bring a sharp decline in the football program's stature. As one of the players expressed, "Nobody expected anything from us. They just didn't know how hungry we were."

Head coach Phillip Fulmer, sensing the squad's extraordinary determination, vowed to make the most of his players' potential. "We asked them to listen to their coaches, and they responded the way we hoped they would," he said.

The 12-0 regular-season record marked the first time Tennessee had finished unbeaten since 1956. Before the 1998 season, only the 1938 team managed the feat of going through the regular season and bowl game undefeated. No previous Vol team recorded as many victories as the 1998 squad.

The Vols advanced to first place in the AP poll Nov. 8 and remained atop the writers' and broadcasters' balloting for the last three weeks of the regular season with victories over Arkansas, Kentucky and Vanderbilt. They maintained that position and added first place in the coaches poll when they defeated Mississippi State in the Southeastern Conference championship game Dec. 5.

Another monumental achievement accrued to the Vols when their win over Florida State enabled UT to tie Florida for the highest four-year victory total in SEC history.

All these delightful treats—a national championship, an SEC crown, an undefeated record, coach of the year honors for their mentor—were hardly the sort of rewards anticipated when the Vols opened the season at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse, N.Y., the first Saturday in September.

Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer accepts the Sears Trophy signifying the Vols as the 1998 National Champions following Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

An Exciting Opening

An offensively balanced and experienced Syracuse team and a youthful Tennessee squad looking for answers to numerous questions waged a savage battle that wasn't settled until Jeff Hall lodged a chip-shot 27-yard field goal as time expired. The Vols, hit hard by graduation, knew they would be in for a tough opener against a veteran Syracuse team that featured multi-talented quarterback Donovan McNabb. But it was Tennessee's quarterback, Tee Martin, who in his first start directed the trailing Vols downfield in the final minutes to set Hall up for the field goal that pulled out a 34-33 victory. Jamal Lewis netted 140 yards on 20 carries over the Carrier Dome's artificial turf. Tennessee's linebackers were devastating. Al Wilson accounted for 13 tackles with two big plays and Raynoch Thompson added 11 hits.

The renewal of the Florida series after an open date proved no less gripping a drama than the Syracuse game. Again it was Jeff Hall's unerring toe that made the difference, this one requiring overtime. The home opener for the Vols attracted a record crowd, 107,653, none of whom was spotted leaving the premises until Florida's placekicker missed his attempt to match Hall's three pointer in the extra stanza. Hall's 41-yarder provided the margin in Tennessee's 20-17 suspenseful victory, after which Jeff went home, devoured a bowl of cereal and went to bed while the rest of the state celebrated into the night. The game wouldn't have reached overtime, it's reasonable to believe, without a masterful performance by Vol linebacker Al Wilson, who three times stripped the ball away from Florida runners, a feat almost beyond comprehension. Al didn't just bang into them; he pulled the ball out of their arms. UT's defense stymied the Gators on the ground, inflicting a minus 13 yards net for Florida's efforts to tote the ball overland.

In contrast to the first two games, nail-biters that went wire-to-wire in suspense, Tennessee established itself early against Houston and sailed to a 42-7 victory over the visiting Cougars. In addition to enabling fans to breathe easy for a change, the contest provided the added joy of allowing Tee Martin to bolster his credentials as a passer. The junior quarterback, who had been mostly off-target in the first two victories, riddled Houston for 15 completions on 20 throws. Tee's work was in keeping with a sharp performance by the offense, which rang up a total of 589 yards for a nifty 9.3-yard average per play. Houston players found Orange obstacles every which way they went on the ground, denting the Vols for only 39 yards on 31 carries.

Adversity Strikes

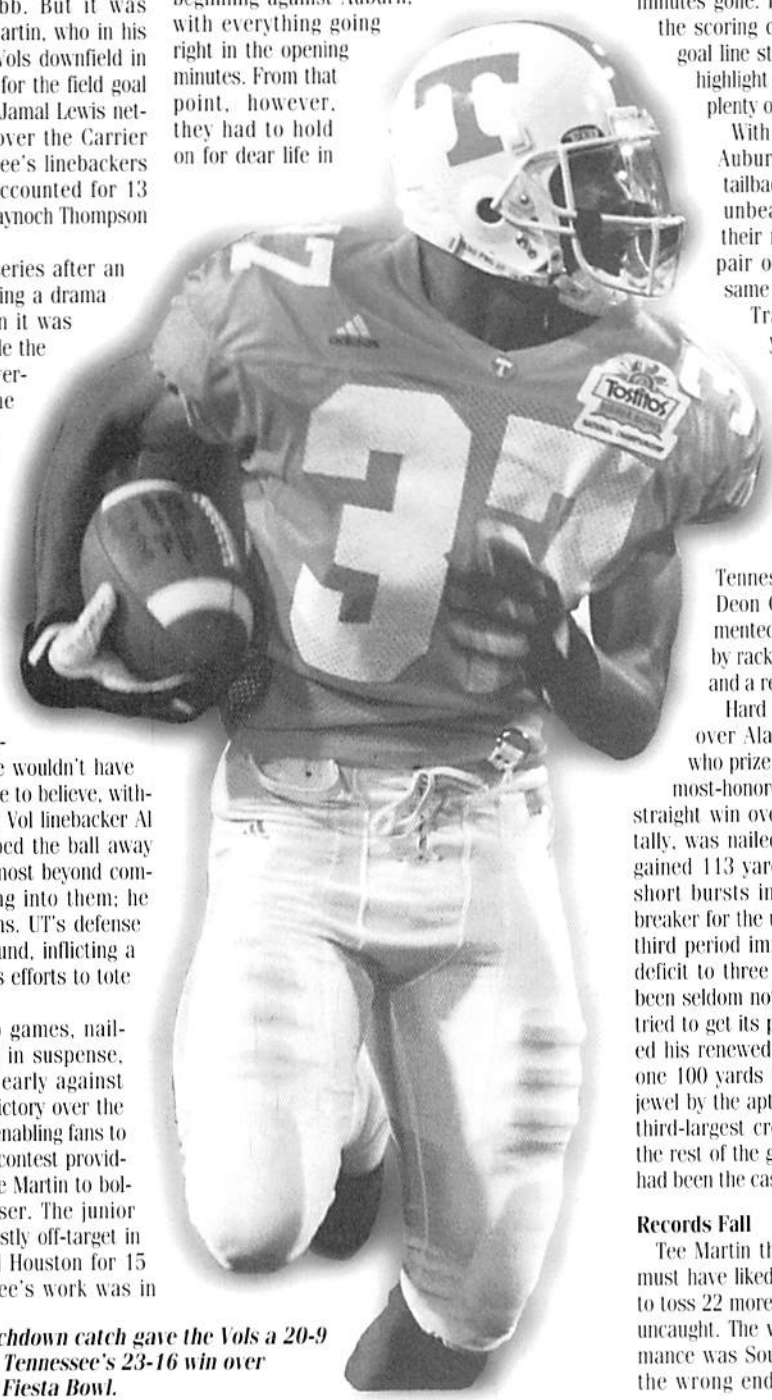
The Vols shot out to a storybook beginning against Auburn, with everything going right in the opening minutes. From that point, however, they had to hold on for dear life in posting a 17-9 victory at Jordan-Hare Stadium. Auburn advanced smartly downfield after the opening kickoff, bent on scoring and taking an early lead. But what to the Tigers' wondering eyes should appear but defensive end Shaun Ellis coming up with an interception and lumbering 90 yards for a Tennessee touchdown. On UT's next offensive play, Jamal Lewis scooted 67 yards for a touchdown that made it 14-0 with less than five minutes gone. From that juncture, however, all the scoring came on field goals. A four-play goal line stand from the six-inch line was a highlight for the Vols in a game that cast plenty of glory on both defenses.

With Jamal Lewis' knee injury in the Auburn game sidelining the brilliant tailback for the season, the Vols faced unbeaten Georgia on the road with their running game in the hands of a pair of sophomores who shared the same first name. Travis Stephens and Travis Henry accounted for 160 yards between them, keeping the rushing attack at a high level in a 22-3 win over the Bulldogs. UT's eighth consecutive since 1989. Jeff Hall's three field goals and short touchdown passes by Tee Martin to Peerless Price and Cedrick Wilson accounted for Tennessee's scoring. Georgia product Deon Grant, the Vols' free safety, tormented fans of his home-state university by racking up six tackles, an interception and a recovered fumble.

Hard to come by as always, the victory over Alabama was relished by Vol fans who prize each morsel of triumph in Dixie's most-honored collegiate rivalry. UT's fourth-straight win over the Crimson Tide, by a 35-18 tally, was nailed down when Travis Henry, who gained 113 yards for the day, scored twice on short bursts in the fourth quarter. The back-breaker for the upset-minded visitors came in the third period immediately after they had cut the deficit to three points. Peerless Price, who had been seldom noticed early in the season while UT tried to get its passing game untracked, celebrated his renewed role as kick returner by hauling one 100 yards to the South endzone. That little jewel by the aptly named Ohio native allowed the third-largest crowd in stadium history to watch the rest of the game in a more relaxed state than had been the case when the count was 14-11.

Records Fall

Tee Martin threw his first pass, completed it, must have liked the way it felt and so proceeded to toss 22 more before one plopped to the ground uncaught. The victim of Martin's virtuoso performance was South Carolina, which wound up on the wrong end of the 49-14 score at its own



Peerless Price's 79-yard touchdown catch gave the Vols a 20-9 fourth quarter advantage in Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

1998 Season Review

The 1998 Tennessee Volunteers won their second consecutive Southeastern Conference Championship with a 24-14 victory over Mississippi State in the SEC title game.

Williams-Brice Stadium. One-by-one the records tumbled-UT, SEC, NCAA. And by the time the game ended Martin's list of fallen standards included NCAA marks for most consecutive completions in one game (23) and most consecutive over a two-game span (24). With Martin throwing bullseyes, somebody had to be on the receiving end, and that someone most often was Peerless Price, who had 10 catches for 165 yards. South Carolina's two fourth-period touchdowns ended a string of 16 scoreless quarters chalked up by the Vol defense.

Fairly routine it was, the 37-13 decision over UAB, but it certainly produced earthquake-size reverberations. In light of then- No.1 Ohio State's upset loss to unranked Michigan State later that night, the win over the Blazers pushed Tennessee to the top spot in the polls and to first place in the BCS standings. Tee Martin maintained a hot hand, his 18-for-25 completions providing 274 yards and a touchdown. Travis Henry sparked the ground attack, battering his way through UAB defenders for 104 yards. Defensively, the starting linebackers combined for 29 tackles, 11 by Al Wilson, 10 by Raynoch Thompson and eight by Eric Westmoreland. A sold-out Homecoming gathering watched the Vols close out their non-conference activity 3-0 before tackling four straight SEC opponents.

Ask for a Miracle

The finish of the Arkansas thriller was so stunning that Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum could be the eventual repository of the game ball. But the Vols by some feat of magic managed a 28-24 victory over Arkansas in a battle of top 10 inhabitants. The Razorbacks were prepared to walk off the rain-soaked Neyland Stadium grass with an upset win after leading since early in the first quarter. A fumble by their quarterback near midfield with 1:43 left, however, gave UT one more shot. Five Travis Henry carries later, the ball broke the plane of the Razorbacks' goal line, and Tennessee had survived a serious threat to its recently acquired No. 1 status. Henry became an instant hero statewide, not only for his game-winning touchdown, but for the 197 yards he racked up in 32 power-laden carries. Tennessee's comeback was of Gargantuan proportions after the Vols faced a 21-3 deficit earlier.

Seeking to avoid a similar scare in their next outing, the Vols wasted little time in taking command of the traditional clash with Kentucky, thereby clinching the SEC Eastern Division title. With both offense and defense hitting on all cylinders, the homestanding Big Orange raced to a 14-7 first-quarter lead and expanded it to 38-7 at intermission en route to a 59-21 victory. UK's All-America quarterback, Tim Couch, who had treated the Vol defense rudely in 1997, was less successful this time, sustaining six sacks, two of them inflicted by rookie end Will Overstreet. Tennessee's own signal-caller, Tee Martin, put the ball up 20 times and completed 13, including memorable gems by Peerless Price and Cedrick Wilson. Jeff Hall's four-year stint as a placekicker found a prominent spot in the record book when his 15-point contribution made him the SEC's all-time scoring leader.

Applying one of the cardinal rules of football--making the most of turnovers--Tennessee rolled over Vanderbilt, 41-0, to bring the undefeated season to a close at Nashville. Vol defenders were at their predatory best by hauling in four interceptions and scooping up two fumbles in the conquest of their longtime in-state rival. Deon Grant, Fred White, Dwayne Goodrich and Derrick Edmonds each accounted for an interception. Chris Ramseur and Darwin Walker picked up Vandy fumbles, with Ramseur experiencing the added pleasure of returning his recovery 12 yards for a touchdown. Peerless Price ignited Tennessee's rout by catching a second-quarter toss from Tee Martin, then breaking away from three Commodore defenders to convert the short pass into a 67-yard touchdown.

SEC Champions Again

Arriving at the SEC Championship game, the Vols were in no frame of mind to squander their undefeated season at the hands of Western Division title-holder Mississippi State. Even when the Bulldogs grabbed a 14-10 lead midway through the fourth period on a dazzling punt return, the Vols remained poised. Time was running out on the Vols, but here their resourcefulness under pressure once more surfaced. Tee Martin, who hadn't been his usual self as far as pass efficiency was concerned through the first three quarters, went to work masterfully as crunch time approached. First he fired a bomb to Peerless Price for the 41-yard go-ahead score. Then on the first play following a State fumble, Martin found Cedrick Wilson running through the end zone all alone for the clinching touchdown. The 24-14 victory, combined with losses by previously undefeated UCLA and Kansas State, left the Vols undisputed leaders in both polls heading into the bowl season. They retained their No. 1 ranking in the inaugural BCS rankings as well, pitting them against No. 2-rated Florida State.

Vols Win National Title

And then, under terms of the Bowl Championship Series, the two top-ranked teams met under a bright Arizona moon for all the marbles. A two-touchdown scoring explosion within 25 seconds at the start of the second quarter gave Tennessee a strategic advantage that it exploited for a 23-16 victory over Florida State. An 88-yard drive, culminated by a 4-yard pass from Tee Martin to Shawn Bryson, staked the Vols to a 7-0 lead. Two plays later, Dwayne Goodrich raced 54 yards with an interception, expanding the lead to 14-0. The two-touchdown deficit forced Florida State to play a game of catch-up. But they were overmatched. UT's defense was nothing short of magnificent, limiting the Seminoles to just 108 yards on the ground and 145 in the air. The nail in Florida State's coffin came with nine minutes left, a 79-yard touchdown pass from Martin to Peerless Price. The victory, before a bowl-record crowd of 84,470, secured the Vols' rank as undisputed national champions for the 1998 season.

In one of the most dramatic finishes of this relatively recent series between the Vols and Gators, Jeff Hall kicked a 41-yard field goal on the first possession of overtime and the Vols won when Florida misfired on a 32-yarder.

Florida had tied the game 17-17 in the third quarter and the two teams battled through a scoreless fourth quarter before heading to the extra period.

Tennessee trailed 3-0 early, but Shawn Bryson scored on a 57-yard run in the first quarter. Hall kicked a 39-yard field goal in the second quarter and Peerless Price caught a 29-yard TD pass from Tee Martin as the Vols never trailed again. A UT-record crowd saw the contest, which resulted in the first Vol win over the Gators since 1992.

Tennessee scored 17 points in the first quarter on big plays from defensive end Shaun Ellis and running back Jamal Lewis and turned things over to the defense from that point on to take a 17-9 win on the Plains at Jordan-Hare Stadium.

That was the good news. The bad news was that Lewis was lost for the season after a fourth quarter knee injury.

Ellis, named SEC Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts, grabbed an errant pitch and rambled 90 yards for the game's first score on the game's first series, and Lewis ran 67 yards for another score on his first carry of the day.

Vol defenders stopped Auburn four times inside the 1 yard line in the second quarter at a critical juncture in the game, led by a key fourth down stop by Raynoch Thompson. Auburn could muster but three field goals against a Vol defense that repulsed all tries for TDs, including one on the last play of the game. The game was a rematch of the 1997 SEC Championship game in Atlanta

SEC Championship Game

TENNESSEE 24, MISSISSIPPI STATE 14
Saturday, December 5 • Atlanta, Ga. • Georgia Dome
Attendance: 74,795
MVP: Peerless Price, WR, Tennessee

SEC Notes

• Tennessee claimed the Southeastern Conference's 14th National Championship in football and the third in the last seven seasons by defeating Florida State, 23-16, in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Jan. 4. The Tostitos Fiesta Bowl matched the top two teams in the nation, with the winner guaranteed the national title.

• The Vols were the third-different SEC team to win the national championship since 1992. That season, the first for the SEC Football Championship game, saw Alabama win the national title. Florida also won the national championship in 1996. No other conference has had more than one team win the national title during that span. The Big Eight (now Big 12) has had three different teams win the national title since 1983 (Oklahoma - 1985, Colorado - 1990, Nebraska - 1994-95-97).

• The SEC finished the 1998-99 bowl season with a 4-4 record. The SEC had the most teams in postseason play (8, which is also a collegiate record) and the second-most number of wins (4) behind the Big Ten Conference (5). In the last three seasons, the SEC has posted a 14-5 postseason bowl record.

• Four SEC teams were ranked in the final AP and ESPN/USA TODAY polls. After Tennessee (ranked No. 1 in both), Florida was fifth in AP and sixth in ESPN/USA TODAY, Georgia was No. 14 in both and Arkansas was No. 16 in AP and No. 17 in ESPN/USA TODAY.

The Southeastern Conference

Roy F. Kramer
Commissioner

A pioneer in the integration of higher education and athletic competition, the Southeastern Conference stands ready to advance intercollegiate athletics in the 21st century.

Since its formation in 1933, the SEC achieved both stature and stability by designating governing/voting power to the presidents of the member institutions. They have determined the policies of the conference and through the years this involvement has been the principal source of strength in the evolution of the SEC.

Throughout its 67-year history, the SEC has provided leadership on the vital issues facing intercollegiate competition. In 1993, the member institutions adopted The Principles of Gender Equity. Committed to increasing the quantity and quality of women's athletic opportunities, each school will provide at least two more women's intercollegiate programs than the number of men's.

Faced with the task of conference realignment after competing with 10 members since 1966, the SEC welcomed the University of Arkansas on Aug. 1, 1990, and the University of South Carolina on Sept. 25, 1990. Joining charter members Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, on July 1, 1991, Arkansas and South Carolina became the first schools added in conference history.

Fully incorporated into conference competition by 1992, Arkansas and South Carolina participated in SEC championships for all sports except football during the 1991-92 academic year. The SEC was again at the forefront, introducing football, basketball and baseball divisional play and the nation's first ever Division I football championship game.

SEC schools began athletic competition with one another almost 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Seven institutions (Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Sewanee and Vanderbilt) attended the SIAA organizational meeting of faculty representatives, called by Dr. William L. Dudley of Vanderbilt, in Atlanta Dec. 22, 1894.

The seven-member SIAA expanded to 19 institutions in 1895 (Alabama, Auburn, Central, Clemson, Cumberland, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mercer, Mississippi State, Nashville, North Carolina, Sewanee, Southwestern Presbyterian, Tennessee, Texas, Tulane and Vanderbilt) and by 1920 there were 30 members.

The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized as the Southeastern Conference at the annual SC meeting of Dec. 8-9, 1932, in Knoxville. The 10 coast members remained in the Southern Conference. Dr. Frank L. McVey of Kentucky was elected president of the new conference whose charter members were: Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt. (Sewanee withdrew Dec. 13, 1940, Georgia Tech on June 1, 1964 and Tulane on June 1, 1966). McVey held an informal meeting of the school presidents in Birmingham Feb. 16, 1933, then the first full meeting in Atlanta Feb. 27.

The office of the commissioner was formed in 1940 in Jackson due to the great amount of detail work developing, especially in recruiting and eligibility. Former Mississippi Governor Martin S. Conner took office as commissioner Aug. 21, 1940, as an extension of the authority of the presidents. Conner later became ill and the secretary of the conference, Dean N.W. Dougherty of Tennessee, served as acting commissioner during the fall of 1946.

The office moved to Birmingham with the appointing of Bernie H. Moore as the second full-time commissioner on Feb. 21, 1948. Moore, a former LSU coach, guided the SEC to national respect in his 18-year tenure.

A.M. (Tonto) Coleman succeeded Moore upon his retirement April 1, 1966. The Alabama native, who was reared in Texas and experienced in athletic coaching and administration, served six and a half years.

Dr. H. Boyd McWhorter, then Dean of Arts and Sciences at Georgia and secretary of the league since 1967, accepted the position upon the retirement of Coleman Aug. 1, 1972. Under his leadership the SEC experienced unparalleled growth. In McWhorter's first year the SEC distributed $1.57 million and 14 years later (1986) the league distributed $15 million in revenue to the member institutions.

Dr. Harvey W. Schiller, an Air Force colonel and faculty chair at the U.S. Air Force Academy, followed McWhorter upon retirement, taking office Sept. 15, 1986. Under his guidance the SEC established itself as a leader in the areas of athletic scholarship and marketing.

Roy F. Kramer succeeded Schiller on Jan. 10, 1990. Kramer, who has served on numerous NCAA committees, joined the league office after spending 12 years as athletic director at Vanderbilt.

The SEC currently regulates nine men's sports and 11 women's sports: Men - baseball, basketball, football, golf, swimming, tennis and track (cross country, indoor and outdoor). Women - basketball, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track (cross country, indoor and outdoor) and volleyball.

Peyton Manning Scholarship

The University of Tennessee honors former Vol quarterback Peyton Manning each year by presenting a scholarship to a first-year student who will participate in UT's Honors program.

The scholarship is funded from gifts to the University garnered from Manning's academic awards, the UT Athletic Department's corporate matching grants program and other private gifts.

Manning's four-year career at UT (1994-97) produced a number of awards that generated $165,000 in scholarship funds. Among the awards were the Burger King-Vincent dePaul Draddy National Scholar Athlete of the Year, the Davey O'Brien Foundation Award and the American Honda Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

The Manning Scholarship covers the costs of tuition, room and board for a male or female student. The award is granted to a first-year student on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and community service.

1998-99—Jay Stephen Burns (Bulls Gap)
1999-2000—Rebekah Ann Capps (Nashville)

Neyland Trophy

General Robert Reese Neyland

February 17, 1892 - March 28, 1962

The history and tradition of Tennessee football began under the tutelage of Gen. Robert Reese Neyland, a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. Neyland came to Tennessee as an ROTC instructor and backfield coach in 1925 and was named head football coach in 1926. From that date, Tennessee was in the college football business to stay.

Neyland's 1939 Vol team was the last to shut out each of its regular season opponents. Over the course of his career, 106 of his 216 opponents failed to score against his Tennessee teams. Tennessee still holds an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless 71 consecutive quarters.

Neyland's teams won Southern Conference Championships in 1927 and 1932, piling up undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along the way, and SEC Championships in 1938, 1939, 1940, 1946 and 1951. In addition Neyland coached teams won four national championships. The Vols were consensus national champions in 1951, won the Dunkel, Litkenhous, Boand, Houlgate and Poling National Championships in 1938, the Dunkel and Williamson crowns in 1940 and the DeVold and Dunkel crowns in 1950.

It was Gene McEver who kicked off the Neyland era with his 98-yard return of the opening kickoff in the 1928 Alabama game, a game the underdog Vols won 15-13. Each of his succeeding eras would be highlighted by similar big plays: Johnny Butler's 56-yard run against Alabama in 1939 and Lauricella's 75-yard run against Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl.

Neyland's 21-year record at Tennessee was 173 wins, 31 losses and 12 ties.

Neyland, who came to Tennessee as an Army captain and left as a brigadier general, brought one of the most efficient single-wing offenses in the country to go with an unyielding defense. He was brought to the head coaching position by Dean Nathan Dougherty with a simple injunction: "Do something about the series with Vanderbilt."

After Neyland's death in 1962, the University established the Robert R. Neyland Scholarship, academic scholarships awarded to non-athletes, many of whom are National Merit Scholars. The endowment for these scholarships now exceeds $1.5 million and 124 students have been the beneficiary of the awards.

The thoroughfare behind the stadium's South end, once called the river road, is now named Neyland Drive. More recently, the Vol football complex on campus was named for Neyland and Knoxville businessman B. Ray Thompson.

GENERAL NEYLAND'S MAXIMS OF FOOTBALL

1. The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win.
2. Play for and make the breaks and when one comes your way - SCORE.
3. If at first the game - or the breaks - go against you, don't let up...put on more steam.
4. Protect our kickers, our QB, our lead and our ball game.
5. Ball, oskie, cover, block, cut and slice, pursue and gang tackle... for this is the WINNING EDGE.
6. Press the kicking game. Here is where the breaks are made.
7. Carry the fight to our opponent and keep it there for 60 minutes.

IS IT NEE-land or NAY-land?

There has been continuing controversy over the pronunciation of the name N-E-Y-L-A-N-D. Here's the true story.

Charles Brakebill, former UT Vice-President for Development, was a part of the Neyland Scholarship program when it was begun after Gen. Neyland's death.

That's when Brakebill said he learned a lesson about the Neyland name and how to pronounce it. He had apparently called the General's wife, Peg, "Mrs. NAY-land." "She stood up and raised her knee and said 'Mr. Brakebill, first thing let's do is get my name straight.' She hit her knee about three times and said, 'It's NEE-land, just like my knee.' That stuck in my mind."

General Robert R. Neyland Trophy Honorees

In 1967, the Knoxville Quarterback Club, seeking a way to honor Gen. Neyland's memory, established the Robert R. Neyland Memorial Trophy. This award is given annually by the Club to an outstanding man who has contributed greatly to intercollegiate athletics. The first presentation in 1967 included the man who hired Gen. Neyland in 1926 and his first All-America lineman, who later became head coach at Yale. The permanent trophy is displayed in the Tennessee Hall of Fame Exhibit in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center.

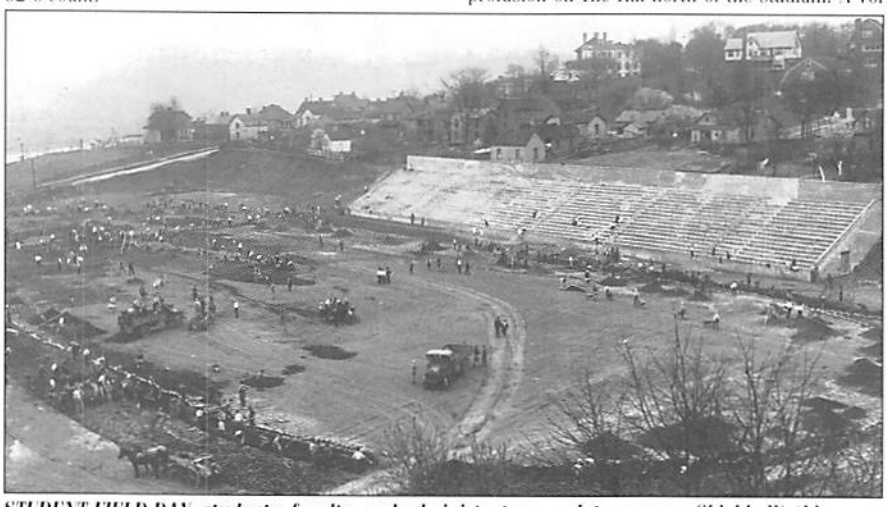
Tennessee Football History

Robert Reese Neyland had not yet been born when the Vols played their first football game in November 1891 and more than 100 years of football tradition were begun. But remember the name.

This is the story of the "greats"... the players, coaches, plays and fans, all of whom have helped build the program. From Bob Neyland to Phillip Fulmer, from Gene McEver to Bob Johnson, from Nathan Washington Dougherty to Reggie White. And all points in between.

The Vols' debut on the gridiron in that 1891 season was none too promising, as Sewanee defeated the Vols, 24-0, in a game played in the muck and mire in Chattanooga. It was also the only game on that year's schedule. The first win would come in 1892, a 25-0 decision at Maryville. The first home win would have to wait until 1893, as the Vols topped Maryville again, this time by a 32-0 count.



STUDENT FIELD DAY: students, faculty, and administrators work to prepare Shields-Watkins Field for the 1921 season.

Neyland was born a few months later, on February 17, 1892, in Greenville, Texas, and his influence on the Vol program would be felt from 1926 on, even through today.

The Formative Years; A New Stadium Is Built in 1921

In those early years, from 1891 to 1912, football coaches came and went, frequently on a year-to-year basis. The Vols did not have a head coach until 1899 and had seven head coaches between that time and 1911.

In the 1907 season, organized cheerleading was brought to campus by R. C. (Red) Matthews.

The Vols won the 1914 Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship under head coach Zora Clevenger, piling up 374 points to 37 for their opponents. They also were the first Vol squad to defeat Vanderbilt, doing so 16-14 Nov. 7. In 1916, the first Homecoming game was held, as the Vols defeated Vanderbilt, 10-6.

It was not until 1920, 29 years into the program's history, that the Vols won their 100th game, a 49-0 victory over Transylvania. The leading player of that time was Dougherty, an All-Southern selection in 1907 and 1908, and known to his teammates as "Big-Un.".

Tennessee had played its home games on Wait Field at the corner of 15th Street and Cumberland Avenue on campus, but moved into a new home in 1921.

Shields-Watkins Field was less than a mile away on 15th Street (now Phillip Fulmer Way) and was named for its benefactors, Knoxville banker and UT trustee William S. Shields and his wife, Alice Watkins Shields. It opened that season with 3,200 seats, although it had been used for baseball the previous spring.

A year later, the Vols wore Orange jerseys for the first time (black shirts with orange and white piping being the previous color of choice), taking the color from the American Daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill north of the stadium. A Vol guard of 1922-23 vintage, Estes Kefauver of Madisonville, became a United States Senator and was a candidate for Vice-President in 1956.

In 1925, the Beer Barrel was introduced as the prize for the winner of the Tennessee-Kentucky game.

Enter Bob Neyland: A Tradition Is Born

In 1926, Neyland, then an ROTC instructor, Army captain and backfield coach the previous season, was named head coach and served through the end of the 1934 season when the Army beckoned him to Panama. Dougherty, a dean of UT's College of Engineering and longtime faculty chairman of athletics, hired Neyland with the lone injunction: "Even the score with Vanderbilt; do something about our terrible standing in the series."

The Vols won the Southern Conference championship in 1927 with an 8-0-1 record and looked forward to the 1928 season. In that season, the Vols defeated heavily-favored Alabama, 15-13, in Tuscaloosa, as tailback Gene McEver, the "Bristol Blizzard" and one of the "Flaming Sophomores of 1928," took the opening kickoff 98 yards for a score.

Buddy Hackman did likewise a week later against Washington & Lee and the Vol express was off and running. Hackman and McEver became known as the "Touchdown Twins." The 1928 season also saw the UT Alma Mater selected in a contest sponsored by the UT men's Glee Club. In 1929, McEver became Tennessee's first All-America selection.

The beginning of the 1930s saw Tennessee play in its first bowl game, a 13-0 victory over New York University at Yankee Stadium in New York. Vol lineman Herman Hickman had an outstanding game that afternoon and Grantland Rice added Hickman to his All-America team on the basis of that performance. Tennessee won the Southern Conference championship again in 1932 with a 9-0-1 record and joined the fledgling Southeastern Conference a year later. In 1934, Tennessee won its 200th game, defeating Mississippi 27-0 in Knoxville Oct. 13.

Over that time, Neyland and Vols had assembled a 76-7-5 record, with undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along with a 14-game winning streak.

Neyland Returns from Panama for the Second of His Three Great Eras

Bill Britton had taken Neyland's place in the 1935 season. Neyland returned home for the 1936 season and immediately began building another dynasty.

By 1938, he was ready. With another group of sensational sophomores leading the way, he began a three-year run in which the Vols won 30 consecutive regular season games and visited the Orange, Rose and Sugar Bowls.

The 1938 team ended with an 11-0 record, defeating Oklahoma in the 1939 Orange Bowl, while the 1939 team shut out 10 consecutive opponents. No collegiate team has since shut out an entire slate of opponents. The Vols brought home a check for $100,000 from the 1940 Rose Bowl. The 1938 Vols were named national champions by Dunkel, Litkenhous, Boand, Houlgate and Poling.

In the 1939 Alabama game, which found Ted Husing of CBS and Bill Stern of NBC at Shields-Watkins Field covering the game, a sophomore tailback from Knoxville named Johnny Butler etched his name into Vol history with a 56-yard run against the Tide on which he went sideline to sideline for the score.

Neyland's record during this era was 43-7-3. The Vols still hold an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless for 71 consecutive quarters (from the second quarter of the 1938 Louisiana State game through the second quarter of the 1940 Alabama game) and pitched 17 consecutive shutouts. The 1940 Vols were voted national champions by Dunkel and Williamson.

After the 1940 season, however, Neyland was called back to the military as winds of war hovered over the world. He was gone until the 1946 season, leaving the Vol football program in the hands of John Barnhill, who later became head coach and athletic director at Arkansas. Barnhill compiled a 32-5-2 record and led the Vols to the Sugar and Rose Bowls. The Vols also played their first night game in 1944, a 13-0 decision at LSU.

Four Vol players did not return home from World War II. They were Bill Nowling, Rudy Klarer, Willis Tucker and Clyde "Ig" Fuson. They are memorialized in the Tennessee Hall of Fame Exhibit on campus.

Neyland's Final Years: A Consensus National Championship Comes to Knoxville

Neyland arrived home from World War II for the 1946 season and noted, "It will take us five years to put Tennessee back on top." The Vols immediately won the SEC Championship and a bid to the Orange Bowl. His dominant player that season was Dick Huffman, still remembered as one of the toughest Vols ever. He would lead the charge against Alabama quarterback Harry Gilmer in a 12-0 Vol win.

Critics argued that Neyland had lost his touch, particularly in view of 5-5 and 4-4-2 seasons in 1947 and 1948 and the assertion that his beloved single-wing offense had gone out of style.

In 1948, Tennessee won its 300th game, defeating Alabama, 21-6, on Homecoming afternoon.

By the end of 1948, Neyland was ready for his final run as Vol head man. It was just before the 1949 season that Vol publicist Lindsey Nelson formed the initial Vol Radio Network.

After a 7-2-1 mark in 1949, led by another talented group of sophomores, the Vols kicked off the decade of the 1950s with an 11-1 season, marred only by a 7-0 loss at Mississippi State in the season's second week. The Vols, named national champions by Dunkel and DeVold, rolled through the season and upset Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl, sparked by a 75-yard run by tailback Hank Lauricella that Stern called one of the best he had ever seen.

Neyland's 1951 team came back and won the national championship with a 10-0 regular-season record. The contest with Alabama that season, a 27-13 Vol victory, was the Vols' first on a new invention called television. Lauricella, that season's Heisman Trophy runner-up, and defensive tackle Doug Atkins were later named to the College Football Hall of Fame. Atkins, named also to the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his work at Cleveland, Chicago and New Orleans, is the only Vol enshrined in both. Atkins was also named SEC "Player of the Quarter Century" in 1976.

Tennessee finished with an 8-2-1 record in 1952, but the big story was Neyland stepping down as Vol head coach just before the Cotton Bowl game against Texas, a game the Vols lost, 16-0. His record for his third stint at Tennessee was 54-17-4 and his overall record was 173-31-12.

In 1953 Smokey, a blue tick coon hound, became the Vols' official mascot by vote of the student crowd in a contest organized by the Pep Club. There have been Smokeys ever since then, eight in all, provided by the Brooks and Hudson families of Knoxville.

Harvey Robinson became the Vols' new head coach in 1953, serving through the 1954 season. Neyland once called dismissing Robinson after that season "the hardest thing I've ever had to do."

1955: Bowden Wyatt Returns Home

Wyatt, who had been head coach at Wyoming and Arkansas, returned to campus as Vol head coach in 1955, 17 years after leading the Vols to an 11-0 record in 1938. He hit the jackpot in 1956, his second year, as the Vols won the SEC and earned a berth in the Sugar Bowl. The Vols' 6-0 win over Georgia Tech that November, matching Neyland protegees Wyatt and Dodd at Atlanta's Grant Field, was later voted the second-greatest college football game ever.

Tailback Johnny Majors was twice SEC Player of the Year and an All-America selection and runner-up for the Heisman Trophy in 1956.

The Vols followed up the 1956 season with an 7-3 season in 1957 and played Bear Bryant's last Texas A&M team in the Gator Bowl, winning 3-0 on the accurate toe of placekicker Sammy Burklow.

The Vols closed out the decade of the 1950s with two major upset victories in 1959, defeating Auburn 3-0 in September and LSU 14-13 in November, both games in Knoxville.

The 1960 season saw the Vols begin the decade with a 10-3 win over Auburn in Birmingham and a 20-7 triumph over Alabama in Knoxville. No one knew that the Vols would not defeat the Tigers again until 1966 and the Tide until 1967. The Vols went 6-2-2 that season, 6-4 in 1961.

On March 28, 1962, Gen. Neyland died in New Orleans. In his memory, the stadium was named "Neyland Stadium" and an academic scholarship fund started, both events happening at the Alabama game. There was a new upper deck seating 5,837 on the west side, plus a new press box, making total stadium capacity 52,227.

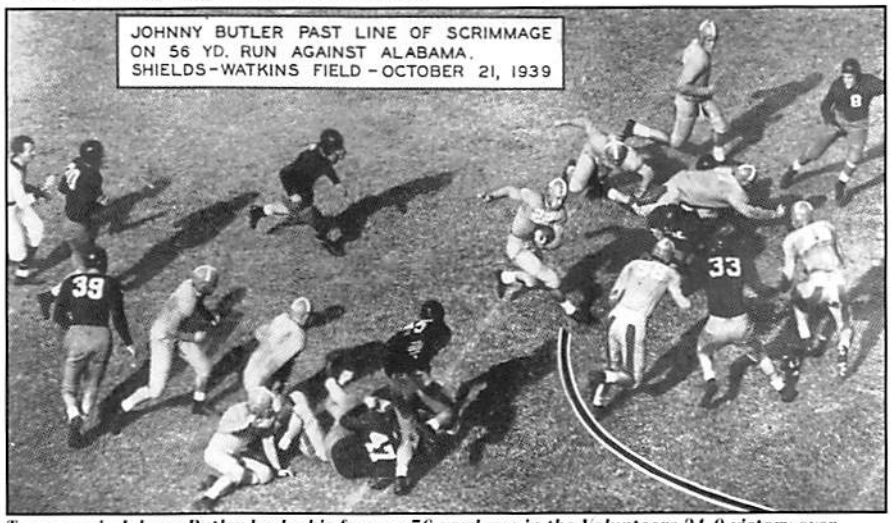
Wyatt's tenure as Vol coach ended after a 4-6 record in 1962, with assistant coach Jim McDonald taking the reins for the 1963 season. During that season, the first Neyland Stadium crowd of more than 50,000 saw the Vols play Georgia Tech. Later that season, the Vols took their 400th victory, defeating Tulane, 26-0, in New Orleans.

Doug Dickey Brings the "T" Formation to Knoxville

After the 1963 season, Doug Dickey, then a top assistant to Frank Broyles at Arkansas, became the Vols' head coach, bringing the "T" formation with him to Knoxville.

Dickey's first Tennessee team finished 4-5-1, but hopes were high as the Vols narrowly lost to Auburn and Alabama, tied Louisiana State at Baton Rouge and upset favored Georgia Tech at Grant Field. Middle guard Steve DeLong won the Outland Trophy and Dickey's staff recruited a freshman class which would help lead the Vols out of the wilderness. One of that year's recruits, wide receiver Richmond Flowers from Montgomery, Ala., was the first of a number of track-football athletes who brought a new dimension of speed to the Vol program.

Dickey's second team finished 8-1-2 and



Tennessee's Johnny Butler broke his famous 56-yard run in the Volunteers 21-0 victory over Alabama in Knoxville. The 1939 Vols are the last college football team to go through the regular season unscored upon.

earned a Bluebonnet Bowl bid, UT's first bowl game since 1957. The season's pivotal moment came in the aftermath of the Alabama game. The Vols had tied Alabama, 7-7, in Birmingham and spirits were high on the Knoxville campus. Line coach Charley Rash put a note in each of his linemen's mailbox that night after the game, saying: "Play like that every week and you'll go undefeated."

Two days later, Rash, Bill Majors and Bob Jones were killed in an early morning car-train collision in West Knoxville. Over 30 years later, persons connected with the Vol program still praise the way Dickey handled the tragedy, pulling everybody together and keeping the Vol program going.

One of the most memorable moments of that, or any other season, was the 37-34 "Rosebonnet Bowl" victory over UCLA at Memorial Stadium in Memphis, so named by Vol broadcaster George Mooney because of the post-season destinations of the two teams. It was a classic offensive shootout that was finally settled when Vol quarterback Dewey Warren ambled around left end for the winning score and Bobby Petrella grabbed a last-ditch Bruin aerial.

In 1966, there was an addition of 5,895 seats to the north stands, which increased stadium capacity to 58,122. There was also a new scoreboard at the north end, with a "countdown clock," replacing one that was really a clock, complete with minute and second hands. Tennessee's 8-3 record, including an 18-12 Gator Bowl win over a Syracuse team which featured Larry Csonka and Floyd Little, presaged what was to come in 1967.

The Vols lost their opener to UCLA, a nocturnal affair at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, but came back to win their remaining nine games and the SEC Championship, earning an Orange Bowl date against Oklahoma. The Vols swept Alabama, Auburn, Louisiana State and Mississippi, defeating the Tide for the first time since 1960 and the Rebels for the first time since 1958. The Vols finished No. 2 in the final polls and was selected as national champions by Litkenhous. One other note, the Vols' 41-14 win over Vanderbilt in December was the last game played on the Neyland Stadium grass until September of 1994.

In 1968, artificial turf came to Neyland Stadium. With the new turf and the demise of the grass field came a 6,307-seat east upper deck and new auxiliary scoreboard; the addition raised capacity to 64,429.

In the first game played on Tartan Turf against Vince Dooley's Georgia Bulldogs, Nashville's Lester McClain became the first black to play in an SEC varsity football game. The Vols rallied for a 17-17 tie that day in an exciting finish led by quarterback Bubba Wyche. Runner-up in the SEC in 1968, Tennessee won the crown again in 1969 with a 9-1 record and played in the Gator Bowl.

NEYLAND, THE PSYCHOLOGIST: Neyland is shown in the dressing room with the Vols after the 1948 victory over Alabama.

After the 1969 season, Dickey moved to Florida as head coach and 28-year-old Bill Battle became the Vols' new head man. His first team finished 11-1 and he became the first Division I head coach to win 11 games in his first year.

Seasons of 10-2 and 10-2 followed in 1971 and 1972. In 1972, 6,221 seats were added to the stadium's southwest corner and capacity was increased to 70,650.

That season, Condredge Holloway became a whirling dervish under center, a master of the broken field run. He ran over, under and even occasionally through opponents during his career, which saw him tabbed "The Artful Dodger."

In 1975, the Vols won their 500th game, defeating Kentucky, 17-13, at Commonwealth Stadium in Lexington.

Battle resigned after the 1976 season and Johnny Majors, then head coach of the national champion Pittsburgh Panthers, answered the University's call, coming as head coach for the 1977 season. "Follow me to Tennessee" was the rallying cry.

Johnny Majors Marches Home

His early teams had no bigger victory than a 40-18 victory over Notre Dame in 1979, a season in which the Vols led eventual national champion Alabama 17-0 in the second quarter at Legion Field. A 7-4 record was sufficient to earn a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

A crowd of 95,288 saw the Vols and Georgia square off to begin the 1980 season. Georgia won, 16-15, on their way to a national championship, but the Vols did have their moments that year, taking a 42-0 win at Auburn and concluding the season with a 45-14 win over Kentucky and a 51-13 win over Vanderbilt.

The 1981 Vols overcame early, seemingly devastating, losses at Georgia and Southern California to post an 8-4 record and received a Garden State Bowl berth against Wisconsin. Slowly but surely, the Vols were on their way back.

With the 1982 World's Fair as a backdrop, Tennessee ended 11 years of frustration by defeating Alabama, 35-28, at Neyland Stadium. Mike Terry's interception cinched things and Vol fans counted the clock down on the first of four consecutive wins over Alabama. The game would also mark Bryant's final Neyland Stadium appearance. He stepped down after the season and died the next January.

Led by Reggie White, an absolute terror at defensive tackle, UT began an upsurge in fortunes in 1983, going 9-3 and winning the Florida Citrus Bowl. Johnnie Jones had the game-winner against the Tide, motoring 66 yards to break a 34-34 tie. In 1984, the Vols rallied from a 27-13 deficit in the fourth quarter to defeat Alabama 28-27. In 1985, the Vols surprised everybody by defeating No. 1 Auburn, 38-20, and Alabama, 16-14, on their way to an SEC crown, first since 1969, and a Sugar Bowl date with Miami. But it wasn't easy. Not at all.

Vol quarterback Tony Robinson, who had played brilliantly in a season-opening tie with UCLA and the win over Auburn, hurt a knee in the fourth quarter against Alabama and missed the rest of the season. Daryl Dickey, Doug Dickey's son, stepped into the breach and kept the Vol ship on course the rest of the way, including a 35-7 win over the Hurricanes that Vol fans remember fondly to this day. The Louisiana Superdome was Big Orange Country South that Jan. 1, 1986, night.

The 1989 season saw an 11-1 record, an SEC Championship and Cotton Bowl trip. The win over Arkansas in Dallas Jan. 1, 1990, was the Vols' 600th. The Vols were the most improved team in the country, coming from 5-6 in 1988 to 1989's 11-1.

The 1990s began with another SEC championship and trip to the Sugar Bowl.

The highlight of the 1991 season came in South Bend, Ind., at Notre Dame Stadium, when the Vols overcame a 31-7 deficit to somehow win by 35-34. John Becksvoort, Vol placekicker, had dreamed of defeating the Irish with a field goal, but, in this case, an extra point was plenty.

Phillip Fulmer Takes Vols To National Title

The Phillip Fulmer head coaching era began auspiciously with victory in a bowl game and has remained successful to the point Fulmer has the best record of any active college coach going into the 1999 season. That's based on official NCAA rankings, which requires five years' experience to warrant recognition.

Fulmer, who stepped quietly into the ratings as soon as he became eligible, advanced from second place to first with the retirement of Nebraska's Tom Osborne after the 1997 season. Acquiring his first 50 victories at a faster pace than anybody else in Southeastern Conference history, Fulmer has guided his teams to an overall record of 67-11, giving him a percentage victory mark of .859.

Fulmer was named in November of 1992 to replace Johnny Majors, who had resigned. Fulmer's stewardship began with the Vols' trip to the Hall of Fame Bowl in Tampa. Quarterbacked by Heath Shuler, the Big Orange routed Boston College, 38-23. The victory, combined with three other triumphs in which Fulmer served as interim coach, gave the new mentor a 4-0 record heading into the 1993 campaign.

Vol gridiron success continued through Fulmer's first full season as head coach. The Vols went 10-2 in 1993, a year in which quarterback Heath Shuler finished runner-up for the Heisman Trophy. Tennessee was rewarded with a trip to the Florida Citrus Bowl where Penn State pulled out a 31-13 victory.

The 1994 season will be remembered for one of the guttiest comebacks ever staged by a Tennessee team. The Vols, whose first-string quarterback was injured in the opening minutes of the first game, limped to a 1-3 start but stuck together under Fulmer's direction and ended the season with an 8-4 mark, including a bowl victory.

UT closed the season by whipping Virginia Tech, 45-23, in the Gator Bowl and set the stage for a 1995 campaign that included a rousing victory at Alabama, six other SEC victories, an overall 11-1 record and an exciting 20-14 win over Ohio State in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Peyton Manning, Jay Graham and Joey Kent set school records for passing, rushing and receiving, respectively.

The CNN-USA Today coaches poll ranked UT No. 2 in the nation after that bowl win.

The 1996 Vols gave the school its second straight top 10 ranking with a 10-2 record capped by a 48-28 victory over Northwestern in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Record crowds filed through the gates of the newly enlarged Neyland Stadium, with a collegiate attendance mark of 107,608 for the Sept. 21 game with Florida. Fulmer received NCAA recognition, based on five years incumbency, for having the second highest career winning percentage (.827) among active head coaches.

The 1997 season tested the comeback quality of the Vols, who bounced back from a loss to Florida, won the rest of their games, including the SEC Championship contest over Auburn, and then had an outside shot at a No. 1 ranking in the AP and coaches' final poll. But alas, a national championship wasn't to be yet. After hanging in gamely through the first half, Tennessee yielded to powerhouse Nebraska and suffered a 42-17 drubbing in the Orange Bowl at Miami. But even that one-sided defeat couldn't diminish a season in which the Vols, behind the brilliant passing of Heisman runner-up Peyton Manning, won the Southeastern Conference championship after edging out Florida for the Eastern Division title.

Both Manning and linebacker Leonard Little were first-team All-Americas, and Manning earned a collection of trophies, most notable of which was the Sullivan Award given to the best amateur athlete in the nation.

As the 1998 season approached, Tennessee coaches were struck with the dimensions of the assignment that faced them: rebuild following the loss of the nation's best quarterback and one of the game's top defensive stars. Without Peyton Manning and Leonard Little, said the experts, the Vols would be relegated to an also-ran position in the Southeastern Conference.

Demonstrating the unpredictability of college football, Tennessee rolled undefeated through the regular season, defeated Mississippi State for the Southeastern Conference championship and then faced Florida State in the first Bowl Championship Series matchup. The brainchild of SEC commissioner Roy Kramer, the BCS brought together the two best teams in the nation in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

Tee Martin, who had set an NCAA record for consecutive pass completions during the regular season, engineered a 23-16 victory over FSU in a title game that gave Tennessee the undisputed national championship and landed Phillip Fulmer deserved acclaim as national coach of the year.

Throughout the season, the Vols found themselves in a tight crack at crunch time but showed the resourcefulness that allowed them to escape every trap. The leadership of Martin and the emergence of Travis Henry and Travis Stephens as replacements at tailback when Jamal Lewis was injured received justified recognition for their part in the unsullied campaign. Certainly a defense led by All-America linebacker Al Wilson played magnificently at critical times, and placekicker Jeff Hall was Mr. Reliable with chips on the table against Syracuse and Florida.

But Fulmer insisted credit go to the full squad, an inspired team that he said "listened to their coaches" and each week did the things they were asked to do while ignoring distractions that might have interfered with their mission.

Head Coach Phillip Fulmer has led the Vols to an .859 winning percentage during his tenure and the national title in 1998.

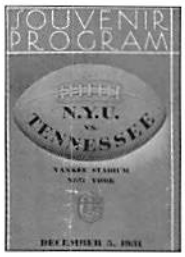
NEW YORK CHARITY GAME



DEC. 5,1931

TENNESSEE 13 NEW YORK 0

NEW YORK — Beattie Feathers and Deke Brackett had long touchdown runs and Herman Hickman anchored the Vol defense as Tennessee defeated the New York University Violets 13-0 in the first New York Charity game at Yankee Stadium. It began the Vols' string of post-season encounters.

The Vols' second trip to New York was better than their first. Seven years earlier, the Vols had lost to Army 41-0 at West Point.

Hickman's sensational defensive play earned him a spot on Grantland Rice's 1931 All-America team.

EDITOR'S NOTE: There was a series of postseason games scheduled during the Great Depression (principally in 1931) for the purpose of raising money for relief of the unemployed in response to the President's Committee on Mobilization of Relief Resources. There were estimated to be 100 games played nationwide. Most notable among these postseason games were the Tennessee-NYU game of 1931 and the Army-Navy games of 1930 and 1931. All three games were played in Yankee Stadium before huge crowds. The NCAA does not recognize the games in the All-Time Bowl Game Records.

1939 ORANGE BOWL

JAN. 2, 1939

TENNESSEE 17 OKLAHOMA 0

MIAMI — Tennessee and Oklahoma squared off in the 1939 Orange Bowl in a classic battle of speed against size. And, when it was over, Tennessee's speed and stamina had won out by a 17-0 count. Tennessee had come into the game undefeated and No. 2 in the country and Oklahoma was riding a 14-game winning streak.

Tennessee scored first when a 15-yard penalty backed the Sooners to their 3-yard line. Vol tailback George Cafego returned the ensuing punt to the Sooner 27 and followed up the punt return with a key gain to the 12. Two plays later, Bob Foxx scored from the 8. The Vols scored a field goal after a Sooner fumble, a 22-yarder by Bowden Wyatt, and led 10-0 at the half.

Tennessee scored its final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 19-yard run by Babe Wood on a reverse. The Vols polished off their eighth shutout of the season by stopping the Sooners the rest of the way and finished undefeated in 11 games.

It was a penalty-plagued game as tempers flared throughout the contest and more than 200 yards were assessed against the teams.

1941 SUGAR BOWL

JAN. 1, 1941

BOSTON COLL. 19 TENNESSEE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Boston College and Tennessee met in the 1941 Sugar Bowl in a game that had all the earmarks of a David and Goliath story. Before a record crowd at Tulane Stadium, the underdog Boston College team had pulled off the upset and, to make matters worse, did it with a play taken directly from the Vols' playbook.

Tennessee scored first on a 4-yard run by Van Thompson and the conversion by Bob Foxx, but lost the ball on downs at the BC 11 and lost an interception at the BC 15. The half ended 7-0.

Boston College tied the score in the third period, blocking a Tennessee punt and scoring quickly. It had been seven years since a Vol punt was blocked. The Vols went back ahead as Buist Warren scored from the two and Tennessee led 13-7.

Boston College answered immediately as Mike Holovak scored from the 1 after a 70-yard drive. The point failed and it was 13-13 entering the final canto. With six minutes left, the Eagles disdained the ground game and three passes moved the ball to the Vol 24. Eagle tailback Charlie O'Rourke then ran left, raised his arm as if to pass and sprinted 24 yards for the touchdown. Eagle Coach Frank Leahy said after the game he had seen the play in a Vol film and added it to his playbook.

Tennessee saw two scoring chances in the fourth quarter go by the boards, as Foxx missed a field goal and the Vols lost a fumble at the BC 38.

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee made its second trip to the Sugar Bowl in three years to play Henry Frank's pass-minded Tulsa Hurricane. Despite a passing show by the Hurricanes' Glenn Dobbs, the Vols escaped with a 14-7 win.

Bill Gold and Clyde Fuson scored touchdowns and Denver Crawford blocked a punt for a safety as the Vols squared their bowl record at 2-2.

SOUTHERN CAL 25 TENNESSEE 0

PASADENA — Tennessee finished 7-0-1 in 1944, but met its match against Southern California in the 1945 Rose Bowl. Tennessee had not fielded a team in 1943 and, given the green light by the conference to do so in 1944, put together an eight-game schedule that assembled talent available.

The Vols got good efforts from the 1944 team, but a lack of depth at key positions cost the Vols against the powerful USC team. Despite the loss, Tennessee coach John Barnhill was named SEC Coach of the Year.

RICE 8 TENNESSEE 0

MIAMI — Rice scored a touchdown and a safety in the first quarter and played defense and the kicking game in the best Tennessee tradition to defeat Bob Neyland's Volunteers 8-0 in the 1947 Orange Bowl.

Rice blocked two Vol punts in the first quarter, the second of which led to a safety and, combined with a touchdown drive of 83 yards, it was enough to win. The touchdown came on a lateral from Buddy Russ to Huey Kenney after Russ had run 25 yards to the Vol 25. Kenney took it in and Rice led.

Rice coach Jess Neely was then content to put the game in the hands of his defense, which held the Vols to five first downs and 136 yards.

The Vols had one big shot early in the second half, recovering a fumble at the Rice 18. But Rice intercepted a fourth-down pass and was in control from that point.

JAN. 1, 1951

TENNESSEE 20 TEXAS 14

DALLAS — Tennessee's once-defeated Volunteers dominated the second half and defeated Texas 20-14 in the 1951 Cotton Bowl. The Vols scored first, on a 2-yard pass from Herky Payne to John Gruble, a play set up by a now-historic 75-yard run by Hank Lauricella, in which he reversed his field three times and slowed only to allow his blockers to catch up.

The Longhorns rallied to take a 14-7 halftime lead, parlaying a blocked kick into one score and a pass into another. The Vols closed to one point early in the third quarter, when fullback Andy Kozar bulled in from the 5. Later in the quarter, Jimmy Hill intercepted a Longhorn pass and the Vols were goalward again.

The teams exchanged fumbles on two consecutive plays and the Vols took the Texas turnover in for the winning score. Kozar got 6, Lauricella hit Rechichar for 23 and ran for 11. Finally, Kozar scored his second touchdown and the Vols held off a late Texas charge to win, 20-14.

MARYLAND 28 TENNESSEE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee went to New Orleans undefeated and the 1951 national champions. But the Vols fell victim to an undefeated Maryland team that scored 21 points in 16 minutes and never looked back. The final was 28-13.

Maryland uncorked a strong running game to lead 21-6 at the half and used a timely interception return for a touchdown to keep the Vols at bay.

Tennessee showed only flashes of the power that had been its trademark during the regular season. Vol tailback Herky Payne led two touchdown drives, but otherwise, the Maryland defense stopped the Vol attack, using an eight-man line.

It was Robert R. Neyland's last bowl game as the Volunteers head coach.

BAYLOR 13 TENNESSEE 7

NEW ORLEANS — No. 11-rated Baylor beat Tennessee at its own game in the 1957 Sugar Bowl, turning four interceptions and a key fumble recovery into a 13-7 win over the previously undefeated and No. 2-ranked Volunteers.

Baylor scored first on a pass from Bobby Jones to Jerry Marcontell covering 12 yards. The touchdown drive had been keyed by Shofner's 54-yard run after a Johnny Majors quick-kick. Tennessee had two drives snuffed by interceptions in the first half and trailed 6-0 at intermission.

The Vols scored early in the third quarter as Majors and fullback Tommy Bronson led the charge downfield and Baylor contributed a key piling-on penalty. Majors scored from the 1 and Sammy Burklow's conversion gave the Vols a 7-6 lead. The Vols held that lead into the fourth quarter when Majors was hit on a punt return and fumbled at the Vol 15. Baylor recovered and moved in for the winning score.

The Vols had two last chances to score, but two Baylor interceptions and a sack of Vol tailback Bobby Gordon erased the Vols' last scoring opportunities.

TENNESSEE 3 TEXAS A&M 0

JACKSONVILLE — In Paul "Bear" Bryant's last game as Aggie head coach, Tennessee used a fourth quarter field goal by placekicker Sammy Burklow and a stubborn defense to hand the Aggies a 3-0 defeat on a wet and muddy Gator Bowl field. It was the lowest-scoring game in the history of the Gator Bowl and was played before a Gator Bowl-record crowd of 43,709.

The field goal was the first of Burklow's career and came from 17 yards out with 5:30 left to play in the game. It was a day for the defenses to shine as action was confined between the 35-yard lines.

The game was marked by the now-famous collision between Vol tailback Bobby Gordon and Aggie Heisman Trophy winner John David Crow on the Vols' march to the winning score. Both players recovered to continue play, with Gordon holding for Burklow's game-winning field goal.

TENNESSEE 27 TULSA 6

HOUSTON — Tennessee made its first bowl appearance since the Gator Bowl victory over Texas A & M in 1957 and made it a successful return by taking the measure of the Tulsa Hurricanes 27-6 in a swampy Rice Stadium.

The game was played in the wettest weather that ever confronted a Tennessee team, a steady downpour that that did not cease until long after the game was over.

The Vols took care of business quickly, moving to a 20-6 halftime lead by taking advantage of Tulsa turnovers and some brilliant work on the kicking game. Tulsa fumbles led to the Vol touchdowns by Hal Wantland and Dewey Warren and Jerry Smith's 45-yard punt return led to the third, another score by Warren. Glenn Gray's pass interception led to the final Vol score, an 11-yard burst by fullback Stan Mitchell.

Tulsa gained 250 yards through the air despite the wet conditions, but three fumbles and four Vol interceptions turned the game Tennessee's way.

TENNESSEE 18 SYRACUSE 12

JACKSONVILLE — Tennessee won its second consecutive bowl game under the tutelage of Doug Dickey, defeating Syracuse 18-12 in a game in which each team dominated one half.

Despite an early fumble that gave Syracuse favorable field position, the Vols got field goals from Gary Wright in the first and second quarters to lead 6-0. Another field goal appeared to be in the offing in the second period at the Syracuse 24, but the Vols caught Syracuse by surprise and quarterback Dewey Warren hit tight end Austin Denney instead for the touchdown and a 12-0 lead. Bill Young's interception led to the third Vol score, which came on a 2-yard strike from Warren to flanker Richmond Flowers.

Syracuse, led by the running of future pro stars Floyd Little and Larry Csonka, scored on their first possession of the second half. They lost the ball on downs at the Vol 3 later in the period and scored their final touchdown with 46 seconds left.

JAN. 1, 1968

OKLAHOMA 26 TENNESSEE 24

MIAMI — A night football game, this time at Miami's Orange Bowl, became the Vols' undoing for the second time in the 1967 season. The Vols closed the 1967 season the way they opened it, with a loss under the lights. While UCLA was the culprit in the opener, Oklahoma edged the Vols in the season finale.

The Vols fell behind 19-0 in the first half and saw their first series of the second half stopped at the Oklahoma 14. But, on the ensuing series, Jimmy Glover returned a pass interception 36 yards for a touchdown and the Vols were back in the game. With 5:07 left in the third quarter, Charley Fulton scored and it was 19-14 as the fourth quarter began.

The Vols closed to 19-17, before giving up an interception that the Sooners returned for a touchdown. Warren brought the Vols back once again, capping a 77-yard drive with a 1-yard sneak and it was 26-24.

The Vols took possession at the Oklahoma 43 when Steve Owens was stopped short on fourth-and-1 and worked the ball to the 27 with time running out. But Kremser's field goal faded wide right and Oklahoma had the game.

The Texans jumped to a 28-0 halftime lead, parlaying a crunching ground attack spiced by the passing combination of Jim Street and Cotton Speyrer. The Vols had an early shot at the Longhorns, but a 57-yard field goal missed and the Longhorns assumed command. The Vols helped the Longhorns with five fumbles and the Longhorns intercepted three Vol passes.

Sub quarterback Bobby Scott gave the Vols a spark, throwing second half touchdown passes to Gary Kreis and Mike Price.

FLORIDA 14 TENNESSEE 13

JACKSONVILLE — Before a Gator Bowl-record crowd of 72,248, SEC champ Tennessee went down in defeat to a Florida team which, like the Vols, had far exceeded expectations during the regular season.

Damage from the heralded passing duo of John Reaves and Carlos Alvarez was held to manageable proportions, but Tennessee's inability to score inside the 10 sealed the Vols' fate.

Workhorse running back Curt Watson gained 121 yards on 25 carries and tight end Ken DeLong caught five passes for 50 yards. But a blocked punt that Florida turned into a touchdown was the ultimate difference.

TENNESSEE 34 AIR FORCE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee broke a three-game bowl losing streak at the expense of a highly-touted Air Force team. Scoring a record 24 points in the first quarter, the Vols rolled to a convincing 34-13 triumph, finishing the 1970 season with a school-record 11-1 worksheet.

The first 12 minutes was nothing but fun for Vol partisans. The Vols scored the first four times they had the ball and mounted a 24-0 lead with 3:21 left in the opening quarter. Don McLeary scored twice, George Hunt booted a field goal and Gary Theiler caught a touchdown pass from game-MVP Bobby Scott.

A rugged Tennessee defense thwarted the Air Force offense time after time. Led by Ray Nettles, Tim Priest and Jamie Rotella, the Vols held Air Force to minus 12 yards rushing. The Vols secondary continued its assault, grabbing four interceptions. The Vols also grabbed four Air Force fumbles.

MEMPHIS — Late in the fourth quarter, Arkansas looked to be a sure winner of the 1971 Liberty Bowl only to see the game get away. Leading 13-7, the Razorbacks had the game-winning field goal nullified by a penalty. A series later, the Hogs lost a fumble after a completed pass at their 36.

Thus inspired, the Vols struck quickly for the winning score. Quarterback Jim Maxwell hit tight end Gary Theiler to the Arkansas 19. Curt Watson, closing out a brilliant career, finished the drive with a 17-yard touchdown run. George Hunt's extra point was the margin of victory.

The Vols added an interception moments later and put the game away. The narrow victory enabled the Vols to finish No. 9 in both national polls.

Holloway, who was named the game's outstanding player, led the Vols to a 24-3 halftime lead, scoring twice and throwing a touchdown pass to tight end Jimmy Young.

But it remained for senior defensive back Conrad Graham to make the big play that finally subdued the Tigers. LSU All-America Bert Jones had led the Tigers to two second half scores and was threatening a third when Graham cleanly broke up a fourth down pass at the Vol 10 to preserve the victory.

Vol defensive lineman Carl Johnson was named the defensive player of the game.

time, however, it was Texas Tech jumping to an early lead and hanging on for a 28-19 victory.

The Red Raiders jumped to a 14-0 lead on the running and passing of quarterback Joe Barnes and led 14-3 at the half as Ricky Townsend got the Vols on the board with a 30-yard field goal.

Haskel Stanback led the Vols' second-half rally, running for one touchdown and catching a pass from Condredge Holloway for another. The Vols closed to 21-19, but misfired on a two-point conversion and a field goal before a long run and subsequent touchdown put the game away for the Texans.

MEMPHIS — Two Vol sophomores teamed up for the winning score in the 1974 Liberty Bowl. Randy Wallace, subbing for the injured Condredge Holloway, threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to Larry Seivers with 2:44 left in the game to subdue the Terps 7-3. Seivers outleaped two Maryland defenders for the winning score.

Until that time, Maryland had the better of it. Led by All-America tackle Randy White, the Terps had kept the Vols bottled up throughout the cold December night in Memphis. The Terps got a second quarter field goal and almost made it stand up.

Mike Gayles, who gained 106 yards in 17 carries, was named the Vols' outstanding offensive player. Defensive end Ron McCartney was named the Vols' defensive standout.

PURDUE 27 TENNESSEE 22

HOUSTON — Tennessee, making its first bowl appearance in five years, saw a gutty second half comeback fall short in the waning moments of the fourth quarter. Trailing 21-0 in the third quarter, the Vols rallied to take the lead 22-21 late in the fourth quarter. But Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann threw the game-winner, a 17-yard toss to Charley Young, with just 1:30 remaining.

The Vols' comeback was triggered by an 8-yard Jimmy Streater pass to halfback Glenn Ford. The second Vol touchdown came on a pass from wingback Phil Ingram to tailback James Berry. When Hubert Simpson scored the two-pointer, the Vols were back in the game. The Vols took the lead as Simpson scored and ran the two-point conversion.

All-America defensive back Roland James was the Defensive Player of the Game, with eight unassisted tackles and a 19-yard punt return to his credit. Streater finished with 270 yards rushing and passing.

TENNESSEE 28 WISCONSIN 21

EAST RUTHERFORD — Steve Alatorre completed 24 of 42 passes for 315 yards and one touchdown as the Vols defeated Wisconsin 28-21.

After Wisconsin went ahead 7-3 in the first quarter, Willie Gault returned the ensuing kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown and the Vols were never headed. Alatorre hit wide receiver Anthony Hancock, who made 11 catches on the day, with a 43-yard scoring strike and the Vols led 21-7 in the half. The Vol defense did their part with two first-half interceptions.

Wisconsin's Randy Wright kept the Badgers in the game in the second half, throwing two touchdown passes, but Alatorre's 6-yard run in the fourth quarter proved to be the difference.

Both Alatorre and Hancock made their final Vol game their best. Alatorre was named the game's outstanding player. Defensively, tackle Reggie White led the Vols.

IOWA 28 TENNESSEE 22

ATLANTA — Iowa built a 21-7 first half lead, keyed by three Chuck Long touchdown passes, and weathered a second half Vol rally to win the 1982 Peach Bowl 28-22.

Tennessee's second-half comeback was led by quarterback Alan Cockrell and running backs Chuck Coleman and Doug Furnas. The Vols came off the mat to register two touchdowns and a field goal to close to 28-22 late in the fourth quarter.

With the clock winding down, the outcome hinged on two short yardage plays the Hawkeyes stopped at their 7. On third-and-2, Cockrell's pass was deflected. On fourth down, the Vol signal-caller was stopped short on a counter-option.

Cockrell completed 22 of 41 passes for 221 yards and one touchdown and was named Tennessee's Outstanding Player by CBS broadcasters.

MARYLAND 28 TENNESSEE 27

EL PASO — Maryland, trailing 21-0 to Tennessee after the first half, scored 22 points in the third quarter and grimly held on for a 28-27 victory in the 1984 Sun Bowl. The issue was in doubt until Maryland defensive back Keeta Covington jarred the ball loose from the Vols' Tony Robinson, just when the Vols looked to be in position to win on a last-second field goal attempt.

The Vols jumped to the early lead on the running of tailback Johnnie Jones and the passing combo of Robinson to Tim McGee. Fuad Reveiz added two field goals and the Vols appeared in control.

Maryland reeled off 22 consecutive points in the third quarter, before Pete Panuska gave the Vols their last lead of the game, returning a Maryland kickoff 100 yards for the go-ahead score. Maryland's Rick Badjanek scored the game-winner with 2:28 left. But it remained for Covington to make his big play to secure the Maryland victory.

1986 SUGAR BOWL

JAN. 1, 1986

TENNESSEE 35 MIAMI 7

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee rang in 1986 in grand fashion, taking a 35-7 decision over the highly-touted Miami Hurricanes in the 52nd Sugar Bowl. A Louisiana Superdome crowd of 77,432 saw the Vols spot the Hurricanes an early 7-0 lead, but, after Daryl Dickey and Jeff Smith hooked up for a 6-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter, the Vols were completely in control.

Ken Donahue's defensive troops ruled the Superdome turf, rattling the Hurricanes for six turnovers, seven quarterback sacks and five tackles for lost yardage.

The Vols took the lead late in the first half when wide receiver Tim McGee corralled a Vol fumble in the end zone. They extended their lead in the third quarter as fullback Sam Henderson scored from 1-yard out after Darrin Miller's fumble recovery gave the Vols the ball at the Miami 32. After a Miami punt, Tennessee's Jeff Powell brought Vol fans to their feet, sprinting 60 yards for another Vol touchdown. All-America defensive back Chris White intercepted Miami quarterback Vinny Testaverde in the fourth quarter to set up a 6-yard scoring run by Charles Wilson.

The win evened the Vols' Sugar Bowl mark at 3-3. Dickey, who completed 15 of 25 passes for 131 yards and one touchdown, was named the game's outstanding player. The Vols' 35 points set a school record for the most points scored in a bowl game, eclipsing the previous mark of 34 set against Air Force in the 1971 Sugar Bowl.

TENNESSEE 21 MINNESOTA 14

MEMPHIS — Jeff Francis threw three touchdown passes and the Vol defense shut down Minnesota when it had to, leading Tennessee to a 21-14 victory over Minnesota in the 28th Liberty Bowl.

The Vols jumped to a 14-3 halftime lead as Francis threw touchdown passes to wide receiver Joey Clinkscales and fullback William Howard. Minnesota got a late field goal from Chip Lohmiller and trailed 14-3 at the half.

The Gophers dominated the third period, getting another field goal from Lohmiller and a touchdown from Foggie on a fourth-down option play. Freshman Darrell Thompson's two-point conversion run knotted the count.

The Vols roared back for the clinching score, as Francis hit Nate Middlebrooks and Anthony Miller to move deep into Minnesota territory. On third-and-3, he hit Clinkscales for the game-winner in the left corner of the end zone. The Vol defense shut down Foggie and Minnesota the rest of the way and rang up UT's third Liberty Bowl victory in as many tries.

TENNESSEE 27 INDIANA 22

ATLANTA — Tennessee closed the 1987 season the way it began it way back in August, posting a come-from-behind over a Big Ten rival. This time the Indiana Hoosiers were the victim, as the Vols rallied once again in the fourth quarter for a 27-22 victory.

A record Peach Bowl crowd of 58,737 saw the Vols explode to a 21-3 lead early in the second quarter as quarterback Jeff Francis led three scoring drives and threw TD passes to Anthony Miller and Terence Cleveland. But Indiana rallied in the second half and led 22-21 late in the fourth quarter. But the Vol defense stiffened and Francis and his offensive mates got the ball at the Hoosier 40.

The Vols took it for the winning score as Francis scrambled for a crucial first down and Cobb got the game-winner from 9 yards out. Charles Kimbrough's interception sealed the Vols' first win in two Peach Bowl tries.

TENNESSEE 31 ARKANSAS 27

DALLAS — Tennessee finished with its finest season record since 1970 by taking a hard-fought 31-27 decision over the Southwest Conference champion Razorbacks.

The Vols, paced by the running of Offensive MVP Chuck Webb and an opportunistic defense, raced to a 31-13 lead after three periods, but the Hogs stormed back to close the margin before Alvin Harper recovered an onside kick attempt with 1:23 left on the clock and the Vols were able to run out the clock.

UT had parlayed a field goal by Greg Burke, two TDs by Webb, one on a 78-yard run down the near sideline, an 84-yard pass from Andy Kelly to Anthony Morgan and a 1-yard toss from Kelly to Greg Amsler to take the lead.

Martin Williams and Tracy Hayworth recovered fumbles to blunt two Arkansas drives and Defensive MVP Carl Pickens intercepted an Arkansas pass to stop another drive. Kacy Rodgers made a big play in the fourth quarter, stopping Arkansas tailback Barry Foster on fourth-and-1 at the Vol 9.

TENNESSEE 23 VIRGINIA 22

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee concluded its 100-year anniversary season and longest in Vol history with a come-from-behind victory in the 57th Sugar Bowl Classic at the Louisiana Superdome. The Vols thus concluded a 9-2-2 season that began way back in August.

The Vols trailed for the first 59:29, but won the game when Tony Thompson, who rushed for 151 yards, hurdled the line for a score from 1 yard out. Thompson's score climaxed a Sugar Bowl record-setting 20-point fourth quarter that saw the Vols outscore the Cavs by 14.

Leading 16-3, Virginia looked poised to put the game away late in the third quarter. But Floyd Miley intercepted a Shawn Moore pass at the Vol 6 and the rally was on. Andy Kelly, voted the game's most outstanding player, led three drives for scores and Dale Carter intercepted a last-gasp Virginia pass to gain the victory.

Thompson scored twice in the fourth quarter rally and Kelly, who directed the Vol attack flawlessly in the final stanza, found Carl Pickens wide open for the other score.

Carter had two interceptions for his night's work and linebacker Darryl Hardy had eight tackles and four broken-up passes.

TEMPE — Tennessee appeared to be in the driver's seat of the 21st Fiesta Bowl, leading 17-7 midway in the third quarter, but Penn State ran off 35 unanswered points in just 7:49 to take the decision. Turnovers proved to be the Vols' undoing as five of the six Penn State scores came off Vol mistakes.

The Vols, who trailed 7-0 just 1:19 into the game, ran off 17 unanswered points of their own in the first and third quarters, but failed to take full advantage of a 441-226 yard statistical advantage.

James Stewart and Cory Fleming scored Vol touchdowns while John Becksvoort added two conversions and a 24-yard field goal. Stewart's score came after a 10-play, 62-yard drive in the first quarter. Fleming's came in the third quarter on a pass from Andy Kelly on which the Vol sophomore wideout made some nifty moves in the open field to find paydirt.

Shuler scored twice on runs of 1 and 14 yards. Jerry Colquitt threw a 48-yard scoring pass to Fleming and John Becksvoort added a field goal and five extra points.

After a bad snap on BC's first punt of the game led to good field position at the BC 43. Shuler found Ron Davis down the left side for 42 yards and scored a play later on a keeper left. Fleming's first TD came on the Vols' next possession. TENNESSEE 20 OHIO STATE 14

ORLANDO — Jeff Hall kicked two fourth quarter field goals and the Vol defense held Ohio State in check as Tennessee defeated the Buckeyes 20-14 on a rainy day in the 50th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Jay Graham, the game's MVP, rushed for 154 yards, including a 69-yard scoring dash late in the first half that pulled the Vols even, 7-7, at halftime. Peyton Manning completed 20 of 35 passes for 182 yards and one touchdown. Joey Kent led the Vol receiving corps with seven catches for 109 yards, including a 47-yard scoring toss from Manning that gave UT a 14-7 advantage in the third quarter.

Hall's two field goals in the fourth quarter came after the Buckeyes had tied the game, 14-14, to open the final stanza. Tennessee's defense, which had stopped the Buckeyes on a second quarter fourth-and-inches at the Vol 3-yard line, forced three turnovers in OSU's final four possessions to seal the victory.

UT held Ohio State, with Heisman winner Eddie George, to a season-low 89 yards on the ground.

The victory upped Tennessee's record to 11-1, its best since 1989 and propelled the Vols to a No. 2 finish in the final CNN-USA Today poll, UT's highest since 1967. The Vols were tabbed No. 3 in final Associated Press voting.

ORLANDO — Tied 21-21 late in the second quarter, Tennessee scored the game's next 20 points and took a 48-28 victory over Big 10 co-champ Northwestern. Peyton Manning completed 27 of 39 passes for 408 yards to lead the Vol attack.

After the Wildcats had battled back from a 21-0 first quarter deficit to tie the game, Manning threw a 67-yard TD pass to Joey Kent and beat the clock for a Jeff Hall field goal on the final play of the half to give the Vols a 31-21 halftime lead. The Vols stretched the lead to 38-21 when linebacker Tyrone Hines intercepted a Steve Schnur pass and returned the oskie 30 yards for a score. Hall added another field goal and Manning threw a TD pass to tight end Dustin Moore to conclude the Vol scoring.

The Vols had jumped to a 21-0 lead in the first quarter on a 43-yard TD pass from Manning to Peerless Price, a 10-yard run for a score by Manning and another TD toss, this one from Manning to Kent from 11 yards out. Price caught six passes for 110 yards and Kent caught five for 122 yards.

TEMPE - Tennessee won the 1998 national championship, the first for the Vols since 1951, and completed the school's first-ever 13-0 season with a 23-16 win over the No. 2 Seminoles. Tee Martin completed 11 of 18 passes for 278 yards and threw TD passes to Shawn Bryson and Peerless Price, covering 4 and 79 yards respectively.

Bryson's TD reception came in the second quarter and was followed by Dwayne Goodrich pilfering an FSU pass and returning the oskie 54 yards for a score which gave the Vols a 14-0 lead. Goodrich's TD run was the third of his career. Bryson's TD came after the Vols took a Jeff Hall field goal off the board due to a roughing-the-kicker penalty.

Florida State narrowed the margin to 14-9 at the half and the score remained that way until midway in the fourth quarter when Martin and Price hooked up for the pivotal 79-yard score, followed by a Seminole turnover and a Hall field goal good from 23 yards out. The Seminoles pulled to within the eventual 23-16 margin late in the game, but could get no closer.

Price was named the Offensive Player of the Game and Goodrich the Defensive Player of the Game.

1894 AND 1895 THE LOST YEARS NO OFFICIAL TEAM

In October 1894, the Athletic Association resolved to drop varsity football and look forward to baseball in the spring. After the humiliating 1893 season (two wins and four imposing defeats), only two athletes willing to admit they had played on the 1893 team returned to campus in 1894. To complicate matters further, the practice field, located just west of the main entrance to the Hill, was being graded and improved.

Soon after this decision, W.B. Stokely, a UT senior who transferred from Wake Forest, persuaded a group of students to form a team. Stokely, who was elected captain, gave encouragement and direction to the other players. Even though the institution chose not to be represented officially on the gridiron, Stokely and his unofficial team kept football interest alive during this period when almost certainly it would have otherwise been allowed to lapse completely.

Listed below are games in which these teams competed. These unofficial games are not included in NCAA statistics or in official University of Tennessee win-loss records.

1898 (NO TEAM) SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

J. A. PIERCE (1899-1900)

After UT went five seasons without a coach, Pierce, a graduate of LaFayette, became the first full-time coach to be hired by the Athletic Association. His record in two seasons set the tone for winning football at Tennessee. Complete record: 8-4-1.

1917 AND 1918 WORLD WAR I NO OFFICIAL TEAMS

The University of Tennessee Athletic Council, chaired by Professor Nathan W. Dougherty, officially suspended varsity football during the World War I years of 1917 and 1918 because the majority of the players were called into military service. In addition, Coach John R. Bender was enlisted as an instructor at Camp John Sevier in Greenville, South Carolina.

During this period without varsity football, two unofficial teams were formed from Army recruits and students. One team represented a training unit called the Fighting Mechanics and the other the Student Army Training Corps (SATC).

R. R. NEYLAND (1946-52)

General Neyland's retirement from military service enabled him to devote full time to coaching and building one of the most powerful programs in the nation. He produced the national championship team in 1951 and took the Vols to three straight major bowl appearances. Poor health in 1952 forced his retirement to athletic director, a position he held until his death in 1962. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1956. His record for this period was 54-17-4. Complete record: 173-31-12.

Retired Jersey

The University of Tennessee honored Peyton Manning by retiring his No. 16 jersey in a ceremony at halftime of the 1998 Orange & White game.

Manning, the Vols' most decorated player of all-time, flew back to Knoxville from New York just hours after being tabbed as the NFL's No. 1 draft choice by the Indianapolis Colts.

Manning, the Southeastern Conference's all-time leading passer with 11,201 yards, set 42 passing records during his Vol career that included two NCAA, seven SEC and 33 UT marks.

Off the field, Manning was named the National Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 1997 and graduated in three years with a degree in speech communications with his class' highest grade-point average (3.61) in that field.

Manning's jersey is displayed in a special exhibit in Tennessee's Hall of Fame in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Complex.

"The retired jersey is the centerpiece of the display, but we also want to make sure Peyton's many accomplishments are recognized," said Athletic Director Doug Dickey. "His career is of historic proportions, involving such outstanding honors as winning the Sullivan, Maxwell, Davey O'Brien and Johnny Unitas Awards. His was a unique career for this university, something we want Vol fans to enjoy for all time."

Peyton Manning's No. 16 jersey was retired in a ceremony at halftime of the 1998 Orange & White game.

Retired Numbers

University of Tennessee jersey numbers 32, 49, 61 and 62 have been retired in memory of four Vol players who died in World War II.

No. 32 was worn by Bill Nowling (Aug. 8, 1920 — Aug. 9, 1944), a fullback 1940-42, from St. Petersburg, Fla., a three-year starter under Robert Neyland and John Barnhill.

No. 49 was worn by Rudy Klarer (March 9, 1923 — Jan. 6, 1945), a reserve guard in 1941 and starter in 1942, from Louisville, Ky.

No. 61 was worn by Willis Tucker (May 10, 1918 — Nov. 28, 1944), a graduate of Knoxville High School, who earned a Vol football letter in 1940 and was a sprint star on the Vol track team.

No. 62 was worn by Clyde "Ig" Fuson (March 11, 1923 — Dec. 4, 1944), a native of Middlesboro, Ky., and fullback on the 1942 team, who shared playing time with Nowling.

Plaques commemorating the lives and Vol careers of each of these players were presented to the University by District 2 of the Department of Tennessee Veterans of Foreign Wars and are on display in the Vols' Hall of Fame Room in Neyland-Thompson Sports Center.

The 1998 team took advantage of its opportunties to win the national championship, making up for the loss of three NFL first-round draft choices from 1997 and a season-ending knee injury to tailback Jamal Lewis in the Auburn game. The Vols won nailbiters against Syracuse, Florida and Arkansas and took a fourth consecutive win over Alabama. The Vols ascended to the No. 1 spot after the Alabama-Birmingham game and proved equal to the task by defeating Arkansas, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Florida State en route to the national crown. Al Wilson was an All-America selection at linebacker and placekicker Jeff Hall became UT's and the SEC's all-time leading scorer. Tee Martin guided the Vols steadily all season and set NCAA passing records for consecutive completions and completion percentage in the South Carolina game.

Editior's Note:
Tennessee has been named consensus wire service national champion in 1951 and 1998.
Many Vol fans do not realize, however, that UT has won other national championships throughout the years, according to various rating systems that were in place during the years in which the teams competed. These championships, perhaps not too familiar to fans, are recogzined as legitimate by the official NCAA Football Records Manuel.
These titles were selected through a points or a ratings system to determine the nation's top team. Overall, Tennessee has captured national championships in six different seasons from at least one poll.

TENNESSEE vs. NO. 1

In its 100 plus-year history, Tennessee has been involved in seven contests in which the Vols' opponent was ranked No. 1 in the country.

UT has a 2-5 all-time record when playing the nation's top-ranked team.

The most recent game between Tennessee and the No. 1 rated team was against Florida on Sept. 20, 1997 in Gainesville.

The Vols' two victories over a No. 1 team have come against Southeastern Conference foes.

UT, ranked No. 13, edged Louisiana State 14-13 Nov. 7, 1959, in Knoxville, to knock the Tigers out of the top spot.

On Sept. 28, 1985, the Vols, 0-0-1 and unranked at the time, soundly defeated top-rated Auburn 38-20 in Knoxville. The 1985 Vols went on to win the SEC Championship and finish No. 4 nationally in both polls.

LAST TIME IN THE POLLS

Throughout its history, the University of Tennessee football program has been a regular member of the Associated Press and, more recently, the ESPN/USA Today Coaches polls.

Below is a listing of the last time the Vols were ranked in a particular position in each poll.

Tennessee's last No. 1 ranking came at the end of the 1998 football season after Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Jan. 4, 1999.

The win garnered Tennessee the undisputed national championship thanks in part to the advent of the Bowl Championship Series, which matched the top two teams in the land in a fight for the national title.

The guaranteed matchup between Nos. 1 and 2 was only the 13th time No. 1 had faced No. 2 in a bowl game. The BCS will continue through the 2002 season.

National Polls

Since the inception of wire service polls, Tennessee has frequently placed among the nation's leaders in the national rankings. The Associated Press poll, which began in 1936, the United Press International poll, running from 1950 until 1991, and the CNN-USA Today poll lasting from 1982 until 1997, when it became the ESPN/USA Today poll, all reflect the lofty standings of the Vols in the eyes of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters. Tennessee won the 1951and 1998 national championship in all polls and finished No. 2 in 1938, 1939, 1956, 1967 and 1995. The Vols have been awarded other national championships as determined by different points and ratings systems in effect at the time of the seasons. UT earned national titles in 1938 and 1940 according to both the Dunkel and Litkenhous Systems. The Vols were named national champs in 1950 by Dunkel and in 1967 by Litkenhous. The 1951 title was also honored by both the Litkenhous and Williamson Systems. The 1998 title was honored by all polls.

 Coaches began voting in the CNN-USA Today poll in 1991. ESPN replaced CNN as as sponsor of the coaches' poll in 1997.*

Traditions

The famed letter "T" debuted on Tennessee's helmets in the fall of 1964 as Doug Dickey assumed the head coaching reins.

Prior to 1964 the helmets had been white with an orange stripe down the middle. There, however, have been two exceptions. In coach Bowden Wyatt's final season in 1962, the Vols had orange numerals on the sides of their helmets. In 1963 coach Jim McDonald stuck with the numbers on the helmets, but changed the numerals color to black.

When Johnny Majors was named head coach in 1977, he had the "T" slightly redesigned and the orange stripe widened.

Dickey also brought another Tennessee tradition to life when he started the Vols running through the "T".

From the time of coach Bob Neyland through the 1963 season, the Vols had their team bench on the east side of the field, close to their dressing room which entered the field on the 50 yardline.

When Doug Dickey became the Vol coach in 1964, he changed all that. He moved his team's bench to the west side, allowing the Vols to enter the field just before the opening kickoff through a giant "T" formed by the "Pride of Southland" Marching Band.

When the Vols moved to the new dressing room quarters under the north stands in 1983, the "T" remained, forming from north to south instead of east to west.

The "T" has occasionally been formed on the road, most notably at Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in Memphis, at Vanderbilt Stadium in Nashville and at the 1986 and 1991 Sugar Bowls in New Orleans.

Nickname

The University of Tennessee, as the state's land grant university, draws the nickname of its athletic teams (Volunteers) from the name most associated with the state. Tennessee acquired its name "The Volunteer State" in the early days of the nineteenth century when General Andrew Jackson mustered large armies from his home state to fight the Indians and later the British at the Battle of New Orleans.

The name became even more prominent in the Mexican War when Governor Aaron V. Brown issued a call for 2,800 men to battle Santa Ana and some 30,000 volunteered. The dragoon uniform worn by Tennessee regulars during that conflict is still seen adorning the color guard at UT athletic events.

The name "Volunteers" is frequently shortened to "Vols" in describing Tennessee athletic teams.

School Colors

The colors Orange and White were selected by Charles Moore, a member of the first football team in 1891, and were later approved by a vote of the student body. The colors were those of the common American daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill. Tennessee players did not appear in the now-famous Orange jerseys until the season opening game in 1922. Coach M. B. Banks' Vols won that game over Emory and Henry by a score of 50-0.

Checkerboard End Zones

A Tennessee trademark from the mid-1960s was reinstated in 1989 with the installation of the orange and white checkerboard end zones on Shields-Watkins Field and continued with the return of grass.

The unique design accompanied coach Doug Dickey's arrival in 1964. The colorful and popular end zones were a part of Tennessee football until 1968 when the natural sod was dug out and artificial turf was put in its place.

Workers installed the orange and white end zones and the interlocking UT at the 50-yard line in the summer of 1989. They were both completely inlaid with contrasting colored turf rather than painted turf.

Volunteer Navy

In 1962 former Vol broadcaster George Mooney found a quicker and more exciting way to get to Neyland Stadium other than fighting the notorious Knoxville traffic. Mooney navigated his little runabout down the Tennessee River to the stadium and spawned what would later become the "Volunteer Navy." Today, approximately 200 boats of all shapes and sizes make up this giant floating tailgate party. Tennessee and the University of Washington are the only institutions with stadiums adjacent to bodies of water.

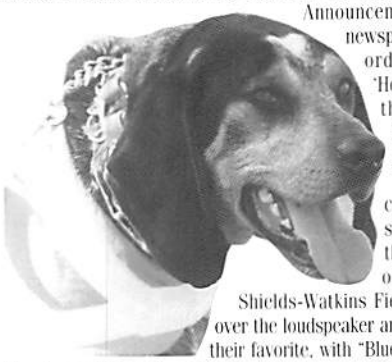
Smokey

After a student poll sponsored by the Pep Club revealed a desire to select a live mascot for the University, the Pep Club held a contest in 1953 to select a coon hound, a native breed of the state, as the mascot to represent the school. Announcements of the contest in local newspapers read, "This can't be an ordinary hound. He must be a 'Houn' Dog' in the best sense of the word." The late Rev. Bill Brooks entered his prize-winning blue tick coon hound, "Brooks' Blue Smokey," in the contest. At halftime of the Mississippi State game that season, the dogs were lined up on the old cheerleaders' ramp at Shields-Watkins Field. Each dog was introduced over the loudspeaker and the student body cheered for their favorite, with "Blue Smokey" being the last hound introduced. When his name was called, he barked. The students cheered and Smokey threw his head back and barked again. This kept going until the stadium was in an uproar and UT had found its mascot. Rev. Brooks supplied UT with the line of canines until his death in 1986 when his wife, Mildred, took over the caretaking role. She did so until 1994, when her brother and sister-in-law, Earl and Martha Hudson of Knoxville, took over responsibility for Smokey VII and eventually Smokey VIII, with Smokey IX now in the wings. Mrs. Brooks died in July 1997.



The dogs have led exciting lives. Smokey II was dognapped by Kentucky students in 1955 and later survived a confrontation with the Baylor Bear at the 1957 Sugar Bowl. Smokey VI, who suffered heat exhaustion in the 140 degree temperatures at the 1991 UCLA game, was listed on the Vol injury report until he returned later in the season. Smokey III compiled a 105-39-5 record and two SEC championships. Smokey VI, who passed away in 1991, was on the sidelines for three SEC championships. One of the most beloved figures in the state, Smokey is famous for leading the Vols out of the giant "T" prior to each home game. The present Smokey, now entering his fifth season, is eighth in the line of blue tick coon hounds and is appropriately called Smokey VIII. He is also the winningest Smokey having recorded a nation's best 45-5 (.900) record, two SEC titles and the 1998 national championship.

University of Tennessee's Pride of the Southland Band

The University of Tennessee band was organized immediately after the Civil War when the University reopened. Since then, the enrollment in the band program has grown to more than three hundred students (in all bands) from all colleges of the University.

Director of Bands, Gary Sousa, heads up a program which has maintained a long-standing reputation as one of the nation's finest musical organizations.

The band staff includes Dr. Don Ryder, Associate Director of Bands and Drill Designer, along with Jay Romines, Assistant Director. Drum Major for the 1999 season is Fuller Lyon and Head Majorette is Jennifer Whitehead.

The band program is divided into several different units. The most famous of these units is the marching band. The full "Pride of the Southland Band," appears at all home football games and most out-of-town games before more than 850,000 spectators plus millions more on television.

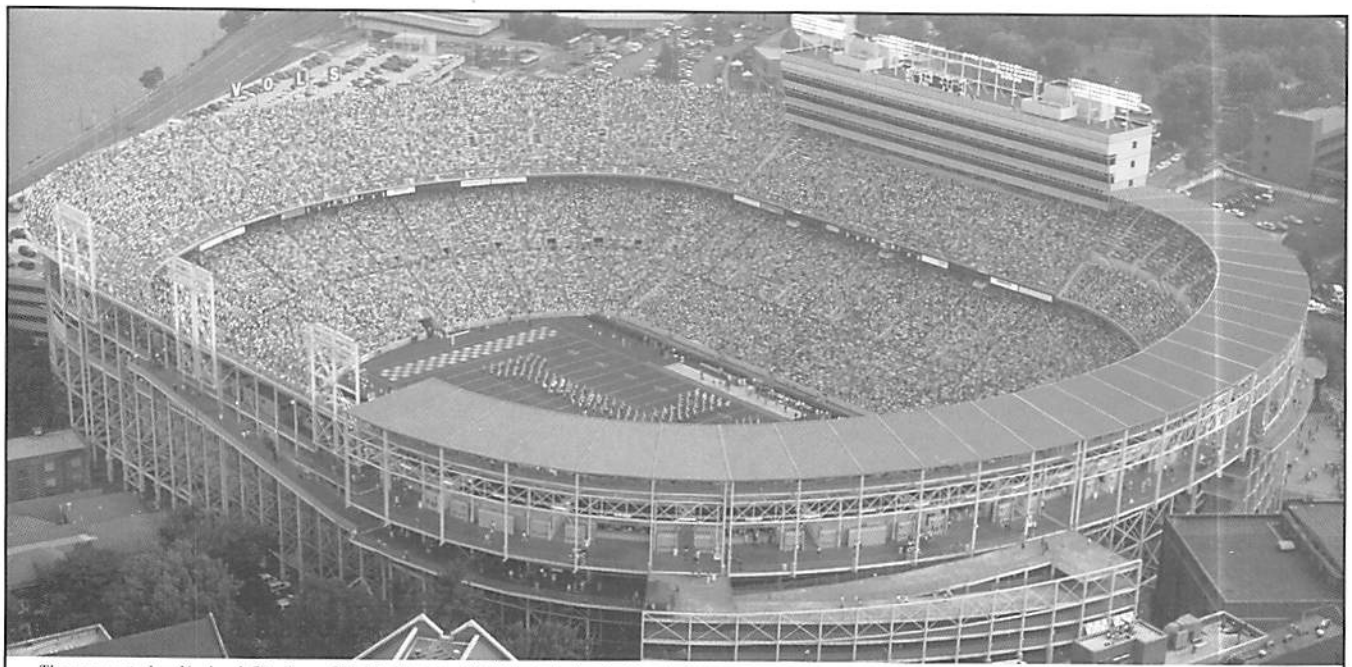
The "Pride of the Southland" has represented the state of Tennessee at the Eisenhower, Johnson, Nixon, Carter, Reagan, Bush and Clinton Presidential Inaugurations and has appeared at the SEC Championship game, Rose Bowl, Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, Citrus Bowl, Gator Bowl, Hall of Fame Bowl, Liberty Bowl, Peach Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Orange Bowl and the Sugar Bowl.

When the UT Marching Band takes the field, the crowd reaction truly indicates that it is not only the Pride of all Tennesseans, but the "Pride of the Southland."

Alma Mater

The alma mater was selected as a result of a 1928 contest sponsored by Prof. L. S. Mayer of the UT men's glee club. All students, faculty members and alumni or members of their families throughout the state were eligible to compete for the $50 prize. The song, both music and words, had to be original and of high standard. The winner was Mrs. John Meek of Chattanooga, formerly Mary Fleming of Knoxville. The decision was announced at the Alumni banquet at the Farragut Hotel October 26, 1928.

Neyland Stadium/Shields-Watkins Field



The present day Neyland Stadium. Shields-Watkins Field had its beginning in 1919. Col. W. S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921 it was called Shields-Watkins field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.

The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. It was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee's proud football tradition. General Robert R. Neyland served as head coach from 1926 to 1952, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadium's capacity, and is the one most responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteer fans have come to expect over the years.

CAPACITY: 102,854—Nation's second largest collegiate football stadium. Has undergone 13 additions/renovations since West Stands were built in 1921, seating 3,200. Latest addition (North upper deck) added 10,642 seats in 1996. Press Box/Executive Suites were renovated in 1987.

That statistic is one that promises to climb each year, as Tennessee football enthusiasts pack the stadium each autumn Saturday the Vols are home. Average attendance has been on a climb since 1950, when an average of 24,910 saw eight home contests.

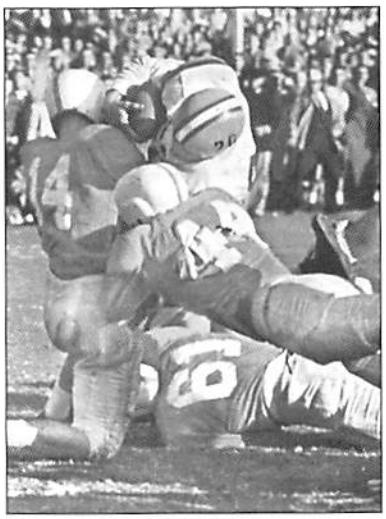
Homecoming

Homecoming festivities at the University of Tennessee bring reunions, parades, corsages, the alumni band and memories of days gone by. But mostly, Homecoming means Volunteer football. Over the years, Homecoming has delivered some of the most exciting gridiron confrontations in UT football history.

The alumni festivities first began in the early years of this century. The inaugural installment came with a victory over Vanderbilt in 1916. Homecoming celebrations for former students — a phenomenon of many campuses at about this time — came to fruition during this period. While a Homecoming had been held in 1916, the following year war conditions and limited transportation caused such activities to be canceled.

Although the event made a comeback in 1919, it was not until 1925 that the Alumni Association organized Homecoming activities in connection with the Mississippi A&M football game. Thereafter, Homecoming occurred each year in conjunction with one of the football games. A major attraction of the festivities was a barbecue, as evidenced by the 15 carcasses of beef and 170 gallons of coffee consumed by the alumni in 1927.

Entering the 1999 campaign, Tennessee has won 15 consecutive Homecoming games dating back to a 13-10 loss to Mississippi in 1983. The Vols defeated Alabama-Birmingham 37-13 in last season's Homecoming contest.



Tennessee stopped LSU's Billy Cannon just short of the end zone to perserve the Vols' 14-13 win over No. 1-ranked LSU in the 1959 Homecoming contest.

Far Betweens

Volunteer football teams have encountered some interesting games in the more than 100 years of gridiron combat. Some games have been one-sided with Tennessee both winning and losing by large margins.

Tennessee's largest victory margin came in 1905 as the Vols defeated American University 104-0. The 1915 team posted victories of 101-0 over both Carson-Newman and Cumberland Colleges. The 1893 team suffered the worst defeat at the hands of Duke, 70-0. That same Vol eleven suffered 64-0, 60-0 and 56-0 losses to Wake Forest, North Carolina and Kentucky respectively.

The far betweens in Tennessee's modern football history (1921-Present) are a 73-0 victory over Carson-Newman and a 44-0 loss at the hands of Georgia in 1981.

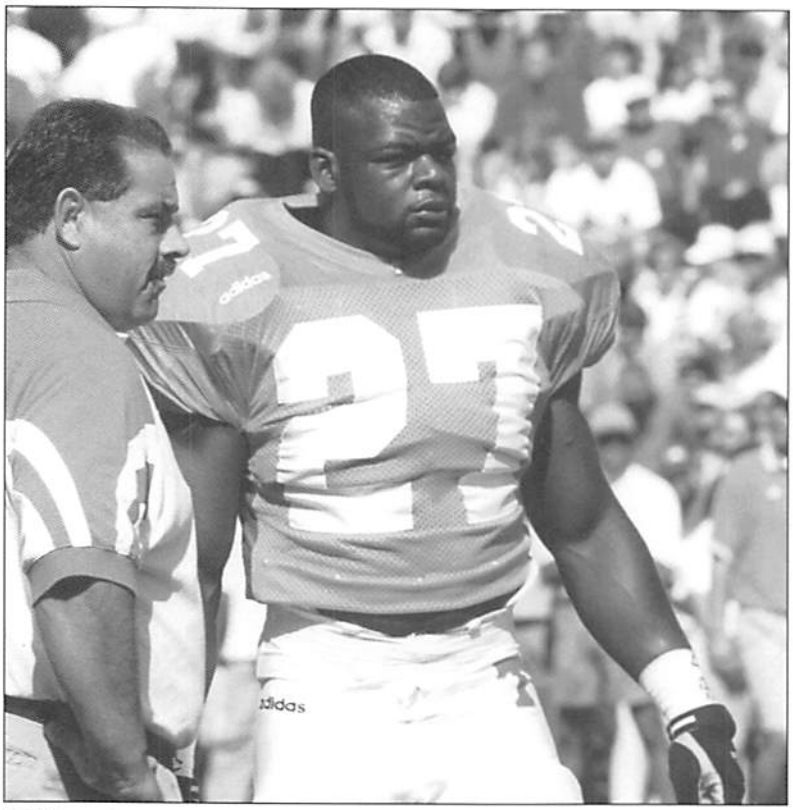
First Round NFL Draft Choices



Al Wilson, chosen in the first round by the Denver Broncos, became Tennessee's 12th first-round NFL draft choice in the 1990s.

Wilson Continues Tennessee's First-Round Tradition in 1999 NFL Draft

Al Wilson, who was the emotional leader of the 1998 National Championship team, was picked in the first round by the defending Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos in the annual NFL Draft last spring.

Wilson, who earned first-team All-America and All-SEC honors at middle linebacker on last year's 13-0 team, became Tennessee's 12th first-round draft pick of the 1990s.

Twice during the decade of the 1990s, Tennessee had three players chosen in the first round of the NFL Draft. In 1991, Charles McRae, Antone Davis and Alvin Haper were tabbed in the first round. In 1998, another UT trio of Peyton Manning, Terry Fair and Marcus Nash were taken in the first round. The Indianapolis Colts made Manning the No. 1 pick in the 1998 NFL Draft. The All-America quarterback joined George Cafego (1940) as the only other UT player to chosen as the first pick of an NFL Draft.

All told, Tennessee has had 31 first round NFL Draft choices.

Media Information

The 1999 University of Tennessee Media Guide is published primarily as a source of information for reporters representing newspapers, television and radio stations, wire services and magazines. On this page is procedural information that should facilitate coverage of the Vols.

PRESS CREDENTIALS—Requests for media credentials should be submitted in writing well in advance of game dates to Haywood Harris, Associate Athletic Director. Tickets will be mailed if the request is received early enough to ensure return delivery. Otherwise, they will be left at the Will Call Window (Gate 21) at Neyland Stadium.

PRESS BOX—The Tom Elam Press Box opened in 1987 at Neyland Stadium. Two elevators serve the media area, which accommodates approximately 108 writers as well as movie and television cameras, bowl scouts and visiting officials. The media area is located on the fifth level of the press box. A buffet-style meal is served starting approximately two hours before kickoff.

PRESS SERVICES—The Tennessee Sports Information Office provides a large bank of telephones for the use of media covering games at Neyland Stadium. The telephones are for use on a first-come, first-served basis. The quantity of telephones should be sufficient to cover all needs. If a writer wishes to order his own telephone, however, he/she should do so through UT Telephone Services (James Daniel) (423) 974-3121. UT provides complete play-by-play and statistical records of the game as well as coaches' and players' quotes.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS—After Coach Fulmer talks to the squad following the game, he and two players may be interviewed by the media in the interview room in the dressing room complex. The locker room where players dress will remain closed, but players requested will be brought to the interview area. The names of players wanted for interviews should be submitted to Bud Ford, Sports Information Director, in the press box early in the fourth quarter.

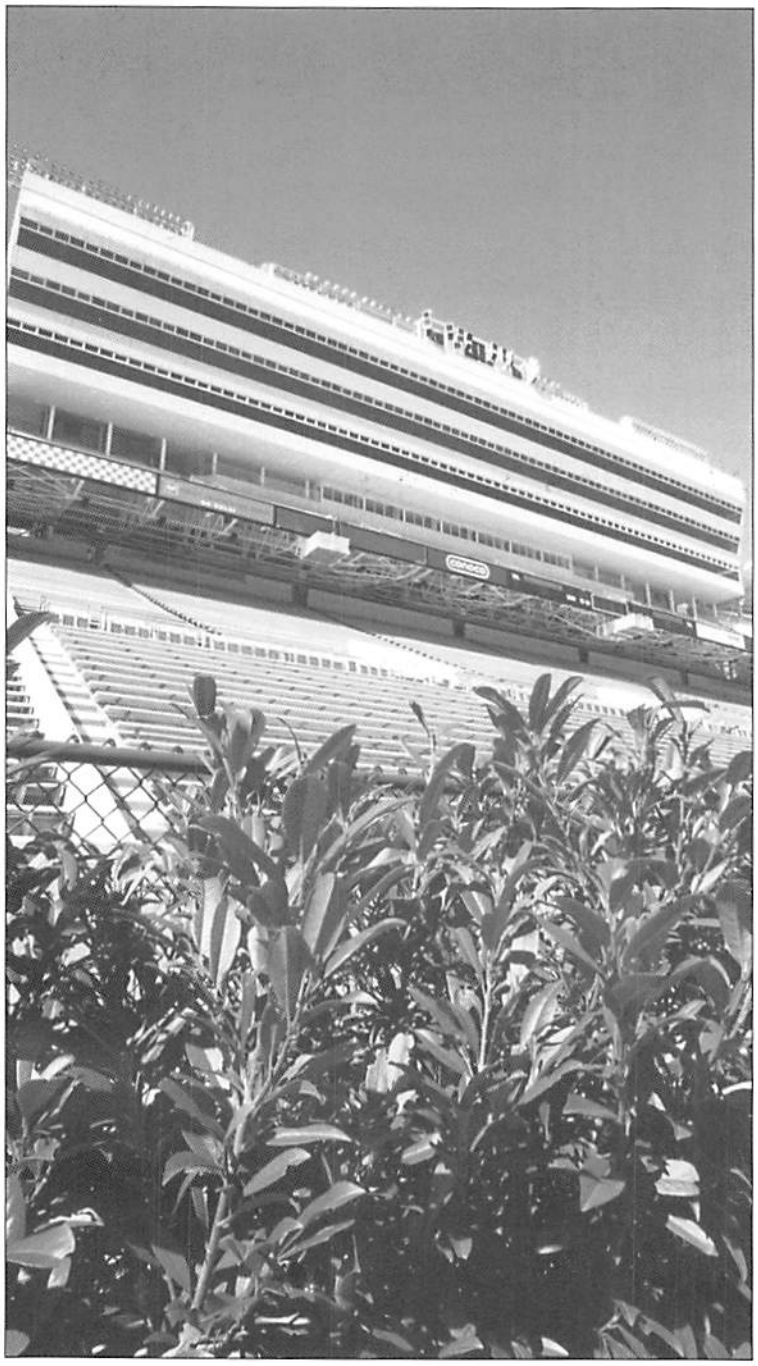
Neyland Stadium Executive Suites



The Neyland Stadium Press Box and Executive Suites officially opened for the Colorado State game on September 5, 1987, replacing a press box in operation since 1962.

On Sept. 18, 1992, the press box was named for the late Tom Elam of Union City, a long-time Tennessee Trustee and Athletics Board member.

The press box has four levels, encompassing leased suites, box seating for official guests of the University and Athletic Department, and complete facilities for print and broadcast media. There are six elevators serving the facility, four serving the skyboxes and two serving the press box area.

The facility stretches from goal line to goal line and is 61 feet high from top to bottom. It is 194 feet to the west sideline from the lowest platform in level four. It is approximately 135 feet vertically to the field.

The working press area is located in the center of level five with seating for 108. In addition to press seating, this level includes areas for stadium operations, pro scouts and press overflow, press box operations, public address, visiting coaches, Tennessee coaching staff, physical plant, bowl scouts, visiting athletic director and UT security.

Level four is the John Ward Broadcast Center, named for the former Vol broadcaster in 1995, which encompasses all broadcast, radio and television and campus photographers, with camera decks at either end. There are seven boxes for photo crews, UTV, the Vol Network, two for network television and two for the visiting broadcast team and photographers.

The top levels, level six and seven, contain 39 leased skyboxes. Each of the skyboxes contains eight fixed and eight movable seats, a kitchenette with refrigerator, sink and storage, and a multi-channel television monitor for the television feed of games from the stadium and other viewing. In addition, this level has a holding area for food service and a full concourse. There is also an observation deck looking to the west.

Also on level six are large skyboxes for the President, the Chancellor and the Board of Trustees. Each of these boxes has 32 fixed seats and the capability to add up to 32 movable seats. Each is equipped with a refrigerator, sink and storage system, as well as two television monitors.

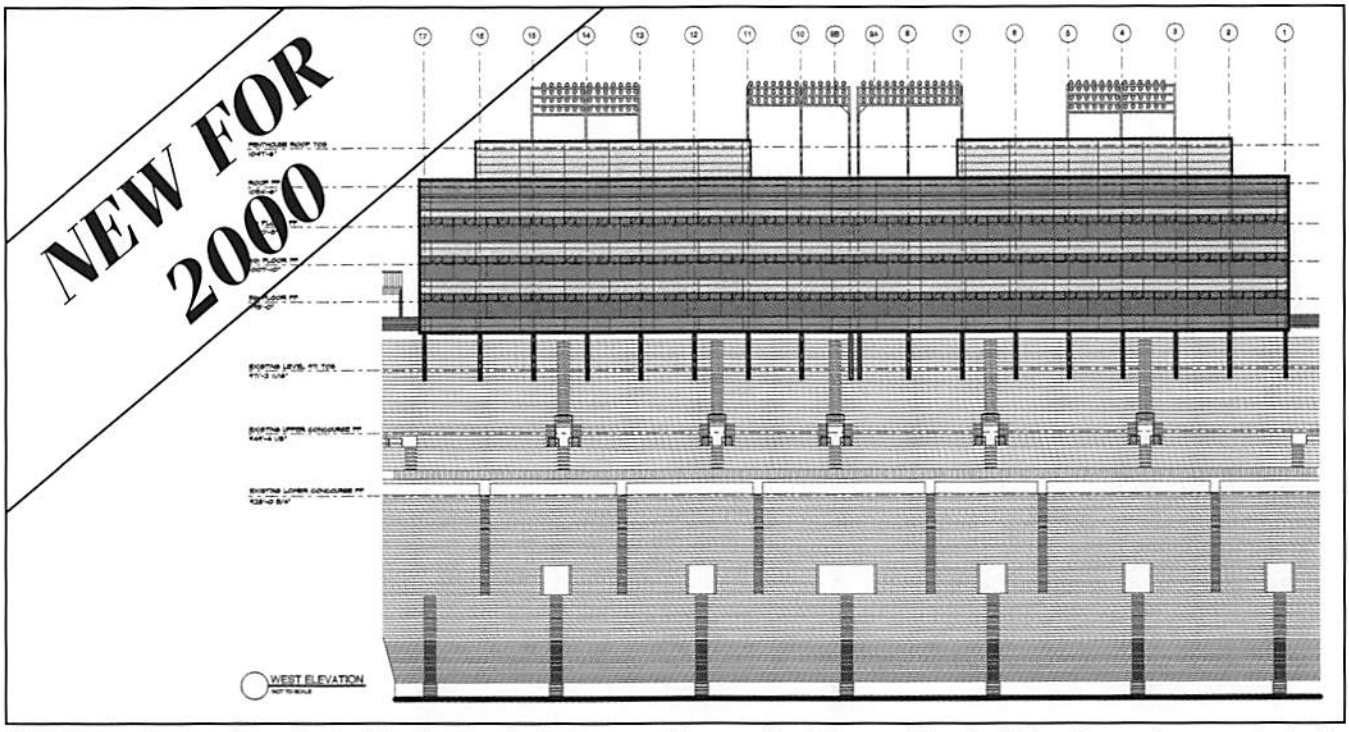
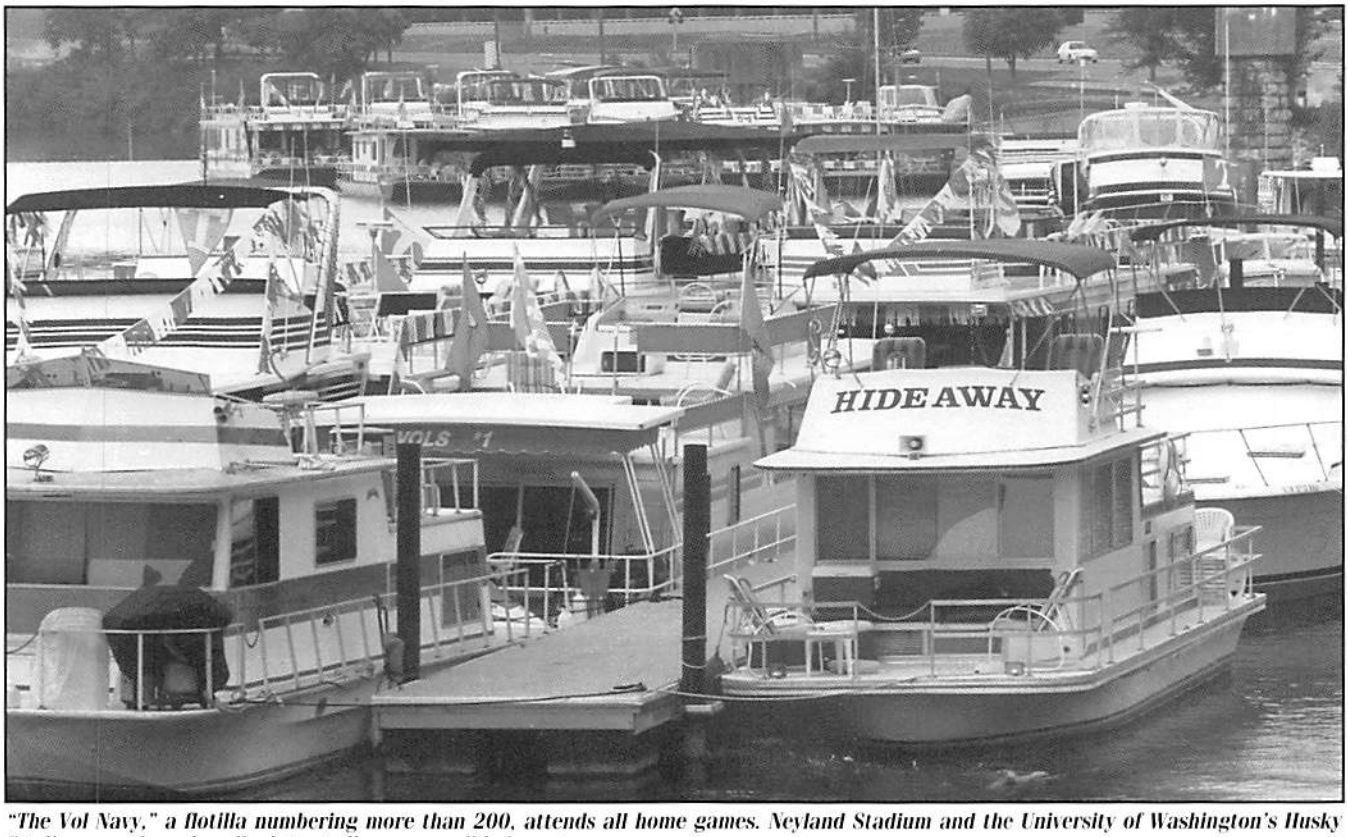
Happenings In and Around Neyland Stadium



There's a new look coming to Neyland Stadium for the 2000 season. The east side skyboxes will be the 15th major seating expansion in the stadium. The new skyboxes will add approximately 1,250 seats and bring stadium capacity to over 104,000, second only to Michigan Stadium at the University of Michigan. The new expansion is estimated to cost $14.9 million.



"The Vol Navy," a flotilla numbering more than 200, attends all home games. Neyland Stadium and the University of Washington's Husky Stadium are the only collegiate stadiums accessible by water.

Knoxville . . . Gateway to the Smokies

Knoxville thrives as a scenic city in the heart of Tennessee's Resource Valley. Its natural beauty contributes to the overall flavor, charm and hospitality found throughout the city. With its four gentle seasons, Knoxville provides a year-round destination for travelers from across the country.

The Knoxville metropolitan area is frequently cited in national surveys as a quality place to live. With the University of Tennessee calling Knoxville home, there is a vast array of cultural and educational opportunities available. Affordable housing, health care costs below the national average, a low crime rate and a pleasant climate are all factors which make Knoxville an attractive place to live and work.

With a metropolitan area population of more than 650,000, Knoxville is nestled in a land of breathtaking beauty with the Great Smoky Mountains, the country's most-visited national park just minutes away, and gentle rolling valleys and shimmering lakes at nearly every turn.

The city is headquarters to the Tennessee Valley Authority, the nation's largest public utility, and is home to the main campus of the University of Tennessee with a student population of 25,000. Knoxville is the third largest city in the state and largest in East Tennessee.

From May to October 1982, the city hosted a World's Fair in the Lower Second Creek Valley that attracted visitors from all over the world and marked Knoxville's emergence as a major city.

Knoxville is surrounded by the world-famous Oak Ridge National Laboratory and three national parks, one of which is the magnificent Great Smoky Mountains.

Within a short drive of Knoxville are the Cumberland Gap National Historic Park, the nation's largest national historic park, the Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area, the Obed Wild and Scenic River, and the Andrew Johnson National Historic Site in nearby Greeneville.

The Great Smoky Mountians National Park is approximiately 40 miles southeast of downtown, straddling the border of Tennessee and North Carolina.

With over 520,000 acres, the Great Smoky Mountains National Park encompasses over 800 miles of trails for hiking and horseback riding; 735 miles of streams for fishing; many developed and back country campsites; spectacular scenery and views from 13 peaks over 6000 feet, of which Clingman's Dome is the largest at 6643 feet; and is a park which has over 100 native species of trees and 30 total non-native species, more than in all of Europe.

The National Park Service is in charge of preserving 77 historic structure in five historic districts: Cade's Cove, Mountain Farm Museum, Roaring Fork, Cataloochee and Noah-Bud Ogle.

Due to Knoxville's convenient location, the traveler can easily spend a day in the mountains or raft a whitewater river and still enjoy an evening on the town.

Knoxville is located in the geographical center of the eastern United States and is within a day's drive of half the nation's population. The city is located at the crossroads of two major interstates, north-south I-75 and east-west I-40, in the center of the eastern region of Tennessee.

Knoxville's McGhee Tyson Airport, located south of the city, serves the middle East Tennessee region with more than 100 flights daily on 11 different airlines. The airport has begun renovation of the terminal and construction of a new concourse system. This $50 million project is scheduled to be completed in the year 2000.

Just to the west is the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, one of the nation's leading energy research facilities, and the Oak Ridge Museum of Science and Energy, where visitors may explore, experiment and discover energy forms and their uses.

Knoxville's history began with the Cherokee Indians, the area's first inhabitants. In the late 18th century, James White brought his family over the mountains from North Carolina to claim land given to him for his service in the American Revolution.

On June 1, 1796, Tennessee became a state with Knoxville as its first capital. The capital has since moved to Nashville, but historic Blount Mansion and James White's Fort are still standing among the glass and steel skyscrapers in downtown Knoxville.

There are many things to see and enjoy in the area. Just three miles east of downtown just off I-40, the Knoxville Zoo is home to more than 1000 exotic animals from all corners of the world.

Knoxville's Old City, located at the intersection of Jackson Avenue and Central, is a bustling neighborhood of restaurants, boutiques, galleries, night clubs and private residences in restored turn-of-the-century buildings. This area of the city is a product of the period when the railroad made Knoxville a major trade center in the Southeast.

The arts come alive at the World's Fair Park, home to the Knoxville Museum of Art, the Candy Factory and Victorian Houses.

The 1999 season marks two significant milestones in the history of the Vol Network. A new era in the broadcast booth begins as Bob Kesling, Tim Priest and Jeff Francis carry on the tradition established by the legendary broadcasting duo of John Ward and Bill Anderson. This season is also notable as the Vol Network celebrates its 50th anniversary season of broadcasting University of Tennessee football to listeners throughout the Volunteer state.

Bob Kesling, who was named UT's director of broadcasting for men's and women's athletics last spring, begins his first year as the voice of Tennessee football and basketball. Kesling, who first joined the Vol Network staff in 1978, was a longtime sports anchor for Knoxville television station WBIR and the lead announcer for SEC telecasts on Jefferson-Pilot Sports.

Tim Priest, a former All-SEC defensive back and captain of the 1970 Vols, will team with Kesling in the booth and serve as the Network's color analyst. Former Vol signal caller Jeff Francis, who piloted the Vols from 1986-88, will utilize his knowledge of the Tennessee system and program as the Vol Network's first sideline reporter. Kesling, Priest and Francis headline an entertaining and informative programming lineup that begins one and half hours prior to every kickoff with "The Kickoff Call-In Show" and boasts six hours of non-stop football coverage.

In the fall of 1949, Tennessee football games were first broadcast on what is known today as the Vol Radio Network. Future hall of fame coach General Robert. R. Neyland gave the Network its name and future hall of fame broadcaster Lindsey Nelson served as the first Vol Network play-by-play announcer. Over the years, the Vol Network has grown into one of the nation's largest and most respected collegiate radio networks. As the main communications link between the University of Tennessee and its devout following of alumni and fans, the Vol Network has earned a special place in the hearts of Big Orange faithful. From four stations in 1949 to more that 80-plus affiliates today, Vol Network coverage blankets the state of Tennessee as the "Statewide Stadium" from Mountain City to Memphis. In addition to Tennessee, the Network boasts affiliates in five surrounding states, has a nighttime coverage of 28 states and can be heard worldwide on the internet and over the phone through Teamline USA. Tennessee broadcasts consistently rank year-after-year among the top three universities in the number of fans listening on the internet (utsports.com) and over the phone through TEAMLINE USA (1-800-846-4700 ext. 5405). The Vol Network's listenership and loyalty is so great that the airing of a Tennessee football game has been described as not merely an event, but a "happening" all across the state.

The Vol Network's 50th anniversary season kicks off with the new broadcast team of (left to right) Jeff Francis, Bob Kesling and Tim Priest. Kesling and Priest will be in the broadcast booth, while Francis will report from the sidelines.

Edwin Huster serves as Vice-President/General Manager of USA/Vol Network. Glenn Thackston is the Executive Producer of the Vol Network.
